

Woman's Realm Social and Personal Fashions Literature

This Nemo Sensation

for your youthful figure

YOU certainly enjoy Nemo Sensation "Play" because it does something very special for you! It gives so much youthful charm to a junior figure. Its pretty satin front panel assures graceful lines and good posture. The two-way stretch "Supplespun"—which naturally in run-proof—takes beautifying care of your sides and derriere. Sizes: Small, Medium and Large. And another certainly attractive feature of "Play" is you only $3.50 pay

MOORE & McLEOD Limited

THE COOK'S CORNER

RHUBARB CONSERVE
Two cups finely chopped rhubarb, 2 cups shredded pineapple, 4 cups hulled strawberries, 7 cups sugar, 1-2 cup blanched and shredded almonds.
Cook pineapple in its own juice for ten minutes. Add strawberries, stirring to prevent sticking, for about forty minutes longer. Turn into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffin.

CHERRY-ALMOND WAFERS
One-half cup shortening, 1-2 cup butter, 1 ounce (about 3 table-spoons) almond paste, 1-2 cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, beaten, 8 1-3 cups sifted cake or pastry flour, or 3 cups sifted hard-wheat flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt.
Cream shortening and butter. Work sugar well into almond paste; combine mixture, add egg, combining well. Mix sifted flour and salt into shortening mixture to make a stiff dough. Roll thin. Cut in small squares, fold 2 opposite corners to centre, decorate each with halved cherry; bake in slow oven, 300 degrees, 12 to 15 minutes.

TOMATO JUICE CRUMB CAKE
2 cups flour
1 cup white sugar
2-3 cup butter
1 cup tomato juice

HOME-CANNED CORN
Fill a large-sized pot with corn and cover with water. Cook until done as for table use. Take from water and with a sharp knife remove the kernels from the cobs. Have sterilized sealers ready; pack with corn and put a level teaspoon of salt in each sealer and as much of the water in which the corn was cooked as the jars will hold. Seal, and turn upside down to see that the jars are airtight. Put in cellar. When using, drain all water off and wash corn in two or three different lukewarm waters. Then boil again and it is ready for use.
The earliest world map known to-day, says an anthropologist, was made by a Greek in 517 B.C.

DAINTY CUTWORK FOR LOVELY LINENS

746

DESIGN NO. 746
Beautiful cutwork design for your luncheon cloth and napkins. Hot iron transfer pattern No. 746 contains four motifs 5 1/4 by 14 inches and six motifs 2 1/2 by 5 inches with complete instructions.
To order pattern: Write or send above picture with 15 cents in coin or stamps to Needlework Bureau, Charlottetown Guardian.
To Charlottetown Guardian Needlework Department Design No. 746
NAME _____
STREET ADDRESS _____ CITY _____
PROVINCE _____

Dorothy Dix Says—

PRASE QUICKENS CHILDREN SAME AS IT DOES GROWNUPS

Don't Be Stingy With Kind Words; Constant Heckling Brings An Inferior Complex

One of the greatest mistakes that parents make in dealing with their children is in not realizing that praise has the same effect upon them that it has upon adults. It is uplifting and inspiring. It is the Archimedes lever that moves also worlds. All of us know that the thing that makes us grown-ups put our hearts and our backs in our work is commendation. Yet most fathers and mothers go upon the theory to incite ambition in a child is to tell it how dull and stupid and blundering it is. Apparently, the great majority of parents seem to think either that it will develop sinful vanity in their youngsters to give them a word of approbation for good performances, or else that compliments are too valuable a commodity for home consumption. At any rate all the little kids get from morning till night is criticism, so it is no wonder that when a little girl was asked her name, she replied that it was Don't Mary.

Of course the fathers and mothers who bring up their children on the nagging theory, are not intentionally cruel. On the contrary, they love their children and think they are doing their duty by them in keeping the faults and weaknesses ever before them, and they are blissfully unaware that they are doing them the greatest harm that one human being can do another, for they are establishing inferiority complexes in their youngsters that will doom them to failure as long as they live.

What parents forget is that they are their children's public, and if the youngsters never get the glad-hand from Mom and Pop they feel just as humiliated and discouraged, as an author does if his book fails to sell, or a business man does when his enterprise goes into bankruptcy.

Also, children take their parents' estimation of themselves as final, and if all of their virtues are passed over in silence and the spotlight is always turned on their mistakes and blunders, they feel that they have been weighed in the balance and found wanting, and there is no use in trying to do better and to be what they can never be.

