The evening was spent in games, singing and dancing, music being furnished by Anthony Bernard which caused much laughter, especially when Mr. Burt was bounced and left his toe marks in the ceiling. After singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" they all left for their different homes thanking the hostesses for her hospitality and the pleasant evening spent, and hoping they would have many more together.

—WEDDING BELLS—A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, November, 8th at 3 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Pickering on Convent Street, Summerside, when their eldest daughter, Miss Marjorie Isabelle, was united in marriage to Mr. Alfred Edison Colwell eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Woodland Colwell of Northam. The drawing room was tastefully arranged with yellow and white chrysanthemums and autumn leaves. The ceremony took place under an arch of autumn leaves and chrysanthemums of the same shades. Rev. C. J. St. Clair Jeans was the officiating clergyman. Miss Helen Peters played the wedding march as the bride entered the room with her father, who gave her in marriage. The bride was charming in a lovely gown of white satin; her veil, fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms, hung in graceful folds to the hem of her dress; her bouquet was of white chrysanthemums and maiden hair fern. Miss H. Ruth Pickering, attended her sister, and was dressed in a silk crepe dress of canary with a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Mr. William Hayes of Tyne Valley acted as best man. About seventy guests were present. After the ceremony the young couple were congratulated by the members of their immediate families. Miss Helen Peters played the retiring march as the bridal couple left the room. A dainty wedding supper was served to the guests at which Rev. Mr. Jeans proposed the toast to the newly-wedded couple. Assisting in serving were Mrs. George McCallum; Mrs. W. G. Phillips and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, of Tyne Valley, aunts of the bride; Miss Alice Gordon, Miss Pearl Yeo of Northam; Miss Amy Bryan of Lot 11; and Miss Violet Gillespie. Besides the groom's parents, the bride's grand-mother, Mrs. Alfred Phillips of Tyne Valley was present. Among the out of town guests were Mr. James Colwell of Moncton, N. B., uncle of the groom; and Mr. Benjamin Rees of Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Colwell will reside in Northam. Previous to her marriage the bride was the guest of honour at several showers when she received many lovely gifts. The Guardian joins in heartiest congratulations.—S.

Scottish Sheep

They landed their airplane in Mr. N. J. Nicholson's field and took up passengers during the afternoon.—H.

According to the fourth census of agriculture production in Scotland, in 1930-31, a report of which will be issued shortly, the steady increase in the number of sheep since 1920, when stocks were at their lowest, is one of the marked features of post-war agriculture in Scotland. In 1931 a total of 7,831,000 sheep was returned, the largest number in forty years. In 1932 a still larger number of sheep was recorded. The wool clip of 1931—27,300,000 lbs.—including skin wool, the value of which is included under mutton naturally kept pace with the increase in flocks.
