

WORKING GIRL'S EXPERIENCE

Read How She Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Arnprior, Ontario.—"I must write and tell you my experience with your medicine. I was working at the factory for three years and became so run-down that I used to take weak spells and would be at home at least one day each week. I was treated by the doctors for anemia, but it didn't seem to do me any good. I was told to take a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I felt a change. My mother has been taking it for a different ailment and has found it very satisfactory. I am willing to tell friends about the medicine and to answer letters asking about it."

Foolish Argument

try in the Great War will have passed the age limit for further service, and Canada, if she heeded this argument, would have neither veterans nor militia.

Deplores Indifference

Major General Lessard deplored the indifference of Canadians to the virtual need of protecting the trade routes and intimated that much of that indifference was due to the farmers of the prairie provinces who considered ships, a sectional maritime problem and none of their business.

It was advanced by some that at a time of crisis the Canadian trade routes would be protected by the United States, but General Lessard was unable to imagine any self-respecting Canadian relying on a foreign power for his protection.

Even should such be the case, Canada would eventually have "to pay the piper." At the last analysis it would cost a great deal more to have the United States to do so had to look after our own protection.

Gives Figures

Major-General Lessard furnished the following figures of comparative expenditure on naval defence for the United Kingdom and the Dominions:

Per capita: Great Britain, $6.72; Australia, $2.04; New Zealand, $1.14; Canada, .17.

For defence, pensions and debt for 1922-23 the per capita was: Great Britain, $6; Australia, $2.50; New Zealand, $26.25; Canada, $14.67.

The speaker recalled that the British navy had been considerably decreased from its pre-war strength and quoted the warning of Sir Frederick Field commander of the Special Service Squadron that had toured the world, to the effect that with Britain's now limited naval force it would be impossible in time of war for the royal navy to undertake the defence of all the Empire trade routes.

Makes Comparison

"Surely," continued General Lessard, "we cannot reproach England for not having played the game by us; she has assumed all the responsibilities she can bear. But look at her debt and what she has undertaken to pay in the event of the country who owes her money not coming forward with their quota."

Major General Lessard declared that the Department of National Defence now gave $10,000,000 for the air, naval and militia forces, as compared with $12,000,000 given to the Militia Department alone in pre-war days. The dollar now was worth only one-third of its pre-war value, hence the decline of Canada's defence expenditures was very considerable.

The address was given to the Navy League and was listened to by a large gathering.

WORLD'S PREMIER PIANIST AT THE PRINCE EDWARD FRIDAY

Mark Hambourg, Born in Russia, Was a Child Prodigy—Played To Large Audiences in London And Vienna.

Mark Hambourg was born in South Russia and at the age of ten made his first public appearance as a juvenile prodigy at Moscow, afterwards touring England. In 1891 he left London to study under Leschetitzky in Vienna where he remained three years. After winning the Liszt scholarship, Mark Hambourg made his debut as a full grown pianist in 1894 at the Philharmonic concert in Vienna under the conductorship of Dr. Richter, and a year later made his bow to the London public at a concert of the Philharmonic Society.

In 1895 came Mark Hambourg's first Australian tour, which was a sensational success. During the following year he played at many important concerts in England before leaving for a second tour of Australia. For two years after this tour Mark Hambourg devoted himself more particularly to general study. This period paved the way for further achievements during his first American tour upon which he embarked in the Autumn of 1899, following which he again appeared in London and on the Continent. A second American tour of 80 concerts, followed by a third visit to Australia and a tour of South Africa which proved a most successful venture. In October of 1907 Hambourg made his third American tour, while in July 1908, after a great farewell concert at the Albert Hall, London, which was attended by 6,000 people, came a fourth visit to Australia extending over six months.

It is to be hoped that all lovers of music will take advantage of this opportunity of hearing one of the world's greatest pianists on Friday night. Seats are now on sale at the theatre. Make your reservations early.

The pupils gave a splendid programme of entertainment including songs, recitals, and dialogues which concluded with the unloading of the Xmas tree, a present came from the Christmas tree for every scholar supplied by the teachers. The teachers Mr. Eric Founds and Miss Helen Johnstone were in turn remembered by the pupils and presented with lovely gifts. Miss Marion Johnstone the regular teacher who is ill at her home was also

To the Reverend R. Hensley Stavert, M. A. B. D. Dear Pastor: We the young people, members and other friends of the Hartsville Presbyterian Church, are gathered here tonight, to wish you, a very Happy Birthday.

At this time we also desire to place on record our deep appreciation of all your faithful work in our midst.

Throughout these years, as our minister your chief aim has been to bring good cheer and victory to the downcast, comfort and inspiration to the afflicted, certainty and hope, through faith in the Crucified Saviour to the dying.

During the time you have been with us we recognize more and more your sterling qualities, as seen in your self sacrificing ministry. Your life has proven over and over again that your chief aim has been to help others at any price.

We believe that the needs of your fellow men have ever been uppermost in your thoughts and daily work.

Added to this, we feel that we must express to your our admiration of your faithfulness in proclaiming the Gospel of Jesus Christ as the only hope of a lost world.

