ENTERTAIN MILITIA — St. Paul's and Central Christian churches were joint hosts to the Military Units in the City at St. Paul's parish hall last night. The soldiers were entertained by a program under the direction of Mrs. Frances-Holl Trainor and Mr. Albert Dennis. Mr. Charles Earle rendered vocal numbers. A pleasing sing-song took place at the conclusion of which the boys in khaki were fittingly banqueted by the ladies of the churches.

PULLED FROM WATER—Hearing a splash in the water late last night Mr. Brian Connors, night watchman on Bruce Stewart's wharf, rushed over to investigate the source of the noise and discovered a man struggling in the water below. Mr. Connors rescued the man from the icy water and notified the City Police. The victim of the plunge was Mr. Jack Essory of this City. Except for a bad wetting he was none the worse for his experience and was taken to his home by the Police. It appears that the man stumbled over the end of the wharf in the dark.

—50TH ANNIVERSARY —An event of much interest took place in Kensington on Nov. 6th, 1939 when Mr. and Mrs. Peter MacNutt were at home to their friends on the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day. Peter MacNutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. James MacNutt of Darnley and Susan Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart, Malpeque were united in marriage on Nov. 6th, 1889 by the Rev. George MacMillan, pastor of the Malpeque Presbyterian Church. They went to live on the farm adjoining the MacNutt homestead in Darnley which was their home for forty-seven years. Three years ago they sold the farm and with their daughter, Mary came to Kensington to live. Their home has always been synonymous with hospitality. So it was only fitting that their friends and neighbors should join with them in helping make the anniversary a memorable occasion. Both afternoon and evening many callers came to congratulate the worthy couple; they were assisted in receiving by Mr. ad Mrs. Robert MacNutt of Darnley and Mrs. Lydia Sims of Kensington. A beautiful studio couch with an accompanying complimentary address as well as other individual gifts were received by the bride and groom of fifty years ago. A musical programme consisting of the songs of long ago made the evening enjoyable. Mrs. Russell MacKay presided at the organ. Mr. and Mrs. MacNutt are in good health and under Divine Providdnce should still have many useful years at least this is the wish and prayer of their many friends.

MACSWAIN-MACLURE—A marriage of more than ordinary interest was solemnized at the Presbyterian Manse, Caledonia on Wednesday evening, October 25th when Annie Edna, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art MacSwain, Peters Road, became the bride of William Hazen MacLure, son of Mr. and Mrs. George MacLure, Murray Harbor North. The winsome bride looked charming in a gown of blue transparent velvet with matching accessories. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Sandra Johnston, Murray River; and James D. MacLure, brother of the groom was groomsman. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. S. MacLean. After a short motor drive the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's parents where about fifty invited guests, immediate relatives of the contracting parties were assembled. During the evening the guests were entertained with excellent music by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cameron of Brudenell, a sumptuous and delicious supper was served and a thoroughly delightful evening enjoyed by all. An unusually large band of serenaders added their hilarity to the merriment of the occasion, but after extending best wishes to the bride and groom and being treated to candy they quietly withdrew. The bride is a graduate of Prince of Wales College and has been engaged in her profession of teaching for several years. The groom was attired in the khaki uniform of the Royal Canadian Artillery, being a member of that unit now stationed at Charlottetown. On Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. MacLure left on a short trip to the mainland, returning on Saturday evening to the home of the groom where several young couples arrived to welcome them. Many beautiful gifts testified to the popularity of the newly weds. Bon voyage through life is the wish of their many friends.