Parents are always walling out that all their efforts to improve their children seem to get nowhere. "I have told Johnny a million times to act like a gentleman and he still comes barging into the house like a hoodlum." "I am always correcting Mary's posture, but nothing I can say keeps her from trying herself in a knot when she sits down." "I am simply at my wits' end to know what to do with my children." I don't seem to have any influence with them." How often we hear that wail from fathers and mothers.

Of course, they haven't, because they are going about influencing them in the wrong way. Children get hardened to abuse. They learn to shut their ears against fault-finding. But they are avid for praise. They hunger and thirst for their parents' approbation.

Parents Too Critical
Children seem to get nowhere. "I have told Johnny a million times to act like a gentleman and he still comes barging into the house like a hoodlum." "I am always correcting Mary's posture, but nothing I can say keeps her from trying herself in a knot when she sits down." "I am simply at my wits' end to know what to do with my children." I don't seem to have any influence with them." How often we hear that wail from fathers and mothers.

Of course, they haven't, because they are going about influencing them in the wrong way. Children get hardened to abuse. They learn to shut their ears against fault-finding. But they are avid for praise. They hunger and thirst for their parents' approbation.

Judicious Praise Is Good
There is no surer way to make a boy give up all efforts toward getting an education than for his parents to keep harping on how dull he is and terrorizing him over his report cards. Nor is there any surer way to kill whatever personality a plain girl has than for Mother always to be complaining about how awkward she is and bemoaning that she looks after her father's family in looking like a peasant who put out the fire on the altar in many a child's soul by destroying his self-confidence in himself.

Of course, praise, like every other good thing, should be given a child in judicious amounts and for his parents to keep harping on how dull he is and terrorizing him over his report cards. Nor is there any surer way to kill whatever personality a plain girl has than for Mother always to be complaining about how awkward she is and bemoaning that she looks after her father's family in looking like a peasant who put out the fire on the altar in many a child's soul by destroying his self-confidence in himself.

Of course, praise, like every other good thing, should be given a child in judicious amounts and for his parents to keep harping on how dull he is and terrorizing him over his report cards. Nor is there any surer way to kill whatever personality a plain girl has than for Mother always to be complaining about how awkward she is and bemoaning that she looks after her father's family in looking like a peasant who put out the fire on the altar in many a child's soul by destroying his self-confidence in himself.

Tell your children how good they are, but they can be better.

THE LIKEABLE MAN

By SYLVESTER CAIRN

"Mr. Dixon told me you had had a row but he did not blame you. After all, it is merely a question of temper," Miss Madden's eyes looked amused, "that'll affect him more than me."

"It's not exactly that," Gerald paused. Looking back, the Gerald Ashley of Lowbridge seemed very young and foolish, a mere silly youth. And now he felt so old. There was a long pause.

"Well?" said Miss Madden at last, when he did not continue.

"It's been, slowly and hesitantly, stumbling over a sentence, repeating himself and halting several times, Elizabeth Madden did not interrupt. Neither did she help him out. She just waited, dark blue eyes on his face. He spoke of the verdict and of the summer, starting over the utter weariness and discontent. But the girl could read between the lines. Then he stopped. He paused for so long that she spoke.

"Go on!" she said.

It was difficult to speak of that time of hunger and utter misery. If he said too much, he seemed begging for sympathy; if too little, he minimized all the glooms had meant to him. He concluded:

"Then jobs came to the end, and I'd the luck to meet Mr. Dixon. He was a witty descent. And you know what Mrs. Dixon's like. And now Mr. Dixon had contrived to get me a job, and I come and tell you all this. But—what else could I do?"

There was another long pause. Gerald sat rigid. He would have felt more at his ease standing to face his judge Elizabeth sat looking at him thoughtfully.

Then the door burst open and Nesta bounced in.

"What's the matter, you here?" she cried. "How jolly to see you."

"Didn't Helen tell you I was engaged?" Elizabeth frowned.

"We're discussing business," he said.

"With Mr. Ashley?" Nesta was incredulous.

"Yes, very busy. Elizabeth swung round again towards Gerald, taking it for granted that Nesta would go. Gerald held the door open, and she went out pouting.

That had given him a new insight into Elizabeth Madden's character, Gay and friendly and kind. Yet, when she gave the answer, she never questioned that they would be obeyed.

Gerald closed the door gently, but remained standing, awaiting the verdict.

Work Or Go Hungry

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a boy 20 years old and very much in love, but although my girl and I have been engaged two years we see no way of getting married because I have a mother and three brothers to support. One of these brothers is 26, the other 19, the other 17, and they are just too lazy to lift a hand, and I have had to take care of them ever since. I was old enough to work. My mother married a second time and has four children by her second husband. He left home a short time ago because he did not want to take care of her three lazy older children. What would you advise me to do in this situation?

