Canadians Prefer Bargain To Gift

London Express Sees Bennett Victory As Triumph Of Realism.

LONDON, July 31.—"Canada has feared that in Imperial matters, sentiment and economics shall be partners—but equal partners," says the Daily Express today, commenting on the victory of Hon. R. B. Bennett and the Conservative party at the polls in yesterday's general election in Canada.

The Daily Express emphasizes the importance of the Canadian election to Great Britain. Comparing the attitude of the two party leaders, it adds: "Mackenzie King said to the Canadians, 'Let us make a gesture to encourage the Mother Country,' while Mr. Bennett said, 'Let us make a bargain.'"

Analyzing the causes leading to the defeat of the King Government the Daily Express continues: "As the election campaign progressed King had to meet certain hostile factors, namely: "1. He was going to the country at a time of depression. "2. His Government was asking for a third term—and all governments are born to fall. "3. The Canadian farmers have been unable to sell Britain their wheat. "4. The Canadian understands a bargain better than a gesture. "5. The British Government had

Perfect Type

HON. MARIE LYON-DALBERG-ACTON

Eldest sister of Lord Acton, has been called a perfect example of the British type of beauty, although she comes from one of the most Teutonic of English families, her father having been born in Bavaria. Through the Dalberg strain the Actons trace their lineage to the most ancient and illustrious family in Germany, which claims descent from one of the Saviors' relatives who was reputed to have become a Roman centurion and to have settled at Hermetia.

Held For Million Dollar Ransom

(Special to the Guardian)

PEIPING, China, July 31.—Eighteen towns and villages near Loyang, Western Honan Province, were in the hands of Chinese Communists and bandits today, advice received here said. The invaders killed hundreds of natives and wounded thousands of others, seizing the wealthier citizens to hold for ransom. It was believed all foreigners had escaped before the Communists arrived. The Communists who seized and burned Changsha, Capital of Hunan Province, yesterday have issued demands for $1,000,000 ransom for Allen Cameron and William Lingle, United States citizens. It was learned today the fate of the two men was not known here.

KING AND BENNETT HAVE CONFERENCE

In Statement Premier King Said He Had Agreed To Carry On Until The Premier-elect Was Ready To Take Over.

OTTAWA, July 31.—Following an hour's conference this afternoon in the east block between Premier King and Hon. Richard B. Bennett, both announced that it would be about two weeks before there can take place the formal transfer of power. It was stated by Mr. King that the conference took the form of an informal talk marked by the best of feeling, and that in the course of it he had reassured Mr. Bennett that he would do everything necessary to facilitate the latter's work of getting his government into operation.

It was announced by Premier King that there would be a meeting of his Ministers on Friday of this week, and probably another early next week as which only routine matters would be disposed of. Hon. Hugh Guthrie who acted as Leader of the Opposition from the 1926 election to the Winnipeg Convention in the fall of 1927 was the first of Mr. Bennett's colleagues to reach the Capital and he had a lengthy talk with Mr. Bennett. Mr. Guthrie has the choice of a Portfolio and it is understood that he will take that of Justice.

Man Of Mystery Only Vocabulary Of Two Words

ASHLAND, Wis., July 31.—A man of mystery whose vocabulary consists solely of two words, "Cigarettes" and "Joe" which is thought to be his name, is costing hospital and country authorities considerable for his maintenance. He was found last year in a snowbank with a broken leg. The fracture has healed long since, but his mind remains a blank, and as well as the cost of maintaining the man, the authorities found it necessary to hire an extra stenographer to answer queries as to the man's identity. He is believed to be a coal miner from some part of Pennsylvania.

Censured By British House

LONDON, July 31.—The House of Commons today by 304 votes to 13 passed a motion of censure upon Eljah Sandham, Laborite, who had charged in an address that Labor members drank and accepted bribes. The resolution proposed by Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, provided that Mr. Sandham be admonished by Mr. Speaker for the breach of privilege he has committed. Sandham's charges were investigated by the Committee of Privileges, which report that he deserves the censure of the Commons. After the vote the Speaker in accordance with ancient ceremony put on his three cornered hat over his full bottomed wig—a wig reaching to the waist, and addressed Sandham in grave tones, declaring that he had gone out of his way publicly to degrade the honor of the House of Commons. It only remains that in accordance with the decision this House should admonish you, which we accordingly do, he concluded.

