OBITUARY.—Died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Weeks, Alberton on Saturday, April 22nd, Mary Ann, widow of late Jas. Gourlay of Tignish, aged 64 years. She bore her painful illness with wonderful patience and fortitude and when she learned the fatal nature of her disease bowed with cheerful submission to the decree of Heaven being willing to live for the sake of others but having a desire to depart to be with Christ which is far better. After an appropriate service at the house conducted by Rev. A. B. McDonald and Rev. H. G. Gratz her remains were solemnly laid to rest in the presence of a large concourse of friends and acquaintances. To her bereaved family we tender our sincere sympathy.

EIGHTY MILES AN HOUR.

VIENNA, May 1.—Herr Kress, the aeronaut, exhibited his airship yesterday at Tullenbrach. The airship is complete except for the installation of a 25 horsepower Daimler motor. Herr Kress expects to make his first ascent in June. He expects that the ship will travel from 50 to 80 miles an hour.

MORNING PAPERS.

Far Ahead of Evening Journals.

PEOPLE WANT NEWS.

Before it is Cold—Three Times as Many Morning as Evening Papers.

Afternoon papers in various parts of the country are just now having one of their intermittent fits of throwing bouquets at each other, declaring that they are the only real thing, and making funny bluffs about the popularity as compared with that of morning papers.

This is a harmless amusement. It seems to tickle the afternoon papers immensely, and it doesn't hurt the morning papers a bit. The latter are in the lead almost everywhere and easily maintain their supremacy, for the simple reason that the great majority of people want their news before it gets cold. There are places, of course, in which evening papers have the greater circulation, but they are few and far between. This condition exists in Brooklyn and Buffalo, and possibly in Syracuse, but in most of the large cities the reverse is the rule. The morning paper is far ahead in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville, Rochester, and a host of other towns. In Rochester, for example, it is safe to say that the Democrat and Chronicle prints and sells more copies every day than any two of the afternoon papers combined. This is because ninety per cent of the news in the Democrat and Chronicle is "strictly fresh," while at least seventy-five per cent of the news in the evening papers has already appeared in the Democrat and Chronicle. This is not especially a virtue of one or a fault of the other. It is due to the fact that nearly all important events happen in the afternoon or evening and are first chronicled in the papers of the succeeding morning, while there are comparatively few occurrences in the early part of the day which are first recorded in the afternoon papers. Thus the reader of a morning paper gets posted from six to ten hours earlier than the readers of an evening paper and there few people who like to wait that length of time and come trailing behind their neighbors in getting in touch with the affairs of their town and the world.

We do not deny that the evening paper has its uses. It is in fact an institution that should be encouraged and supported. But to compare it with the morning paper as a prompt and liberal dispenser of news is absurd. Election returns, baseball news, sporting events, legislative proceedings, foreign affairs and a host of other topics are first covered by the morning papers and several hours later by the evening papers.

We presume it is no exaggeration taking the country as a whole to say that there are circulated three times as many morning as evening papers. And the reading public knows why this is so.—Rochester (N. Y.) Chronicle.
