CAPTAIN OF MONGOLIAN KILLED IN HALIFAX

(Special to The Guardian)
HALIFAX, March 17.—Captain Hatherly, of the Allan liner Mongolian, was killed to-day by falling through a hatch. The Mongolian is undergoing repairs in the dry dock.

INTERNED GERMAN STEAMER ESCAPES

(Special to The Guardian)
LONDON, March 17.—Prominent display was made in newspapers to-day of a despatch stating the German liner, Macedonia, interned at Las Palmas, Canary Islands, escaped and put to sea with war supplies for German raiders. Commenting upon the despatch the papers say: The States may look for the same thing. German ships interned there are likely to make a dash at any time.

BRITISH CASUALTIES IN LAST FIVE DAYS

(Special to The Guardian.)
LONDON, March 17.—The British casualty lists for five days, from March 10 to March 14 inclusive, during which the battles of Neuve Chapelle and St. Eloi were fought, show that 112 officers were killed or died of wounds, and 193 officers wounded or missing.

The list of casualties among the men has not been published as yet, but some competent critics estimate them at about two-thirds of those suffered by the Germans, which Field Marshall French said were between 17,000 and 18,000. One Canadian officer was killed in fighting, and 3 wounded.

GERMANS FURIOUSLY BOMBARD NIEUPORT

(Special to The Guardian)
PARIS, March 17.—The enemy is again furiously bombarding Nieuport, this time with 16-inch howitzers, says a message from the Petit Parisien's war correspondent who adds: "Thirty shells fell in the town, making enormous holes and demolishing several buildings, but no one was hurt."
"Belgian troops, profiting by a slight recession in the waters of the district they occupy, carried two German advanced positions."
"Warships and monitors of the Allies are bombarding West-ende. The Germans replied feebly, but none of their shells took effect. Torpedo boat destroyers protected the bombarding ships, shelling a German submarine which attempted to approach."

TWO BRITISH STEAMERS TORPEDOED BY GERMANS

(Special to The Guardian)
LONDON, March 17.—An official announcement was made to-day that the British steamers Atlanta and Pingal had been torpedoed. The communication follows:
The British steamer Atlanta, 519 tons, owned by Messrs. J. A. and P. Hutchison, Glasgow, was torpedoed by a German submarine off Inishurk, on the West Coast of County Galway, Ireland, at noon, March 14. The crew landed at Inishurk Island. The vessel is now in the harbor.
The British steamer Pingal, 1,562 gross tons, (661 net), owned by the London and Edinburgh Shipping Company, Leith, Scotland, was torpedoed Sunday at 10.50, March 14, off the Northumberland Coast. Twenty-one members of the crew landed at North Shields. Six lives are reported lost, including the chief mate and steward.

The Atlanta was badly damaged and towed to port. Her captain is quoted as saying there was no doubt his vessel was struck by a torpedo. The crew of sixteen men was driven from the Atlanta by fire which started shortly after the explosion. The men took to small boats and were picked up.

CHESS

Cape Traverse, P. E. I.
March 16th, 1915

To Proprietor Rhymograph,
Charlottetown, P. E. I.
Worshipful Sir and Brother,
In my hurry to catch the train yesterday I omitted to learn the key of the prosophone box, with some responsible member of the Chess Club. Please see that no "Tom," "Lewis," or "Alexander," uses the machine I get back. I will hold you responsible for all reports, to the press regarding the Tournament, etc., etc. Allow me to congratulate you on the way you check mated "True Sports" effusions to the newspaper. All anonymous letters ought to be squelched before they get into print. In this connection might say that most of the intellectual people know the proprietors of the Rhymograph and Prosophone machines, and if any citizen, not knowing us, will ring up, Telephone Number 1611, they will get all the information they require first hand. Might I suggest your removing the sulphuric acid solution, used in Rhymographs reply to "True Sport" suggestions it did its work O. K. and now lubricate the safety valve, as heretofore with the oil of gladness, and good fellowship. Would it be possible for you to simply suggest, the removal of party politics from the Prohibition question, and also remind all Charlottetown Home Guards, who signed that service roll and all that desire to, to show up at the Drill Shed Friday night next. People through the country are much interested in this Chess Tournament business, especially in the movements of "Antonian Horse." One farmer desires to know if the "Antonian Horse" comes from the Parkside family. Parkside stock, I learn, are very intelligent, quick in action, but when imposed upon, become unearthy kickers, although gentle and kind at other times. Personally, I am glad the club decided to stick to the original plan this year and have but the two games all round.