You have ever made it plain to us that there is none other name given under heaven among men, whereby men may be saved, but the name of Jesus Christ.

In your preaching and teaching

On behalf of the young people, and other friends.

A little higher in price, but— what a wonderful difference a few cents make you have set forth the Bible to be the very word of the Living God. Through winter storms and summer rains, you have always been at your post to conduct our Sabbath Services and give us a message from the Scriptures.

In the work of our several organizations in the Church, you have always taken a deep interest. Through your efforts our W. Missionary Society was organized, and at all times you have been ready and willing to help its members in carrying on their work.

Our Young People Society, which owes much to you. We who have been trying to do our little part in this work know what a help you have been to us in our meetings.

Your presence in the S. School whenever it was possible for you to be there, has always been a source of inspiration to us.

Because of your deep interest in our Young People quite a number of our boys and girls in this congregation have had the privilege of attending the—Loves—Conferences and camps on P. E. I. and the Summer Schools for S. S. workers at Sackville. At such gatherings, those who have had the privilege of being present, have learned lessons which they shall never forget.

As an advocate of temperance and moral reform we have always admired you very much. When it came to a question of taking a stand for the right, you knew no friends.

No one ever had any doubt about the side upon which you would be found.

And again among the many other things we cannot forget the deep interest you took in our boys on their return from the front you never spared yourself the least in giving some worthy young lady to share with you life's joys and life's sorrows and thus make your already useful and helpful life still more worth while.

Following Mr. Stavert's reply all

Before the close of the address Mr. Stavert was presented with a snugg sized purse. The presentation was made by Mrs. Alex MacLennan.

To the address and presentation Mr. Stavert made a very fitting reply. He said that very few things in life were the source of greater inspiration than the fact that one's work was appreciated.

In a place as large as Brookfield Congregation one cannot get time for all the work there is to be done. When all of the rest of the work has been done there is little or no time left for visiting the people who are well.

In carrying on the work in this large field he had tried to do his part and what could not be overtaken had to be left undone.

Besides all the work in the congregation a certain amount of time has to be given up to the work required by Presbytery.

For a number of years (23) the Presbytery had asked him to take charge of the Young Peoples work within its bounds.

Added to this temperance work, social service work and other types of work also takes a certain amount of time.

To the address and presentation Mr. Stavert added the task of the day, taking an oversight of the work at Borden for a number of years, no one knows but one who has been through the experience just what a great amount of work there is in a field such as this.

Looking after the sick and the afflicted and attending to the day's work takes almost all of one's time. "Auld Lang Syne" followed by the National Anthem.

Just before closing a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Stavert by all attending the service and standing by him in every way for us within its bounds.

The rest of the speeches laid stress on the fact that the more the Lord himself has made of his blessing.

A dainty lunch was then served by the ladies. After having spent some further time in games the gathering was brought to a close by all joining hands and singing "Auld Lang Syne" followed by the National Anthem.

Just before closing a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Stavert by all attending the service and standing by him in every way for us within its bounds.

It is hoped that what was said to be the most present one of the best (him ever held in Hartsville.

Why YOU Should Purchase a Canadian Government Annuity

Because in old age it will free you from the dread of poverty or of becoming a burden upon others.

Because it will bring you comfort and independence in your later years.

BECAUSE IT WILL GIVE YOU A LARGER RETURN FOR THE AMOUNT INVESTED THAN ANY OTHER LIFE INVESTMENT OF EQUAL SECURITY.

For example, if a man of 20 will pay to the Dominion Government the sum of $5.31 a month until he is 60, the Government will agree to pay to him from 60 as long as he lives $50 a month—a return equal to over 22 1/2 % on the total amount paid.

If he dies before 60, every dollar that he paid in, with 4% compound interest, would be returnable to his heirs. If he should die between 59 and 60, the amount so returnable in a cash sum would be $5,230.00.

Such an Annuity may be of any amount from $50 to $5,000 a year, the cost being relatively the same. It is non-forfeitable, cannot be seized for debt, and is free from Dominion Income Tax. For full particulars fill out this Coupon and address it as directed.

THE MARKETS

(Canadian Press) MONTREAL, Jan. 7.—There was some further enquiry from foreign buyers for grain here today and some business was worked in Canadian western barley for January-February shipment, but the market on the whole was quiet. The trade in cash grain in the domestic market was also, but prices were steady. Ontario No. 2 white oats were quoted at 66 cents, No. 3 grade at 64 cents and No. 4 grade at 62 cents per bushel exclusive of freight. The tendency of the spring wheat market was firm, but prices showed no change. The market for winter wheat flour displayed further strength and prices were advanced 15 to 20 cents per barrel, which was attributed to the advanced figures asked by Ontario millers for supplies. The trade in milled wheat was extremely quiet, but prices ruled steady the market for rolled oats was also inactive. The feature of the baled hay situation was the stronger feeling that developed in No. 2 timothy and prices were marked up 50 cents per ton higher. No change of any importance occurred in eggs. The butter market was without any new feature to note. Prices were well maintained for cheese. Crop beans were quoted at $2.70 and $2.80 per bushel.
