Taking Unknown Drugs A Great Folly

Doctors throughout the world agree there is no greater folly than to buy and take unknown drugs, which may be too strong. Ask your own doctor.

So—when you go into a store for Aspirin, see that you get it.

Remember that doctors endorse Aspirin as SAFE relief for headache, colds, sore throat, pains of rheumatism and neuritis, etc.

Just remember this. Demand and get Aspirin. Aspirin is the trademark of the Bayer Company, Ltd.

POLICE ARREST BICYCLE THIEVES—Bicycle thieves have been operating in the City lately with a large number of wheels being reported stolen. The City Police have been active, however, and a large number of arrests have been made in connection with the thefts. Constable Lund recovered two of the stolen bicycles Monday and another yesterday. One of the bicycles found Monday had been missing for two months, the other was taken from the Prince Edward Theatre while the show was in progress. No report of the theft had been sent to the Police but Constable Lund became suspicious of a youngster driving a wheel and took the bike to the station. When the owner came out of the theatre and discovered her loss she went to report to the Police and her wheel was waiting for her. Yesterday's theft was reported to the Police about 1:45 p. m. and the same constable had the thief, a juvenile, and the wheel at the station, at 3 p. m.

VISUAL EDUCATION AT CLUB —The Mt. Herbert Teachers' Study Club was given a Visual Education demonstration by Miss Hilda W. Gillis B. Paed. of the Prince Edward Island Libraries, on Wednesday evening. Miss Eva Beer, kindly gave the recreation hall of the Mt. Herbert Orphanage for the demonstration and introduced Miss Gillis. This was the first teachers' study club to ask for a demonstration and the idea is to unite in buying a filmslide projector for teaching purposes. There were present also ratepayers and pupils from neighboring districts. Mr. Claude Wood of Southport school moved a vote of thanks which was seconded by Mr. Earle Ings of Mount Herbert. These gentlemen voiced their appreciation of the value of filmslides in teaching and Mr. Ings suggested that filmslides be made to correspond to the curriculum so that Education across Canada may become uniform.

and Remering. Another enemy aircraft — type unknown — was brought down by French fighters in the same area and a fourth Messerschmidt was shot down by French anti-aircraft batteries north of Sedan.

The eighth plane was a Dornier reconnaissance bomber shot down by French fliers near Nancy. The pilot of the Dornier was uninjured and taken prisoner.

Two French planes were reported lost in the Strasbourg area, where five Messerschmidts have been shot down in 48 hours. Two French fliers were said to have parachuted to safety but one was killed when his parachute failed to open.

Bombers Fly Low

According to accounts reaching here, eyewitnesses of the German attack on the Shetland Islands said six German bombers participated in the raid. They flew so low that the strained faces of the crews could be seen at the windows of the planes. As soon as the planes were sighted anti-aircraft guns opened fire and exploding shells could be seen all around the raiders.

It was estimated that 700 children were on the streets at the time of the attack. They marched into air-raid shelters and remained there until the raid was over.

The crew of the Royal Air Force seaplane was aboard when it was set fire. All except one of the men were picked up by a boat which rushed to its rescue. The one who missed the boat had to swim about half a mile to shore.

After their attack on the seaplane the Nazi fliers turned their attention to a little ferryboat plying between the islands. Scores of bombs were dumped on all sides of the tiny craft and for a few moments it bobbed around like a cork in the choppy foam. But none of the missiles scored hits.

Details Scanty

Details of the Nazi flight over the British east coast region were scanty. Some residents of the Thames estuary zone reported anti-aircraft batteries and British fighting planes had been in action on several occasions during the day but it could not be learned whether one or more Nazi planes were reported.

Late tonight an air raid alarm was sounded in Essex but an all-clear signal was given half an hour later.

In France, air raid warnings were sounded this morning in scattered cities and towns in the northwest. The alarm, sounded at 10:25 a. m., was ended at 11:45 a. m. without incident.

German "Savagery"

The chancellor referred to the magnetic mine —which rises to the surface by the pull of the steel hull of a passing ship— as the "latest abomination of German savagery."

