

The Whole Story in a Letter: Pain-Killer (PERRY DAVIS'). From Capt. F. Lyle, Police Station No. 4, Montreal: "We frequently use Perry's Pain-Killer for pains in the stomach, rheumatism, sciatica, great bites, chilblains, cramps, and all ailments which beset men in our position. I have no hesitation in saying that PAIN-KILLER is the best remedy to have near at hand."

EVENTFUL CAREER OF STEYN, THE BOER LEADER.

A Remarkable and Distinguished Man—Educated in Bloemfontein—Bitterly Opposed to all Things English—Wonderfully Popular a Thorough Gentleman.

LONDON, August 30.—The arrival in Europe of ex-President Steyn has made the occasion of the publication of many sketches and anecdotes about the man. That which is given much prominence in the Daily Express will be read with much interest in the United States, the land of self-made men.

ment. But not ex-President Kruger himself was at home more bitterly opposed to all things English than was the willom Cambridge graduate, Martinus Steyn.

BLOEMFONTEIN CONFERENCE. And so in the latter years Steyn was overjoyed to see Sir Alfred Milner and the crafty old President of the Transvaal together in the capital of his own State; and though apparently he deprecated the very thought of war, he all the time vigorously fanned the flame which was soon to burst forth in all its fury.

More than anyone else, President Steyn was responsible for the great war. There is no doubt that his object was to become the uncrowned king of the United States of South Africa. He regarded Kruger as an old man who must soon pass away. He himself was comparatively young. His name, therefore, he was determined should go down to posterity as that of the greatest man who had ever been born in South Africa.

GENERAL STEYN.

Mr. Steyn has his good points, however, and he was wonderfully popular with almost everyone, Boer or Briton, who met him. He was a brilliant conversationalist, a capital linguist, naturally enough, after his long residence in Europe, and handsome, very tall, with a kindly, frank, expression and a full long beard, which of late years has become prematurely grey.

A THOROUGH GENTLEMAN. In the ordinary sense of the word, Mr. Steyn is a thorough gentleman, with singularly pleasant manners and a great sense of humor, often spiced with sarcasm. As, for instance, when he once remarked, "Your mounted infantry are useful at a walk, but when they sallop their only thought is to keep their backs on."

STEYN'S EARLY YEARS.

Mr. Steyn was born in 1857 at Winburg, his father was a farmer who had seen in the Volksraad; his mother was one of the family of the Wessels, whose name figures largely in the history of the Orange Free State. Young Steyn was educated at the Grey College, in Bloemfontein, where a broad-minded policy has always prevailed, and where English and Dutch were taught side by side.

And thus, from 15 to 19 years of age, the future President of the Orange Free State occupied himself. At the age of 19 he came to England and the Continent for the purpose of completing his education, and six years later he returned to South Africa, where he practised successfully as a barrister for six years in Bloemfontein. Six years later he was appointed First Police Judge, and yet another six years—and he was elected President by universal suffrage.

OPPOSED TO ENGLAND.

Shortly after the Jameson raid came the presidential election in the Orange Free State, for which there were two candidates, J. G. Fraser, the chairman of the Volksraad, and Judge Steyn. Mr. Fraser was, generally speaking, a very popular man, but he had a Scotch name and came of Scottish parents.

Now Judge Steyn was Dutch to the backbone, and his ancestors had done much to consolidate the State. Therefore it was that he gained the victory by six to one, and the Orange Free State entered upon its last stage as a Republic. Within a few months of his installation at Bloemfontein President Steyn began his endeavor to draw tighter the bonds connecting the two Boer Republics. At the same time he professed the greatest friendship towards the British Govern-

Rockefeller's New Hair.

The Chicago "Record-Herald" declares that a new growth of hair adorns John D. Rockefeller's head. A few months ago, the multi-millionaire lost every hair on his head, lost his eyebrows, his moustache, became bald as the mirrors in his drawing-room. He was extremely sensitive about his remarkable lack of hair. To wear a wig would have been to reduce infinitely the chance of growing new, true hair of his own. He suffered from what the dermatologists call "alopecia areata."

Ch'town Business College

WRITING ACADEMY

CH'TOWN, P. E. I. This College re-opened for the Fall and Winter Course on THURSDAY, AUG. 14, 1902. Intending students will examine their own interests by entering as soon as possible after the date of opening. Last year we were most successful in placing our students in positions. To enable us to do the same this year they must enter early in the season. There are lots of splendid positions waiting for competent persons to fill. Business men are acquainted with our course and method of instruction and apply to us for competent young men and women. Come and get a live education; one with some backbone in it. If, perchance, you have made a mistake in the past, try an education in which you will be rewarded as you exert yourself. The past is gone, the future is yours. A special course in Short-hand and Typewriting will be given as soon as the term begins. "Photography, What it is and What it Does," by Ben Pitman; also full particulars relative to the College will be cheerfully furnished on application to L. B. MILLER, Principal, Ch'town, July 17-22 w.

"FORCE" advertisement. FIRST CHOICE are the words for which these big letters stand. FIRST CHOICE of an article of diet should be one that not only is pleasing to the taste but also gives nourishment, strength and vigor. Each organ of the body thrives upon a different food element and in order that every organ shall have just the proper amount of work these elements must be furnished in certain proportions. Whole wheat, any good doctor will tell you, contains all the elements for building up the whole body and in just the correct proportions. Most of us already have abused our stomachs, and this organ has been overworked. It requires a tonic and assistance in the work of digestion. Malt is the best tonic. "FORCE" is a combination of the whole of the wheat and barley malt, delivered to you ready cooked, and ready to serve in the form of a crisp, delicate flake of exceedingly pleasant flavor. Ask the grocer about it.
