MRS. JOHN McLEAN, Argyle shore, has in her possession a curiosity in the form of a clothes brush nearly two hundred years old, which belonged to her great grand mother. Plymouth England, and which was brought to the Island in 1818. On the back of the brush is the year 1617.

THE funeral of the late John A. McDonald took place yesterday afternoon to the R. C. Cemetery at 3 p. m. The large number of friends present showed the very high esteem in which the deceased was held. The Caledonia Club of which he was a member attended the funeral in a body. The pall bearers were Chief Justice Sullivan, Messrs. F. de St. C. Brecken, S. C. Nash, Angus McMillan, John Carroll, James Reddin.

THE Picton Advocate says: Messrs D. Sutherland and Daniel McDonald, accompanied by Rev. Mr. Moss and Rev. D. J. Fraser, of St. John, N. B., spent Tuesday at Earltown lakes and captured 15 dozen handsome trout. Mr. Fraser, as the guest of the party, was delighted with the outing, and thoroughly enjoyed the sport of fishing such fine specimens of the speckled beauties.

AN exchange says there is every prospect that bicycle racing will boom in the Maritime provinces this season. Never were so many riders preparing for the track. Nearly all the racing men in the three provinces are getting into condition and will face the starter more than once. After enumerating the different provincial men it says: The principle Charlottetown riders are Picton Brown, C. M. Clark and Fenton Newsome, Unsworth having retired. Clark is probably the fastest of the lot and is expected to carry off everything by his Island friends.

FATHER CLARKE was a passenger by the Princess Saturday evening, on return from Picton. The Picton Advocate says: The special mission services conducted in Stella Maria Church, this week, by Rev. Father Clarke, Paulist Father, of New York, have been largely attended. Father Clarke is an earnest, fluent speaker, and held the attention of his hearers for an hour on Sunday evening, taking for his subject "The end for which all things were made." His remarks were mainly directed against the sin of unbelief and his arguments were most convincing. He appealed strongly to his people to think seriously of their spiritual welfare, to give but secondary thought to the things of this world, which are trifling and but for a day, as compared with the life that is to come. Friday evening Father Clarke closed his mission here.