ANSWER—I should advise you to quit being the family goat. Walk out on the three lazy brothers, all of whom are amply able to support themselves. They will find work to do when they get good and hungry. It is having three equals to depend on a day and somewhere to sleep that keeps them enjoying a life of leisure.

By what process one son or daughter becomes the family martyr is one of the inscrutable mysteries of life. But we see it happen every day. One son or daughter is elected to maintain the altar in many a child's soul by wearily sticking out his head to have the burden laid upon his shoulders is a weakling who deserves what he gets.

DOROTHY DIX.

CHAPTER IX ELIZABETH HAS HER WAY

"Why are you telling me this?" Elizabeth demanded of Gerald. "I don't want to hear that," she said steadily. "I felt I had to tell you no reason why you should believe I'm innocent. Everything points to my being either a knave or a fool—I'm hesitated."

"And you aren't a fool? There was a hint of amusement in that face."

"I'm not a knave, though you may not believe me."

There was another long pause. "Not proven a stupid verdict" she said suddenly.

"Very Scotch," he answered. "It was easier to speak of impersonal things such as Scots law."

But she reverted to the personal. "Why did you slack like that?"

"I can't imagine why. But I've learnt my lesson. I don't know, if you believe me."

"Thank you for telling me. I'm"

(Continued on page 8, Col 2)

New under-arm Cream Deodorant safely Stops Perspiration

Man's most attractive characteristics are: simplicity, kindness and naturalness.

Roll small cream cheese balls in finely shredded carrots to serve with fresh fruit or vegetable salad.

All kinds of wood are composed of approximately the same chemical elements.

- Does not rot dresses or men's shirts. Does not irritate skin.
- No waiting to dry. Can be used right after shaving.
- Instantly stops perspiration for 1 to 3 days. Removes odor from perspiration.
- A pure, white, greaseless, sunless, vanishing cream.
- Arrid has been awarded the Approval Seal of the American Institute of Laundering for being harmless to fabrics.

ARRID is the LARGEST SELLING DEODORANT. Try a jar today!

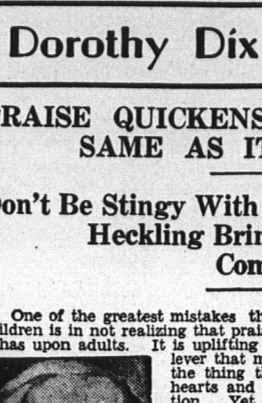

ARRID

39¢ a jar At all stores selling toilet goods (also in 15¢ and 59¢ jars)

Dorothy Dix Says—

PRASE QUICKENS CHILDREN SAME AS IT DOES GROWNUPS

Don't Be Stingy With Kind Words; Constant Heckling Brings An Inferior Complex

One of the greatest mistakes that parents make in dealing with their children is in not realizing that praise has the same effect upon them that it has upon adults. It is uplifting and inspiring. It is the Archimedes lever that moves also worlds. All of us know that the thing that makes us grown-ups put our hearts and our backs in our work is commendation. Yet most fathers and mothers go upon the theory to incite ambition in a child is to tell it how dull and stupid and blundering it is. Apparently, the great majority of parents seem to think either that it will develop sinful vanity in their youngsters to give them a word of approbation for good performances, or else that compliments are too valuable a commodity for home consumption. At any rate all the little kids get from morning till night is criticism, so it is no wonder that when a little girl was asked her name, she replied that it was Don't Mary.

Of course the fathers and mothers who bring up their children on the nagging theory, are not intentionally cruel. On the contrary, they love their children and think they are doing their duty by them in keeping the faults and weaknesses ever before them, and they are blissfully unaware that they are doing them the greatest harm that one human being can do another, for they are establishing inferiority complexes in their youngsters that will doom them to failure as long as they live.

What parents forget is that they are their children's public, and if the youngsters never get the glad-hand from Mom and Pop they feel just as humiliated and discouraged, as an author does if his book fails to sell, or a business man does when his enterprise goes into bankruptcy.

Also, children take their parents' estimation of themselves as final, and if all of their virtues are passed over in silence and the spotlight is always turned on their mistakes and blunders, they feel that they have been weighed in the balance and found wanting, and there is no use in trying to do better and to be what they can never be.

