Blinded Navyman To Start Own Business

The following article from the Maiden Press will be read with interest as the young Navyman, a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carragher, Kelly Cross and has visited there on different occasions.

20-YEAR-OLD BLINDED NAVYMAN HOPES TO START OWN BUSINESS

After 30 months of service in the Navy, and after the war had been over for about three months, an accident in Nagoya Bay, Japan, destroyed the eyesight of one of Maiden's sons. And then to make it all the worse for young Francis Hammersley 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hammersley 73 Middlesex street, he contracted spinal meningitis a couple of weeks after losing his sight, and the meningitis has left him with a weak back.

Can Type Despite Loss of Sight

At present, also, he is taking various aptitude tests to discover what he is best fitted for with his privation. He writes home to his mother almost every day, and although there are some errors in typing—he knows the touch system—his letters are perfectly legible.

Has Talent For Leather-Working

He still is in the Navy, but will be discharged as soon as Navy doctors and officers think all they can for him. He was home for a couple of weeks recently, but he did not get out for a week ago today, accompanied by Arthur L. Hennessy, Wedgemere road who was on his way to Washington, D.C. Hennessy and Hammersley both went to boot camp at Newport, R.I., together in 1938.

Saw Duty As Armed Guard

He was put in an armed guard unit and, then made frequent trips between various ports in the European coast and New York. Later he saw action in North Africa, France, England and Italy in late 1944, he was promoted to signaller third class but he still remained in the armed guard aboard a Liberty ship.

RAID IN TOKYO

TOKYO, May 25 (AP)—The United States Army newspaper Stars and Stripes reported today that army patrols had confiscated $250,000 worth of silver, diamonds, metals and clothing in a raid which developed from an anonymous tip to headquarters about hoarded goods.

Maoris Are Seeking Recognition of King

By J.C. GRAHAM Canadian Press Correspondent HAMILTON, New Zealand, May 26 (CP)—The survival of a Maori king in New Zealand although the Maoris for more than a century have loyally supported British sovereignty, is one of the strangest of the many constitutional contradictions in the British Commonwealth.

NEW DELHI, May 24 (CP)—In response to the appeal of Commander-in-Chief Sir Claude Auchinleck to help in the present food crisis, army units all over India are taking vigorous steps to increase their food production.

View Not Held by Other Tribes

This view is not held by other tribes, however, who have never acknowledged the king's leadership. The natives elect four Maori members to parliament, which gives them a larger proportional representation than Europeans enjoy.

officially recognized as such, but has been acknowledged by the government as one of the leaders of the race in preserving tribal organization and native culture. It is unlikely that the government will recognize the claim.

ALUMINUM FURNITURE

The latest thing in furniture manufacture in the United Kingdom is aluminum furniture. It has nothing in common with the metal furniture manufactured for office and snack-bar in pre-war days with metal tubes for chair frames and backs, but might be of metal except for the faint gleam of metal behind its plastic covering, which gives it a pleasant glow.

WINNIPEG

Man, May 25—Trans-Canada air lines traffic statistics for April continue to show gains over the previous months business an unbroken trend for the year thus far. Passengers carried increased from 21,178 in March to 21,538 in April, according to W. P. English, vice president, T.C.A. the average journey for the airlines passengers is now up to 547 miles, he stated.

TOMATO HOME STORAGE

In the storage of tomatoes at home, ripe ones keep well in refrigerator but green tomatoes will not ripen there. They should be laid out without touching each other in a dark cool place and transferred to the refrigerator or other cold place when they turn red. Another method is to pull up the vines with the tomatoes on them and hang them in a basement or warm garage to allow the fruit to ripen. If, however, the vines, they risk being bruised. Tomatoes may be wrapped in paper and stored in a box. A tomato ripened on the vines has better flavour than one which has been picked green.

supplied without restriction to all who wish to buy. It is hoped, however to export it later, when the problem of "breaking down" for economy of transport space has been solved. The fact that it is pervious to the attacks of the white ant should make it as popular in, say, Africa as its freedom from the attention of the wood-worm will make it in Britain.

MARRIAGE MART

The marriage mart is booming in occupied Germany. In down town Frankfurt you can pick a candidate for wife or husband right off a public notices board next to the one which offers articles for trade or sale. Many marriage offers are carried in classified advertising columns of newspapers. Offers come from all age groups—girls scarcely 20 years old and women in the 60s. Women especially make a point of stating what they have to offer—apart from the hard-to-get lodgings and furniture. A widow aged 22 describes herself not only as "dark and attractive" but emphasizes that she owns household furniture. A widow aged 40 lists her "good looks," admits she has a 18-year-old son who's also "handsome," and adds that she owns a "house and garden in Oberbaden."

Why should a $500,000,000 BUSINESS ESCAPE INCOME TAX ?

The Dominion Government depends for almost half its revenue on Income Tax and Excess Profits Tax from industry and business. There is one large section of business which at present is not contributing one cent of this revenue. We refer to co-operatives in all parts of the country.

We are not attacking the principle of co-operative trading, but we do stand for equality of taxation. We believe that all enterprises, from great organizations handling farm produce to small country stores should bear their share of taxation whether they are operated by co-operatives or privately owned by one or more citizens.

Here are a few facts we would like you to bear in mind:

- The business turnover of co-operatives was more than $527,000,000 in 1944—an increase of 50% over 1943, and more than double the 1942 turnover.
-Co-operatives have an investment of more than 40 millions of dollars in plant and equipment, and total assets of more than 200 millions.
-Co-operatives are engaged in buying, selling, processing, manufacturing, servicing; in flour milling, oil refining, the manufacture and distribution of farm implements, printing, publishing, the business of owning and leasing property, bus transportation, home building, trucking, rural electrification, telephone service, etc.

Expansion through non-payment of Income Tax The rapid expansion of the co-operatives in recent years has been due to the fact that they have escaped paying income tax.

Privately owned businesses have paid Income and Excess Profits Taxes ranging up to 100% of their profits. Co-operatives claim they have no profits. What they call "savings" are either added to reserves or paid out as "patronage dividends" to their customers. A Royal Commission has declared that co-operatives do make profits, and recommends that these profits be taxed. But this Commission has also recommended that profits paid out to customers as "patronage dividends" be allowed as an expense in computing taxable income.

Are all profits to be tax-free?

If such a recommendation were to become law, it would leave the door wide open for the payment of all profits as "patronage dividends". Co-operatives would still continue to escape the payment of income tax. "Patronage dividends", which are paid out of profits, must be placed in the same category as dividends in any privately owned business. Revision of The Income War Tax Act, insofar as it concerns Co-operatives, will come before the current Session of Parliament. It is of utmost importance that such revisions shall bring tax equality to all groups. We urge that the income tax payers of Canada insist that their elected representatives in the House of Commons see that the heavy burden of income tax is shared fairly by all.

The Income Tax Payers Association has no objection to the principles of co-operative trading. It should be the right of every Canadian to trade as he desires. Our objective is to ensure that no section of business unloads its share of income taxation and cost of the war on other business or on individual income tax payers.

JOIN THE I. T. P. A. All income tax payers (except employees of income tax exempt concerns) are eligible for membership in the Income Tax Payers Association. If you wish to become a member, sign and mail the attached application form and enclose membership fee of $1.00. Mail either to Winnipeg or Toronto.

WRITE OTTAWA You can assist in correcting this unfair tax situation by writing immediately to the Government urging equitable application of Income Taxation to all forms of business. Fill out and mail the attached form. No postage is required.