"Multiplication is vexation."
Division is a puzzle to me.
The rule of three doth puzzle me
And practice drives me mad."

It is a beautiful morning and helps one to forget their troubles for you know, we all have our share.
The mails and passengers have just left on their long journey over the ice in the little boats. Every Islander that enjoys a rough and tumble outing should plan to take this trip, especially those who might think the brave Ice Boat men have a soft snap out of the Government. Among the passengers crossing today, was Mr. McLellan of Summerside, going to Montreal owing to severe accident to Dr. McLellan in getting off the street railway there. We shall only hope for their sakes and Summerside, that the Doctor may recover. It seems too good to learn here, that this will be the last year of the little ice boat service between the Capes. That next fall the new Ice Steamer is expected to run between here and the main land, and although, the entire work may not be completed, this assurance ought to cheer up every man, woman and child in this province. Do any of us Rhymograph, realize what this will mean for the future prosperity of this province?
All I have to say to farmers or people is this, if you want farms, houses or land, buy right now, don't wait until the Car Ferry is running.
You know Rhymograph I'm not much on politics, its too big a game for me, but I want to say right here, I admire the way the Government is putting through this job. When a man has travelled more or less for over twenty-five years, between this and the mainland in all conditions, I may be excused in being over joyed at the prospect, now most excellent, of completion of the shortest and best route winter and summer between the provinces. My letter to you is already too long. Keep up your good work, of reflecting light in homes business and Chess Club, in my absence and believe me dear Rhymograph yours for "True Sport."

PROSOPHONE.

HOCKEY

A very interesting game of hockey was played in the Morell open air rink on the evening of March 10th, between the "Moon Macks" of West St. Peters, and the "Bristol Stars".
A large audience witnessed the game. The ice was in good condition and the puck was kept moving at a lively rate. The "Moons" kept the puck coming their way all through the game. The "Stars" never got a chance to shoot. Although they were all very dexterous. When the whistle blew for half time the score stood, 1-0 in favor of the "Moons."

The last half was fast and interesting, and it was evident that the "Moon Macks" were too fast for their opponents, and before the whistle blew for time the Moons scored again and the game ended 2-0 in favor of the "Moon Macks."
Mr. Ronnie McInnis of St. Peters referred to the entire satisfaction of both teams.

The final game of a series played between the "Bristol Stars" of Bristol and the "Moon Macks" of West St. Peters was played in the West St. Peters open air rink Saturday, March 13th. Both teams showed a remarkable improvement since the first game two weeks ago.
The ice was in good condition and the game was fast and clean throughout. When the whistle blew at half time the score stood 1-0 in favor of the "Moons." A few minutes before the game ended the Moons made another score. The game ended 2-0 in favor of the "Moon Macks." The line-up was as follows:

Bristol Stars	Goal	Moon Macks
J. O'Brien	Point	J. B. Moore
E. Richardson	Aeneas McEachern	C. Point
L. McVarish	Rover	A. B. McAdam
H. Arnold	Centre	T. A. Moore
P. Sinnott	L. Wing	Percy Douglas
Jim Arnold	R. Wing	Alfred McEachern
R. McDonald	Aeneas McDonald