Parents are always walling out that all their efforts to improve their children seem to get nowhere. "I have told Johnny a million times to act like a gentleman and he still comes barging into the house like a hoodlum." "I am always correcting Mary's posture, but nothing I can say keeps her from trying herself in a knot when she sits down." "I am simply at my wits' end to know what to do with my children." I don't seem to have any influence with them." How often we hear that wail from fathers and mothers.

Of course, they haven't, because they are going about influencing them in the wrong way. Children get hardened to abuse. They learn to shut their ears against fault-finding. But they are avid for praise. They hunger and thirst for their parents' approbation.

Parents Too Critical
Children seem to get nowhere. "I have told Johnny a million times to act like a gentleman and he still comes barging into the house like a hoodlum." "I am always correcting Mary's posture, but nothing I can say keeps her from trying herself in a knot when she sits down." "I am simply at my wits' end to know what to do with my children." I don't seem to have any influence with them." How often we hear that wail from fathers and mothers.

Of course, they haven't, because they are going about influencing them in the wrong way. Children get hardened to abuse. They learn to shut their ears against fault-finding. But they are avid for praise. They hunger and thirst for their parents' approbation.

Judicious Praise Is Good
There is no surer way to make a boy give up all efforts toward getting an education than for his parents to keep harping on how dull he is and terrorizing him over his report cards. Nor is there any surer way to kill whatever personality a plain girl has than for Mother always to be complaining about how awkward she is and bemoaning that she looks after her father's family in looking like a peasant who put out the fire on the altar in many a child's soul by destroying his self-confidence in himself.

Of course, praise, like every other good thing, should be given a child in judicious amounts and for his parents to keep harping on how dull he is and terrorizing him over his report cards. Nor is there any surer way to kill whatever personality a plain girl has than for Mother always to be complaining about how awkward she is and bemoaning that she looks after her father's family in looking like a peasant who put out the fire on the altar in many a child's soul by destroying his self-confidence in himself.

Of course, praise, like every other good thing, should be given a child in judicious amounts and for his parents to keep harping on how dull he is and terrorizing him over his report cards. Nor is there any surer way to kill whatever personality a plain girl has than for Mother always to be complaining about how awkward she is and bemoaning that she looks after her father's family in looking like a peasant who put out the fire on the altar in many a child's soul by destroying his self-confidence in himself.

Tell your children how good they are, but they can be better.

Living & Leisure - The Woman's Realm

FAITH

Better trust all and be deceived. And weep that trust and that deceiving. Than doubt one heart that, if believed, blessed one's life with true believing.

LEMON ACCENTS

Don't forget to serve a thin slice of lemon with ice melon. Lemon accents the melon flavor.

Sometimes when the gravy from roasts is not quite as dark as you want it to be, try adding a little kitchen bouquet. Use just enough to color it.

If you have no individual molds, jellies may be molded in muffin tins. Turn pan upside down, place not wet towel over pan and jellies will slip out easily.

The flavor of cranberry sauce is much improved by chilling the can before opening it. Store 1 or 2 cans in the refrigerator and serve ruby slices with cold out and summer salads for color and appetizing appeal.

Man's most attractive characteristics are: simplicity, kindness and naturalness.

Roll small cream cheese balls in finely shredded carrots to serve with fresh fruit or vegetable salad.

All kinds of wood are composed of approximately the same chemical elements.

Beautiful Hair May Be Yours If You Give It Care

If your hair is thinner, has no life in it, and is definitely fed up, it needs a tonic.

If it is oily, attention it requires it not as time-demanding as dry hair. Dry shampoo it with starch, which takes very little time, and which shows an immediate result—it makes the hair beautifully luxuriant, too. Makes up a lotion of fifty per cent white hazel. Dip a piece of cotton wool in this and cleanse the hair with it when it needs it.

If anyone wears a tight-fitting cap, pressing on the hair, they must see that it is clean. It should be washed out every night with a piece of cloth dipped in methyloated spirits, so that it is germ-proof and ready for the morning.

There is a very lovely special shampoo for greasy hair which can be made at home. Put two ounces of green soft soap into a saucupan with one pint cold water. Let it simmer until the soap is dissolved, strain and put aside until it is cold. There is sufficient here for three or four shampoos, which can only benefit the hair.

For dry hair she adds oils to the diet as much as possible. Never miss the chance to take oil dressing with salads and that kind of thing. Always use a brilliantine, it is definitely helpful to the hair.

By providing irrigation, Grand Coulee Dam will create at least 20,000 new farms.

A human being who drank water in proportion to a robin would require five gallons a day.

MORSE'S TEA

Morse's Standard Tea is the great economy tea today. It has the quality and is sold at a low price.