He charged that Germany is planting these mines secretly "in the channels of the sea in order to blow up without warning neutral and British shipping alike and to destroy innocent lives— women, children and unarmed men —in breach of the rules of war which Germany only two months ago expressly promised to obey."

War secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha told the House of Commons today that the war is one of endurance, with time on the side of the allies.

The war secretary said that if Germany was to win the war the Reich forces would have to break through the allied defences. "An assault upon these is awaited with confidence by the French supreme commander," he said.

He disclosed that Britain is sending thousands of men to France each week to reinforce the original British expeditionary force of 158,000 officers and men.

Moore - White Nuptials

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's grandfather, Mr. Thos. White 11 Grafton St. on Monday evening, Nov. 20 at eight o'clock when Margaret Lesley, only daughter of Mr. Thos. H. and the late Mrs. White, became the bride of Bruce Stewart Moore, son of Mrs. Moore and the late Chas Moore of Bonshaw. The bride who was given in marriage by her father was becomingly gowned in a violet crepe dress with bustle back and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hugh Miller of Trinity United Church. Mrs. Ernest C. Clawson played the wedding march.

After the ceremony a buffet supper was served. While Mrs. Harold Pickard presided over the tea cups, girl friends of the bride served and Mrs. Frank Hobbs replenished.

Afterwards the young couple left for Summerside by car and proceeded to the mainland to spend their honeymoon. Travelling the bride wore a teal blue dress trimmed with angora, teal blue coat with brown squirrel fur and wine accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will reside in Sydney, N. S., where the groom is employed with the Eastern Electric Co.

"decided to co -ordinate the economic war effort of France and England" and that "measures assuring unity of action of the two countries in this domain were drafted at the last session of the supreme council."

The export blockade, used successfully in the latter stages of the first great war, complements the system already set up by the allies since this war began. The workings of the blockade scheme were authoritatively outlined here as follows:—

1. Seaborne imports to the Reich are stopped by the seizure of war contraband cargoes, which include not only arms and munitions but also all goods deemed indispensable for conduct of the war.

2. German imports from neutral countries bordering the Reich have been reduced through agreements concluded between the allies and these countries, designed to prevent Germany's trade with them from going beyond normal volume and to stop their goods being reshipped abroad by Germany for the purpose of getting foreign exchange.

3. To increase Germany's difficulties, the allies are following a policy of "blockade purchases," systematically buying up in countries neighboring the Reich those goods which are of greatest value from the national defence viewpoint.

4. The new export blockade, the exact workings of which have not yet been disclosed, will go far to fill in the gaps left in the economic war.

Pound And Dollar Take New Tumble

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 —(AP) — The British pound took another spill in today's foreign exchange dealings.

The drop in sterling, which lost 4 1-2 cents to $4.89 3-4 in relation to the United States dollar, accompanied renewed weekness in the Belga and French franc. The guilder and Swiss franc held their ground.

Foreign exchange men saw a connection in the lower price for sterling with the series of successful attacks by Germany on allied and neutral shipping. Another barrier—if only temporary —to world commerce and consequent trade in the pound was seen in the government order forbidding Dutch ships to leave port.

The Canadian dollar tumbled along with the pound, sagging a full cent to a discount of 14 per cent.

CHARGED WITH SHOOTING

BARRINGTON, N. S., Nov. 22—(CP)—Two men of nearby Upper Wood's Harbor, Morse Goreham and Everett Goodwin, were charged with causing grievous bodily harm to 14-year-old Joseph Blades, accidentally shot while walking in the woods last Sunday.

Young Blades was shot through the lung and is in serious condition in hospital at Yarmouth.

Goreham and Goodwin were arrested today. They were held in jail under $2,000 bail here.

countered in some foxes, scattering of silver in others and in some cases veiling.

Mr. Jack encountered some trouble in this line at one of the Illustration Stations on the Island and after weeding out the undesirables was able to report satisfactory results.

He urged the breeders present to strive for uniformity which, he said, doesn't produce outstanding foxes but produces better average pelts.

The speaker told the Island foxmen at the banquet that there was a wonderful feeling of optimism in the industry prevailing in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. He said that there was more panic talk here and it was not caused by the talk but by the cost of feed and transportation.

