Canadian Legion Hears Address
 The monthly meeting of the Charlottetown Branch of the Canadian Legion took place last evening, with the President Comrade Norman Lowther in the Chair. There was a good attendance. Comrade J. P. Hillon presented the report of the House Committee, and stated that the Home was in good condition from roof to cellar, after an expenditure during the year of a little over $900.00. A committee was appointed to look after arrangements for the usual service at the monument on Remembrance Day. The Chairman of the Poppy Committee, Comrade James Walker reported on the plans for the sale of Poppies. Colonel S. S. Weatherbie was the guest speaker, and he gave a most interesting and instructive talk on "Canada's Great War Munitions Effort," a summary of which is given below. At the close of the address the speaker was tendered a hearty vote of thanks. Mr. Reuben Macdonald, a school mate of Colonel Weatherbie was also present, as was Mr. Lester Douglas, M. P., both of whom made a few remarks. Comrades McLaughlin and Steele of the Montserrat Branch who were in attendance also spoke briefly on being called upon. The meeting was closed with the National Anthem.

"It was a divine intervention that saved the Allies from defeat in the last war," Colonel Weatherbie stated at the opening of his remarks.

"It is not said in a spirit of irreverence or levity," continued the speaker, "because it is known that Germany, before the Great War, had been preparing for 44 years to take a crack at France and the fact that Canada was able to supply the Allies with much needed munition supplies saved the Allies."

During the last war, Colonel Weatherbie was in Quebec as Superintendent of the Arsenal and acted in an Advisory capacity not only in Canada but also in the United States.

He described to the meeting how Canada was able to manufacture enough munitions to undersell the biggest plants of United States. During the last year of the war Canada was manufacturing at the rate of 36,000 shells daily.

This country contributed to the amount of $1,000,000 in munitions to the Allies or a total of 63,000 shells.

The Colonel explained in detail the manufacture of cartridges and shells.

Colonel S. S. Weatherbie has had a very distinguished career. Beginning his military career at an early age he earned rapid promotion and rendered many notable services to his country. He was a great expert on the manufacture of 18 "under shells during the war.

postmaster general Power who formed the spearhead of federal participation in the Quebec campaign were present at a meeting at which their colleagues a detailed report on the successful campaign.

It was assumed the government has definitely decided against any dominion general election before the next session of parliament which will probably open in January.

While there is no absolute agreement between Conservative leader Manion and Mr. MacKenzie King, there has been a general understanding that there should be no unnecessary political battles between the two old parties during the war period.

However, since neither leader has full control over local organizations, it does not necessarily follow that the Conservative party will not put up candidates in the two pending by-elections. It is also possible the C. F. and Social Credit parties will enter candidates.

A seat must be found shortly for J. L. Ralston who, immediately after the outbreak of war, was appointed finance minister.

Mr. Ralston succeeded Hon. Charles Dunning, who resigned the finance portfolio in July because of ill health. Presumably Mr. Ralston will prefer to run in a Quebec election or maritime province riding.

Mr. Ralston has been a member of Nova Scotia and former member for Shelburne-Yarmouth.

Mr. Ralston would not be a candidate in either the Kent or Saskatoon ridings.

Pacifists Will Offer Services

TORONTO, Oct. 26.—(CP)—Dr. W. H. Young, Chairman of the War Service Committee of the United Church, will receive a delegation of United Church Clergy members next Tuesday to consider their offer of non-military service to Canada.

The delegation "will suggest ways and means by which the work and service can be enlarged and enriched because we feel that some things can be done on the positive side which will make for peace," a member of the group said tonight.

A "witness against the war" declaration last Friday. A meeting of the sub-executive of the General Council of the United Church last night issued a statement "regretting" the manifesto and affirming the Church's allegiance to the Crown and willingness to assist in every possible way in the present conflict.

