Celebrate Diamond Anniversary

Enjoying excellent health and growing old gracefully in the Indian summer of their lives, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Rattenbury yesterday celebrated the diamond anniversary of their wedding. On Feb. 15, 1875 Martha Pearson and Nelson Rattenbury were married in Charlottetown. For 60 years they have travelled the road of life together, sharing each others joys and sorrows. Mr. Rattenbury's stalwart frame has suffered little from the assaults of time. He is still able to walk daily to his business house. He is always in his place at the meetings of the Board of Trade of which he is a life member. They are greatly beloved by their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren who rejoice in the fact that this healthy province has a greater percentage of citizens 60 years old than any other province in Canada.

Constitutes Unique Record

Without an official "bigger family contest" in progress, Summerside is running neck and neck with Toronto. Handicapped by not having a millionaire sportsman like Charles Vance Millar to offer $500,000 to the mother giving birth to the largest number of children in a decade, the Prince Edward Island capital isn't doing too badly in the skunk business. Mrs. Bernie Gillis is claiming first place. She gave birth to her nineteenth child this month, the nineteenth in 18 years. It is believed to be a record for the province. "Have you a list of the children's names and their birthdays?" she was asked yesterday. "I did keep one for awhile," the proud 38-year old mother replied, "but they came so fast I had to give it up." Only 10 of the Gillis children are living by Mrs. Ernest Deighan, Summerside, has 12 children, of which the oldest is 18 years and the youngest only a few months old. They are all alive, healthy and strong.

Rev. F. H. Littlejohns Resigns St. John Charge

Rev. F. H. Littlejohns has tendered his resignation from the pastorate of the Carleton United Church which he has held for the last six years. His congregation strongly urged reconsideration and received his resignation with the deepest regret but Mr. Littlejohns announced that his decision was final and he will seek appointment to another charge at the end of the conference year in June. Mr. Littlejohns was born in Manchester, England, and came to this country in 1906. He took theological studies at Mount Allison University and was ordained to the ministry of the former Methodist Church in 1914. Since ordination he has held pastorates at Grace Church, Charlottetown, P.E.I. from 1914 to 1918, and was at York, P.E.I. during the three following years. From 1921 to 1925 he was pastor of St. Luke's Church in Chatham, N.B., and then served for the following four years at Pownall, P.E.I. He came to the Carleton church in 1929. Mrs. Littlejohns was formerly Miss Helen Forsyth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Forsyth of Charlottetown. Mr. and Mrs. Littlejohns have made many friends in Saint John and their departure will be keenly regretted. As a gifted violinist Mr. Littlejohns has made a notable contribution to the musical life of the city and in musical circles also the announcement of his resignation will be heard with keen regret.—St. John Times-Globe.

Skunk Bounty Proves Boon To Needy Families

Prince Edward Island has a fur industry it doesn't want—and all because a rancher decided to raise skunks. "But it's an ill wind that blows nobody good," Mr. J. D. Jenkins, chief Provincial Bounty officer laughingly repeated today as he told how the government had spent thousands of dollars in the past three years trying to get rid of Johnny the Skunk. Official figures released by the Bounty Officer showed that he had paid out 50 cent pieces to hundreds of citizens who had sent him 15,042 skunk snouts since he took over his office in 1923. A firm had the bright idea of raising skunks for their furs at New Annan, near Summerside, but when they found the furry little animals with their potent weapon for protection, were not a paying proposition they opened the pens and sent Johnny the Skunk into the world. "There were 40 of them sent free," J. D. Jenkins explained. "And from that 40 they spread all over the western section of the Island until they became a pest and the government saw the necessity of offering money for killing them off." And right there was the incentive for what might have been a profitable racket—if it had not been for the vigilant bounty officer. One energetic citizen sent in 30 snouts the other day and demanded his $15 payment. Mr. Jenkins poured out over the exhibits for awhile and was amazed at what he found. The little white strain of fur flanked by black, characteristic of the skunks nose was there all right but the skin was too thick. "What he had done was to go to the trouble to cut up little pieces of cow-hide. We threw the counterfeited pieces away," Mr. Jenkins declared. And there are rumors of bootlegged skunk snouts from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia just to collect the generous bounty—but these were denied by the bounty officer. The government pays more liberally for horned owls—$1 a piece—but only 74 were turned in last year and 62 the year before. But up in Prince George's Bay, the liberated skunks seemed to have stuck fast to the western section of the province, for they are seldom turned in from any other district—they are collecting snouts at the rate of 5,000 a year. The bounty money goes, in many cases, to needy families and thus is of material assistance towards unemployment relief.