Mr. Jack referred to the absentee fox rancher at the field-day shows and stated that this was bad for the industry. He liked to see the rancher feeding his own animals. This, he said, would tend to bring better results.

The speaker also made some mention of the mink industry in the Maritime Provinces.

Other speakers included: George A. Callbeck, Mayor E. A. Foster, Charlottetown; Mr. William Ruthven, Toronto; Mr. A. M. Doyle, Winnipeg, and Mr. Todd, Boston, Mass.

JUDGING PROCEEDS

In spite of disagreeable weather there was a large attendance of visitors at the Fox Show yesterday. Although snow fell during the afternoon the foxmen and their friends were able to enjoy the judging in the comfortable fox pavilion.

Yesterday's judging was slowed up owing to the keen competition which prevailed in the different classes tabled. The judges, Messrs. George Callbeck, Summerside and W. F. Burke, Charlottetown had a difficult time placing the awards.

The last class on the table was the pale silver male pup class in which there were 33 entries —all high quality foxes.

It is expected that today's classes will be exceptionally heavy as there are 50 entries in the pale silver female pup class alone.

The extra pale classes are yet to be judged and also the group championships and it is hardly expected that the show will be completed this evening.

After today's judging the sale of breeders, which is mentioned on the program, will be held, it was announced yesterday by Secretary, W. R. Shaw.

JUDGING RESULTS

Below are the results of judging yesterday. The first class to go on the table was the 4th section of the light medium silvers. The first 3 sections were placed Tuesday.

McDonald - Chapman Nuptials

A charming and pretty wedding of interest to a large circle of friends on the Island and Moncton, N. B., was solemnized in the Convent Chapel, Rustico, by the Rev. Father Pitre on Tuesday, Nov. 21st, when Mary Agatha, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paschal MacDonald, Hunter River, became the bride of Joseph Reid Chapman of Moncton N. B.

The bride was charmingly attired in mist blue with wine accessories and carried a white prayer book enveloped in tulle and orange blossoms and was attended by her sister Carolyn who wore wine with black accessories and corsage of carnations. The bride was given in marriage by her father. The groom was attended by his brother, John Chapman. During the ceremony the Convent Choir rendered appropriate hymns.

Immediately after the wedding breakfast was served at the brides home to about seventy invited guests. Those assisting in serving were: Mrs. John Proctor, Mrs. Curley, Mrs. W. W. Murphy, Mrs. Leaming Murphy, Mrs. Charles E. MacDonald and numerous girl friends of the bride. Amidst a shower of confetti and good wishes the happy young couple left by train for the mainland enroute to Upper Canada where they will spend their honeymoon. For travelling the bride wore a smart ensemble of rust with black coat trimmed with Persian Lamb. On their return they will reside in Moncton where the groom is a popular employee of the Canadian National Railways.

The bride has been a valued employee of the T. Eaton Co., Ltd. for the past ten years, and the many showers and beautiful wedding gifts tendered her previous to her departure testified to the popularity she enjoyed. On Monday evening she was waited on by her Island friends and many beautiful gifts were received, after which an enjoyable evening was spent in music and games, at the conclusion of which a dainty lunch was served by the brides mother, assisted by the ladies of the district.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Moody Biggs of Moncton, N. B., Mrs. Charles E. McDonald, aunt of the bride and Miss Edna McDonald of Summerside, P. E. I.

The Guardian joins in wishing every happiness to Mr. and Mrs. Chapman.

Border Towns Prepare For Plane Pushing

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 —(CP) — Sleepy little United States towns along the Canadian border are buzzing with excitement these days at the prospect of seeing a preview of part of Great Britain's growing aerial armada and installing airport improvements at no expense to themselves.

Almost daily sleek bombers and pursuit ships soon will swoop down at border towns for a "last push" across the boundary on to Canadian soil.

The United States neutrality act forbids the flying of belligerent-owned planes across the border but contains no provision against rolling the craft across after title has passed from the United States manufacturers.

Recently a batch of five single-motored purusuit planes roared into Sweetgrass, Mont., and while the border folk looked on in wonder, title was transferred to representatives of the British government and the planes towed into Canada.

The following day while border dwellers from the east coast to the west scanned the skies for the next delivery, chambers of commerce, scenting publicity and business for their towns, swung into action.