"I CAN'T HELP BEING PROUD THE WAY FOLKS ENVY MY SUNLIGHT WASHES!"

OVERHEARD JIM'S BROTHER ENVYING HIM HIS SPOTLESS WHITE SHIRTS. JIM TOLD HIM I USED SUNLIGHT.

YOUR WASH ALWAYS SMELLS FRESH AND SWEET. REMARKED A FRIEND, THAT'S SUNLIGHT, I TOLD HER.

I'VE WASHED MY OLD CHINTZES AGAIN WITH SUNLIGHT. THEY LOOK SO BRIGHT THE NEIGHBOURS THINK THEY'RE NEW!

You, too, will be proud of your wash when you use Sunlight. Clothes washed with Sunlight are naturally whiter and brighter, have a natural fresh, sweet smell. Sunlight contains no harmful adulterants. It's all-pure—thrifty and safe for all washables. Get Sunlight at your store today.

FOR WHITENESS AND NATURAL BRIGHTNESS—

—it's all-PURE soap

Your Individual HOROSCOPE

By Frances Drake

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)
Less stimulating than yesterday, but work concerning the welfare of the public, needed commodities, general improvements, matters pertaining to land and produce are produce are favored. Merit advised in recreational activities.

APRIL 21 to MAY 20 (Taurus)
Excellent vibrations. Among the highly favored: Merchandising, shopping, promotional and advertising interest; travel; dealing in government bonds and other sound investments; artistic and professional lines. Care advised in shipping.

MAY 21 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)
Today's friendly indications are right in your line—new and unique ideas and devices, invention, smart advertising and promoting business in general. Be sufficiently consistent to obtain good results.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer)
Should be ideal for your plans and activities. Money matters, gains in mental and artistic work, all solid and practical issues equally favored with entertainment and romance.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo)
Vibrations encouraging for your particular line of endeavor. You can add to your benefits by instituting new and progressive equipment and methods, and thoroughly advertising your product. Get quickly at the important work.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo)
You can make capital out of your inherent artistic and a special ability this fine day. Skip the fluff, use sensible details and get quickly at the important work.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra)
Use your good judgment and intuitive powers to ferret out the real values, then tackle them with your usual deftness and industriousness. Benefits for you Librans.

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio)
You born after November 9 may have to be more judicious than other Scorpio-folk, especially in dealings with others. All can step forward with confidence for beneficent rays favor worthwhile endeavors and vacation activities.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)
A.M., especially favors manufacturing, industrial

Home Lessons Good for Popular Dance Errors

He'd Lead If She'd Let Him!
The wrong way to sweep a man off his feet!
If men aren't eager to dance with you, maybe that's one of your bad dance habits too—taking the lead from your partner as you dance backward.

To be the pliant light-footed dancer men like, practise at home with simple instructions and diagrams. Soon you can say YES to these questions!

In dancing backward, do you move your foot before your body moves? Sway slightly forward toward your partner until you can easily lift your heels? Do you relax your knees?

To dance backward without getting stepped on, you of course swing your leg way back, leading with your toe.

Or is your main dancing trouble just not knowing the steps?

Our 32-page booklet has clear footprint diagrams and instructions showing the most popular dance step and variations—rumba, Conga, tango, fox-trot, slow fox-trot, waltz, shag. Tells how to lead and follow, gives tips on posture, rhythm, different dance positions.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of HOME COURSE IN NEW BALLROOM DANCES to The Guardian Home Service, The Charlottetown Guardian. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Name _____
Street Address _____
City _____ Province _____

Needlecraft - For The Home

Your favorite playtime costume will be this one-piece playsuit with its own skirt. The suit is well cut and so easy to slip into as it buttons down the side of the shorts. The skirt is a practical addition to this ensemble. When you button it on over the shorts you have as neat and smart a shirt-waist frock as any one could want. Sturdy cotton, printed or plain, should be your choice for long and hard wear.

Style No. 3229 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires fabric for playsuit; 2 1/2 yards for skirt.

Send Twenty (20c) coin is preferred, for Pattern. Write plainly your Name, Address and the style number. Be sure to state the size you wish.

Name _____
Street Address _____
City _____ Province _____

A Morning Smile

Customer—And are you quite certain that this is a genuine antique? New Assistant—Quite certain, miss. And, more than that, it's quite the latest thing in antiques.

Cop—You've been sitting in your car for the last three hours. Do you still claim you're just waiting for a man?

Motorist—Yes, officer. I am waiting for either of the gentlemen who own the car in front of me and the car behind me.

3229 SIZES 12-40