REPLY

We notice in the Guardian that the West Kent School team protest against Queen Square hockey team calling themselves interscholastic champions. The statement does not merit a reply as it is a well-known fact that the "victors belong the spoils," and as Queen Square won two out of the three games, with players who were not objected to by the West Kent team, before the games were played, naturally the Queen Square school hockey team rightly term themselves interscholastic champions.
Now as to the two players which West Kent object to, one of them went to school until Christmas and was therefore eligible to compete in any games this school year. The other player, although not going to school, is of school age, but to avoid disputes he got the consent of the West Kent team to play. To offset this player we allowed West Kent to play a "man, not a boy, who does not go to school, naturally, would they be willing to replay the games. We have the same grounds for protest as they have.
We might also remind the West Kent boys that it is a poor rule that does not work both ways. If they had "tic tack too," and therefore we cannot play it on paper.
In conclusion, we notice West Kent head their protest. "Hockey." We might say that our coach did not teach us this method of playing the game.

carried to Northern Ireland, and there sold as a slave to a pagan master. For many years he worked as a shepherd, forgotten and despised, suffering cold and hunger and bearing the abuses and insults heaped upon him by his cruel master. Day by day he received nothing, but cruelty and oppression in place of the kindness and love of his paternal home. Before him he saw nothing but obscurity and toil in place of fame and position in Church or State if he had been permitted to remain in his native land. But during the time of his captivity he was not forgetful of God. His days he tended the flock were spent in prayers and his nights were chiefly given to God. Thus he forgot not his Creator, and his Heavenly Father forgot him not. No, God was watching over him as a tender mother guards her little child. He had already begun that pilgrimage which was to lead him to a great and holy end and which was to bring fame and renown to that land chosen by Almighty God to be the scene of his labours. At length the Saint was enabled to escape his cruel oppressor. Quickly he made his way to his native home. How sweet to his eyes and his ears were the scenes and sounds of his childhood. What filial love filled his heart as his aged mother once more embraced him and declared in the transports of her joy that her lost son, now restored to her, would never more leave her. But God had another lot in store for him. Family happiness and family joys were not to be his. No, there was ever in his heart an intense longing—a burning desire to bring the Christian faith to the pagan Irish race—and to lead the people from darkness to an admirable knowledge of God. Day by day his desire was ever before him, and he himself tells in his confessions at night, in his dreams, how he heard voices from the Western Sea crying out, "We entreat thee, holy youth, to come and walk still amongst us." Recognising in this the call of Almighty God he arose and again leaving his home and parents, he made his way to his friends and kinsman, St. Martin of Tours. There he begins his studies for the holy priesthood. Afterwards he wends his

Dear Sir:—I am in receipt of cheque for $538.50, being the profits to February 1st in my policy in your company.
This is over 28 per cent of all the premiums I paid in this "20 Payment Life" policy, which I have as profits, besides carrying my risk all these years.
I still have a paid up policy, payable at death, for $3,000.00, which policy is still bearing profits every five years.
This paid-up policy has cost me in actual cash $1,354.50 besides the risk of carrying me all these years, and I still have this profit bearing and fully paid up policy for $3,000.00.
I am well satisfied and if there is any better policy than this I have not heard of it so far. I now wish I had made it $5,000.00 instead of $3,000.00, but there you are.
Wishing you every success, I am

OFFICERS BLAMED FOR DISASTER TO VESSEL.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., March 16.—A "grave error of judgment" was committed by Captain Abram Kean, of the steamer Stephano, and an "error of judgment" by George Tuff, chief officer of the steamer Newfoundland, in connection with the seal hunting operations, which resulted in the death of 73 members of the crew of the Newfoundland last spring, according to the finding of a commission, made public yesterday. The commission was composed of Chief Justice Horwood and Justices Emerson and Johnson, of the Colonial Supreme Court. Justice Johnson dissented from the finding, and filed a minority opinion that neither Kean nor Tuff was in any way to blame for the disaster. The commission was unanimous in holding that the loss of the sealing steamer South-Em Cross, with her crew of 175 men, McKinnon Drug Co., corner Great at about the same time could be ascribed and Kent Streets.