In the east, congressman Ralph Brewster said he would seek $100,000 to enlarge the Houlton, Me., airfield as a "pushover" point. One of the field's runway extends to within 1,000 feet of the border and Brewster plans to push it right up to Canadian terrain. On the other side of the line, he says, there is ample space for the largest planes to take off.

In the midwest, Walhall, N. D., has visions of building a huge airport, half in the United States and half in the dominion to facilitate transfer of planes.

Other towns all along the line are expected to follow suit.

C. P. News Broadcast Allays Fears

WHITEHORSE, Y. T. Nov. 22 — (CP) —A Canadian Press news broadcast from Vancouver was credited tonight with allaying anxiety over the safety of James Miller, his wife and four children who were marooned several days on the shores of Lake Lebarge, 75 miles south of here.

Frankie Slim, Indian living on Lake Shore, heard the report broadcast by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. He began search and found the family two miles away in a temporary camp.

Slim then wrote in huge letters in the snow, "Miller family safe."

The message was seen from the air by pilot E. Wasson flying his regular airmail run two weeks ago from Edmonton to Whitehorse but the story of Slim's search was not known here until today.

Ice on the lake had prevented the Millers from continuing to their homes on the north shore in a small skiff, and anxiety was expressed when they failed to arrive.

Dardanelles Hero To Lead New Zealanders

LONDON, Nov. 22—(CP) —Appointment of Major-General Bernard Cyril Freyberg, hero of the Dardanelles, as commander of New Zealand's overseas forces received Royal approval today.

It was Major-General Freyberg who, with his skin painted a khaki camouflage, swam half a mile from a destroyer during the Dardanelles campaign, carrying flares which attracted the attention of Turkish soldiers.

While they were investigating the flares British troops were landing at other points.

Born in London in 1890 he was educated at Wellington, N. Z. He served in the first Great War with the Hood Battalion R. N. D. from 1914 to 1918 and received the V. C. in 1916. Mentioned in dispatches six times, he was wounded nine times and received the D. S. O. and two bars.

In Memoriam

MR. WILLIAM CARRUTHERS

The death occurred at his home in Borden on Friday of Mr. William Carruthers a highly esteemed resident of that place. Mr. Carruthers who had been ailing some time underwent a serious operation in the Prince County Hospital and although he was able to return home, he never fully recovered.

He was the oldest resident born in the community and was years of age. He lived all his on the old Carruthers homestead where his forefathers settled when they came from Dumfries, Scotland in 1819. They were the first settlers to come to Borden the called Carleton Point.

He was a faithful member of the Church of Scotland at Cape Traverse. His God was very real to him and he faithfully practised the teachings of his Saviour in life of honesty, temperance and love for his fellow man. Like many of those fine old settlers he was a sober industrious man who worked hard for every good cause strictly honorable in all his dealings and his home was hospitality itself.

Along with farming he was a successful dairy man. In 1917 two lighthouses were built on his farm and Mr. Carruthers acted as light keeper for over twenty years. For many years he faithfully acted as secretary of Borden School with no thought of recompense but glad to serve his community.

The funeral was held from his home on Monday afternoon and was attended by people from far and near who came to pay their last respects. The service was conducted by his pastor, Rev. Harvey Bishop who spoke from the text, Forgive us our sins. The pallbearers were: Capt. John L. Read, Leigh Lowther, Burpee MacMicken, Albert Muttart, James Cairns and T. B. Gillespie. Interment was in the family plot in the Church of Scotland Cemtery in Cape Traverse.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received testifying to the high regard with which the deceased was held.

There are left to mourn his wife formerly Miss Ada Campbell of Augustine Cove, four daughters, Mrs. Edward MacFadyen, Augustine Cove, Aletha a nurse in Newark, N. J., Mrs. Arnett Simpson of Belmont, Lot 16, Mrs. Herbert Matthews, Alberton and two sons, Arthur and James at home. Also two brothers, Major Carruthers of Augustine Cove and Thomas D. Carruthers of Summerside and one sister, Mrs. William Campbell of Cape Traverse.

The sincere sympathy of the community is extended to the family in their bereavement.
