INTERESTING DESCRIPTION OF THE QUEEN MARY DOLL'S HOUSE AND ITS CONTENTS

(Canadian Press.) LONDON, August 28.—Very little has appeared in the newspapers about the doll's house which is to be a gift to Queen Mary, and which is to be shown at the British Empire exhibition at Wembley next year.

It is a real gift house. Everything, from the tiny bottles in the cellars to the wonderful guides up which the walls of the house slide into space, leaving all the rooms free for inspection, is given free by the expert manufacturers, by artists, authors, artificers and craftsmen of all kinds. It is intended to preserve for posterity in a delightful form the domestic life of the present period in its most finished manifestation and great care and thought and invention have been lavished upon it.

The Queen's doll's house is a building fashioned in scale of an inch to the foot, and all its contents are worked exactly to that ratio. Its height is a little over eight feet, and beneath it is a base constructed with four drawers holding— A garden with flowers and shrubs exquisitely made in metal and other material; A garage holding a number of motor cars; Dolls exactly in scale with the building dressed in appropriate clothes so that they can be placed at once in the particular room in the particular attitudes desired; and— A wine cellar stocked with wine, the champagne bottles being about half an inch in length. The walls of the house have been devised and fitted on a system which allows them to be instantly raised to the roof and put back again.

Then the library rejoices in books by famous authors that can be seen nowhere else. E. V. Lucas, editor of Punch, has written a book on the whole duty of dolls, with a word on each page, and Sir James Barrie, and many other notable writers have not thought it unjust to themselves to write special books for this Lilliputian library. The kitchen rivals the library in its variety and novelty, and a whole dinner could be cooked in its delicate vessels for a doll's party of twenty or so.

Perhaps the most impressive thing of all is the thoroughness shown in all the minute details of the house, particularly in the escutcheons and keys and metal fittings, which are of a workmanship that Solomon might have envied. It is impossible to compute the value of Queen Mary's doll's house, which is to be shown for

Have You Seen the New McLaughlin-Buick? LAUNCH BIG GERMAN SHIP SOON BREMEN, Aug. 30.—The North German Lloyd steamer Columbus, which is nearing completion at Danzig and is the largest and fastest ship Germany has constructed since the armistice, will make its first trip from Bremerhaven to New York, October 11. SCHOOL AND HOME RENOVATING CARPETS It is often possible to freshen up the colors of a carpet or rug which has become shabby looking in wear, by brushing salt over it. A solution of ammonia and water dabbed over the whole surface will bring up the colors. A very good way of brightening a carpet is to treat it with water in which potatoes have been boiled. Give the carpet a good brushing to remove all dust and then rub it with potato water. This should be freshly made, as it will not keep longer than about twenty-four hours. The best effects are secured when the solution has been warmed. A carpet which has become badly worn in one or two places can often be made suit able for a smaller room if the shabby portions are cut away and the carpet joined up. When sewing the portions of carpet together use a proper carpet needle and carpet thread. If the latter is waxed it will be easy to manipulate. The thread must not be pulled through so tightly; a common mistake of the amateur renovator is to draw the thread so firmly that the join becomes puckered. The seam can be made to lie flat by rubbing it vigorously with the handle of a pair of scissors.

Handy Andy Says— This is the day when the Hardware Man may well congratulate the host of friends who are celebrating. For Labor Day is the observance of better workmanship, a day set apart to give every man who has trained his hands to labor well—one big day. And because he is on a holiday—every other one of us must take the day off too. For when he stops, everything stops with him. Here's to the laboring man, and may every one of us who enjoy his holidays, stop to remember the men who's unceasing labor give us the biggest good of all, the one real thing of which our prosperity is built. charity at the Imperial Exhibition, and will probably bring in harvests for charities for generations to come. But at the lowest possible figure $50,000 might be taken as a minimum. One of the pictures which is to grace the doll's house is a portrait of little Doris Hyde, of Toronto, who in a Toronto newspaper competition in 1922 with several thousand other Canadian children was adjudged Canada's loveliest child. Lacked Restraint "Why, Bill, ye'r blubberin'" said a boy to his chum as they watched a pathetic picture unfold on the screen. "Well," replied Bill, mopping his snopping eyes, "I like to see a person show a little feelin'." "Feelin'," said the first boy, "Feelin's all right, but ye don't need to wash your face in it."