The group of 75 in their manifesto, offered to undertake any duties equally as taxing, difficult, and dangerous as military service providing it did not contribute directly to the war effort.

filled with pursuit, attack and bombardment planes. A military writer in the usually well-informed Le Temps said: "It seems beyond doubt that the Germans could launch a powerful attack against our front within a few days."

Snow fell slightly on the tree-covered slopes of the Vosges Mountains and in the Hautes Pyrennees across the border of Germany. At the opposite end of the 100-mile front, in the Saar River valley, snow was mixed with stinging sleet and rain which carried a thin coating of ice as it froze on the ground.

and seven others with having furnished German agents with precise details of the movements of French troops during March, 1938, during the Czechoslovak crisis.

A court military announcement disposed of the case as follows: "A permanent military tribunal of the second military region had condemned to death Karl Roos, a portly military secretary to German espionage agents."

It was asserted Dr. Roos' conviction had nothing to do with autonomy activities which first led to his arrest in 1928 on charges of participating in a separatist plot against the security of the state.

The soldier sentenced to death was believed to be the first two Frenchmen convicted as spies since the war started.

Six other defendants received prison terms ranging from three years to life imprisonment. There was no indication when the death sentences would be carried out.

Premier Daladier summoned the Cabinet to meet with President Albert Lebrun at 10 a. m. (5 a. m. AST) tomorrow.

In the military field, the general staff in a communique tonight noted only "encounters between contact units and artillery action on either side at different points on the front."

French military observers expressed belief that Nazi generals have completed preparations for an offensive and are waiting only orders to attack despite bad weather.

BRITONS

Without referring to Russia's protest at the Chamberlain of food-stuffs in the British Government's contraband list, Lord Halifax said consideration was being given to broadening the scope of Anglo-Soviet trade, "since they now appear willing to trade impartially with all belligerents."

This would not only be of commercial value to Britain but might have the wider advantage of diverting Russian products from German markets.

It was learned later in the day that the British Government would send a formal reply to the Russian protest against inclusion of food in the British contraband list, but the list would not be modified.

U. S. Papers Comment On Quebec Results
 NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(CP)—The Lewiston, Maine Journal, today commented that the result of the Quebec elections "will be disappointing."

The Times of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, another New England area largely populated by French Canadians, said that by the election results "Canadians of French blood have proved they are thoroughly behind the Dominion Government and are to be treated as a partner in the British Empire's family of nations."

The Times, a Republican organ, pointed out that Quebec is taking the position it assumed in the first great war 25 years ago.

"The people of Quebec are with France because of their French blood and sympathies," it continued. "They are with Britain because they believe the cause of the Allies is just and the Empire is their Empire."

The Lewiston Journal (Independent Republican) said the election should "stiffen the backs of Australia and India and other members of the Empire." It also suggested the result "should make Parliament more thoughtful—considering itself fortunate to be so well out of the dilemma."

The Manchester (New Hampshire) Union said that by the result of the election "Canada thus takes a united stand behind the Dominion Government's War Policy, and the issue of Provincial Autonomy is laid."

"Politically, Quebec has only gone back home, for from the date of Confederation, this province has been the preserve of the Liberal Party," the paper added.

Kirkland Lake Miners Trapped in Rockburst
 KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont., Oct. 26.—(CP)—Rescue crews early tonight rescued three of six miners trapped above the 3,375-foot level of the Lake Shore Gold Mine following an earlier rockburst that killed one miner and slightly injured three others.

Operations to release the remaining three men proceeded with all possible speed but with extreme care to prevent a slide of rock. Officials anticipated several hours would elapse before the remaining men were reached.

The rescued man, according to mine physicians, were not injured seriously but are confined to hospital at the mine. The body of Alex Turus, 40, a machine man working in a stop above the 3,325-foot level, was recovered by rescue workers.

Air Service In Maritime

The present plan calls for an auxiliary service to Halifax, Saint John, Charlottetown and Summerside when the Toronto-Moncton daily air mail service starts Nov. 1.

Later, however, this airline network will be widened to take in other Maritime points with the possibility New Glasgow and Sydney will be included.
