

THE CENTRAL GUARDIAN

It pays to buy in this province

CONGRATULATIONS.—The many friends of the new management of the Opera House, now Prince Edward Theatre, are offering him felicitations on the advent of a little daughter in his home in Montreal.

POLICE COURT.—At the Charlottetown Police Court this morning two cases were tried for non-payment of dog tax, one was fined $2 or 5 days and the other case was adjourned until the 9th January. Patrick Holland on a charge of drunkenness was fined $3 or 5 days.

EXAMINATION.—The semi-annual examination of Rose Valley School took place on Wednesday afternoon. A large number of rate payers and visitors were present and by their deep interest in school matter added a great deal to the examination. The pupils were examined by those present assisted by the teacher, Eliza Todd, and by their ready and accurate answers reflected great credit upon their teacher. When the various classes had been examined in their respective work the scholars gave recitations, which were highly pleasing to the present. Remarks commendatory of the pupils class work and the condition of the school were made by Joseph Trowsdale, secretary, and others. The teacher having treated those present with candy the school closed for its Christmas holidays.

SHORT COURSE NOTES.—On Monday, January the 5th, the first day of the Short Course, special instruction in Egg Candles will be given in the Annex to the Agricultural Hall. As only twenty students can be accommodated at one time those who have signified their attention to attend have been divided into groups, and cards have been sent to the first sixty on which the time at which they are expected to be present in the Annex to the Agricultural Hall is given. The first class meets at eleven o'clock, and as the Eastern train is expected to reach the city first, all the students for the first class are taken from the Eastern end of the Province. At 1.30 p. m., all the students will assemble in the Hall of Prince of Wales College and those who have not been sent their tickets for the Egg Candles work will be given them at that time.

POINT PRIM.—The half-yearly examination of the Point Prim School was held on the 24th inst. Those present were Messrs. Dan, D. McLeod, Sec'y; Samuel McLeod, Trustee, and D. Murchison, J. P. The pupils were examined in the different subjects by the teacher, Mr. P. J. Bolger. This school had been in poor condition but under the careful teaching of the present teacher is making splendid progress. The pupils acquitted themselves most creditably, and by their accurate answers, gave evidence of very careful training. At the close of the examination, Mr. Dan McLeod complimented the teacher on the excellent progress that had been made. The standing of the school is as follows: Grade IV.—Murdoch McRae, 1st; C. May Gillis, 2nd. Grade III.—Edith McRae, 1st; John R. McRae, 2nd. Grade II.—Grace Murchison and Euphemia McRae, equal. Grade I.—Catherine McRae, singular; McLeod, equal. 2nd Primer.—Hector McLeod, 1st; Bessie McRae, 2nd.

CONCERT.—The Xmas tree and entertainment, which was given particularly by the children of the Bethel School took place on Monday night, Dec. 22nd. It was largely attended and much enjoyed by all. Mrs. Matthew Wood presided at the organ and Mr. Ernest Lord in the chair. The program was the following:—Chorus, Merry Xmas, School. Recitation, Four Years, Earl Rankin. Organ Selection, Lisle Wood. Dialogue, The Sick Doll, Ruth Wood, Beta Wood, Willie Smallwood. Recitation, A Little Midget, Marion Jenkins. Drill, Santa-Coming, Eight Little Girls. Violin Selection, Harry Wood. Dialogue, Fanny's Secret, Mary Wood, Emma Lund, Leslie Wood. Recitation, A Xmas Wish, Lucy Smallwood. Solo, Santa Claus, Ho Ho, Lisle Wood. Dialogue, Cousin Belle's Visit, May Horton. Xmas Trio, Emma Lund, Lucy Smallwood. Trio, Hang the Stockings, Light the tree, Mary Wood, Aeta Wood, Lisle Wood. Recitation, A suggestion for Santa Claus, Emma Lund, Violin Selection, Fred Horton. Allegory, The Old Year out and the New Year in, Twelve Children. Solo, Xmas Chimes, Lottie Jenkins. Dialogue, A Heavy Shower, Lottie Smallwood, Gladys Townshend, Laura Smallwood, Fred Horton, Frank Lund. Recitation, Good Bye, Ruth Wood. Santa then arrived and distributed the gifts from a handsomely decorated and well loaded tree. The National Anthem brought the program to a close. The pupils gift to their teacher, Miss Gladys Townshend was a beautiful music case.

FOX-NEWS.—The Upton Black Fox Co. have recently sold options for four pairs of 1914 pups at prices sufficient to pay a dividend of fifty per cent on the total capital of the Company.

PRESENTATION.—In the lyric Theatre, St. John, on the 27th, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Spencer, who are well known in this city, Mr. Spencer having been proprietor of the moving picture show known as Happyland at the Opera House here for some time, were presented with a handsome silver tea urn and mounted address by the theatre staff. The presentation was made by the pianist and the manager of the house read the address.

EXAMINATION.—The semi-annual examination of Tarrantum school was held on Monday the 22nd. Many parents and rate-payers were present and enjoyed hearing the prompt and ready answers of the pupils. In the opinion of all present the examination was most successful and reflects credit on the teacher, Mrs. McDonald who seem to possess a very rare gift of awakening and bringing out the latent talent of the little ones under her care. Several of the classes were examined by Rev. Father Aler McDonald, Miss Mary Robertson and the teacher. At the close complimentary speeches were given by Father McDonald, James O'Connell and John Garland after which to the delight of the little ones, candy was distributed. All dispersed feeling very happy and full of the Christmas spirit.

WEBSTER'S CORNER.—The semi-annual examination of Webster's Corner School took place Monday, Dec. 22nd inst., and was largely attended by trustees, ratepayers, and other visitors. The pupils were examined in the different subjects by the following teachers, Miss Roberts, Miss Callaghan and Mr. Hugh Trainor, also Mr. Patrick McGuirk, trustee, and showed by their prompt and correct answers that they had received careful and thorough training. A literary program rendered by the children, was greatly enjoyed by all present, and at its close, Santa Claus appeared in his usual happy manner, and distributed the gifts, confectionery, fruit, etc., from a tree which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Remarks were made by the trustees and others complimenting the teacher and pupils on the good work which had been done. Mr. James Beard, on behalf of the other pupils, presented the teacher, Miss Ida M. Cumiskey, with a beautiful photograph. The teacher thanked them for the gift, and wished them all a Merry Christmas and much success in the New Year. The examination was terminated by the singing of the National Anthem.
