Mr. and Mrs. Duffy were absent from home attending Mass in Kinkora Church and Mr. Duffy's mother, an aged woman, and five small children were in the house when the fire broke out in the upper part of the building and mostly everything in the house was completely wiped out. The loss is a heavy one and will be felt severely at this season of the year. Mr. Duffy is a hard working, industrious farmer, and has the sympathy of the who's community in which he resides. It is said that he will rebuild early in the spring and will no doubt receive assistance from his many good neighbours and friends. A small amount of insurance it is understood was carried on the building.

"Ladies' Night" was observed by the Rotary Club last evening at the Canadian National Hotel where an enjoyable dinner was held. Present with the Rotarians were the Rotary Annes, and the friends of the Club who had given assistance at the various meetings of the Club. In all there were about 120 in attendance. Mr. Harry Rogers was Chairman and Miss Mona Wilson was the speaker. She outlined the present needs which must be filled if the work of aiding crippled children was to go on as heretofore, and made reference to the valuable assistance given in the work by the Rotary Club, which had contributed $2,250 in the past few years. Without the help of the Rotary Club it would not have been possible to have done such extensive work for the crippled children.

The guests, who had rendered assistance to the Club, were officially welcomed and thanked by the president, Mr. J. W. Boulter, who stated that they had exercised the true spirit of Rotary in the illness of the pianist, Miss Lillian Earle was expressed.

THE MAIN BUILDING has three wings, each 200 feet by 140 feet, and is roughly in the form of a double H with the wings forming the parallels. The wings are connected by a transversal with an over all length of 240 feet. The convalescent homes are each 150 feet by 50 feet. There will be a central power and heating plant entirely removed from the buildings in order to eliminate all fire risk from the buildings.

Male and female patients will be accommodated separately in the first and third wings, with paying patients in the central section. In the latter also will be located the administration department. The two sections connecting the wings will be used as dining rooms.

There is one large elevator in the main hospital, and two dumb waiters in each of the convalescent homes. The food will be prepared in a central kitchen, and the patients will be fed in the central dining rooms.

The convalescent homes are located adjacent to the main building, one on each side. The homes are being made as home-like as possible. There cured patients will be housed on probation.

The basements will be used for storage, and as a reception ward where new patients will be received, and classified. Hydro-therapy treatment which past experience has indicated will cure fifty percent of all cases treated will be available for patients. As the cost of maintaining each patient a year is $200 it is estimated, Mr. Fowler states, that an expenditure of $5,000 for every cure effected would be justifiable, apart entirely from the humanitarian standpoint. In addition the province would be relieved of the patient's upkeep and receives the benefit of his labour as long as he leads an active life. The province of Ontario has spent great sums of money on similar work, and one institution at Whitby has cost the government many millions, all of which has been amply repaid by the cures effected, fifty per cent of which were permanent.

Plans were made for a birthday social to be held next month. Meeting then closed with Midpah benediction, after which refreshments were served and a social hour spent.

The new Falconwood Hospital for the construction of which seventeen tenders have been received by Mr. C. A. Fowler, architect, Halifax, will have the most modern mental hospital equipment available anywhere. Mr. Fowler, who arrived in the city last evening, states that he has visited all the most elaborate and up to date institutions in Eastern Canada and United States, and that he has seen no better hospital site than the one chosen at Falconwood.

The plans call for five units, a main building in which accommodation will be provided for 185 patients, two convalescent homes in each of which accommodation will be provided for 75 patients, the east wing which is to be repaired, and a doctor's residence. The buildings are to be steel framed and of fire-proof construction with brick curtain walls, and stone trim.
