

"I Can Eat What I Like."

Many people suffer terribly with pain in the stomach after every mouthful they eat. Dyspepsia and indigestion keep them in constant misery. After trying the hundred and one new-fangled remedies without much benefit, why not use the old reliable Burdock Blood Bitters and obtain a perfect and permanent cure? Here is a case in point:

"I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia for three or four years, and tried almost every doctor round here and different dyspepsia remedies, but got little relief. I then started using Burdock Blood Bitters, and when I had finished the second bottle I was almost well, but continued taking it until I had completed the third bottle, when I was perfectly well. Before taking B.B.B. I could scarcely eat anything without having a pain in my stomach. Now I eat whatever I like without causing me the least discomfort." — Mrs. THOMAS CLARK, Brussels, Ont.

LAST evening a large number of spectators watched the Highland Brigade drilling on Rochford Square. Sergt. Sutherland conducted the drill, and expressed himself as highly pleased with the degree of proficiency attained by the Brigade. Major Stewart, who has spared no pains to impart military instruction to the boys, was a spectator of their proficient evolutions.

At Halifax on Thursday there was a lively discussion in the Church of England Synod between the high and low church, caused by a motion of Rev. F. H. Almon on the adoption of the cumulative system of voting. Mr. Almon claimed that under the present system the low church clergy were boycotted by their high church brethren and deprived of any representation in the Provincial Synod. The motion was defeated.—St. John Globe.

YESTERDAY evening a man called at the Police Station and told the police that if they found his wife on the street they were to arrest her. He claimed that she had taken his earnings and had gone out to drink without even leaving him any supper. A little later on the police were notified that a woman was lying drunk in the New Prowse Block. The arrest was made and many of the youth of the city were given an object lesson of the effects of drink as she was being carried to the lock-up.

THE theatre going people of Charlottetown will be pleased to know that Mr. Frank Conkila, the most popular entertainer of New York City, and who is now touring in Canada has fortunately been secured to give an evening's entertainment in Kindergarten Hall, next week. His entertainment consists of dramatic readings and impersonations from the grave and the humorous. He can change from one character to another with almost lightning rapidity. One instant he is the old widow, the next the bashful school-boy, and so on to the end of his repertoire. Another feature of the entertainment is that there is no intermission; after he makes his bow there is not a single moment when the audience are not in laughter or in tears.
