

you can have an EXTRA ROOM in your home A DREAM COME TRUE WITH SYLVAPLY

Most of us live in overcrowded homes, and dream of what we would do if only we had more space...

In most homes, one of these "extra rooms" is possible with economical SYLVAPLY, the natural grain Douglas Fir plywood of hundreds of home uses.

Giant sheets of 1/2-inch SYLVAPLY (or Sylvaply specialty panels, Sylva-Craft, Sylva-Tile or Sylva-Cord) make ideal wall panels that are easy to apply...

"Eyesore" attics and basements CAN make more living space. Your contractor or lumber dealer will gladly advise you about using Sylvaply Douglas Fir plywood to modernize your home.

MacLean-MacLean Wedding

The Central Lot 16 United Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on the evening of July 12th at 6:30 o'clock when Doreen Ruby, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold MacLean was united in holy bonds of matrimony to Artemas William Garthson of Mr. and Mrs. James G. MacLean of South West Lot 18.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. S. R. Prince, D.D., assisted by Rev. B. Vans MacLean, uncle of the groom, in front of a profusion of ferns and cut flowers.

The bride looked charming in a floor-length gown of lily white satin with wide inserts of lace fitted bodice, and long sleeves. Above the sweetheart neckline was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

The groom's mother chose grey crepe with matching hat. Her corsage was of red roses.

Following the ceremony a sumptuous supper was served to 60 guests at the Birch Hill Tourist Home, after which the bride and groom left on a honeymoon trip to Western Canada, returning via the U. S. A.

Previous to her wedding the bride was tendered a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brenton V. MacLean, where about a hundred friends and relatives gathered to extend their best wishes to the bride.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. K. C. HOLM (By Uncle Joe) The death at Victoria on Friday, July 15, of Mrs. K. C. Holm, 85th year, came as a distinct shock to her many friends and relatives throughout this Province.

The late Mrs. Holm was born at Charlottetown, P. E. I., in 1864. Her maiden name was Lydia Caroline Millett. Her marriage to Kenneth C. Holm of Hampton, P. E. I., took place in April of 1888.

After their wedding the young couple took up residence in Hampton, later moving to Victoria, where the remaining years of their lives were spent in that fair little village by the sea.

The funeral took place from her late residence on Sunday, July 17, with the gospel by Rev. H. H. Harris, Ramsey, Howard and Watson conducting the service at the home and grave. The pall-bearers who bore her body to its final resting place were: George and Lewis Henderson of Sydney, N. S.; Charles Fleisher of Stoneham, Mass.; Arthur Fleisher of Charlottetown, and Clayton Miller and Minar MacNevin of Victoria.

Surviving relatives include: a brother, Cyrus Mellett of Victoria; a sister, Mrs. John A. Henderson of Sydney, N. S.; an adopted niece, Helen, Mrs. Clayton Miller, Victoria, together with eight nephews and nine nieces.

God's appointed time. Only a few days ago Mrs. Holm's name appeared in my column, Hobbies of Local Citizens.

At that time she was hale and hearty, attending to her duties and fondly admiring her hobby children of which she had so many.

Then from out the boundless heavens came the summons to Cross the Bar for Mrs. Holm, Victoria's grand old lady, put out to sea. This kindly, lovable person knew the art of happy living, and was not afraid of death. Like the poet she could truly sing:

"Sunset and evening star, And one clear call for me, And may there be no moaning of When I put thee to sea.

But such a tide as moving seems Too full for sound and foam, When that which drew from out the boundless deep Turns again home.

Twilight and evening fell, And after that the dark! And may there be no sadness of farewell, When I embark.

For tho' from out our bourne of time and place The flood may bear me far, I hope to see my Pilot face When I have crossed the bar."