Sturdy At 99 Marks Ballot Conservative

Among the enthusiastic Conservative voters who went happy to bed Monday night none got a bigger kick out of the election results than Mr. Murdoch H. McKenzie, of Rose Valley, age 99, who marched into Stanchel poll and marked his own ballot for Messrs. McLure and Myers with all the energy of a young fellow registering his first vote. Mr. McKenzie, hale and hearty at his advanced age, took a keen interest in the election results and declares that the Conservative victory makes him feel twenty years younger.

Another elector, Mrs. John McKinnon, age 88, voted the straight Conservative ticket in the same poll, marking her own ballot.

Redoubtable

COUNT VON WESTARP

Most redoubtable of Prussian Junkers and for many years Reichstag leader of the Nationalists, plans forming a new Conservative and monarchist party in protest against the affront given President Von Hindenburg when Dr. Eugenberg, newspaper magnate and would-be political dictator, overthrew the Brüning cabinet and flouted the old marshal's wishes.

NEW CABINET ANNOUNCEMENT BY NEXT WEEK?

Premier Baxter, New Brunswick Mentioned As Likely Representative.

OTTAWA, July 31.—A new Cabinet is in the making. And to the task of selecting the ministers to serve under him Premier-elect Hon. R. B. Bennett is devoting his attention. The slate will probably be ready for announcement about the middle of next week, and may contain a surprise when the announcement comes. Every Province of the Dominion will have representation in the new Conservative administration.

In the capital and throughout the Dominion, public interest is focussed on the probable personnel of the incoming Cabinet. But the Conservative chieftain is maintaining a strict silence until the selections have been completed and he is prepared to take over the reins of government. In the meantime those close to political developments are speculating on the likely composition of the Privy Councilors to be chosen.

Speculation on Maritime Ministers

Hon. John A. MacDonald (Kings) is the probable selection for Prince Edward Island, while the name of J. H. Myers, who was successful with his running mate in the dual constituency of Queens, is mentioned. Premier E. N. Rhodes of Nova Scotia, former speaker of the House of Commons, and W. G. Ernst (Queens-Lunenburg) are possibilities for Nova Scotia. If Premier Rhodes does not enter the cabinet immediately, he probably will within a not distant date. For New Brunswick, the names of Premier J. B. M. Baxter and R. B. Hanson (York-Sunbury) are associated with the representation to be given that province.

Good Material From Quebec

Quebec has quite a list of possible cabinet timber. Canada's war-time high commissioner in London—Sir George Perley—will likely be in the cabinet. Maurice Dupre, who redeemed Quebec west for the Conservative cause, Arthur Sauve, former Conservative leader in the Quebec Legislature who was elected in (Laval-Two Mountains), C. H. Cahon (St. Lawrence-St. George), and Arthur Dur-

Recommend Increase Of Prem's Salary

LONDON, July 31.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald is likely to get a "raise" soon. A report of a select committee on Ministers' remuneration which was published today said the Premier's annual salary of 5,000 pounds (about $25,000) was inadequate in view of the fact that No. 10 Downing Street is costly to maintain and the amount of entertaining the Premier has to do is so great, the report recommends that the Premier's salary be raised to 7,000 pounds, or about $35,000. The report also said other Ministers' salaries in some cases are inadequate but expressed the fear that the present time is not the moment for readjustment.

HUGE BRITISH AIRSHIP R-100 ENCOUNTERS GALE OVER THE ST. LAWRENCE

Fabric Torn And Fin Damaged, Giant Dirigible Was Noticed By "Movie" Plane Pilot As Barely Holding Her Own Against A Strong Head Wind—Not Expected To Moor Until Storm Abates.

(Canadian Press)

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Que., July 31.—Just what time the British dirigible R-100 will arrive at this airport is problematical, according to an official statement issued by field officials at 11:10 daylight saving time tonight. The statement says: "Local thunder storms have started. A storm is coming down the Ottawa Valley. There is bumpy weather in the vicinity of Three Rivers and local disturbances in the vicinity of Montreal. "The ship was reported 90 miles from Montreal at 9 p. m., D. S. T. Under all the conditions it is expected the ship will steer south until weather conditions improve. Time of arrival uncertain.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Que., July 31.—(By Jack Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer)—Approximately three million words will be filed from this airport on the arrival of the British dirigible R-100, now enroute from Cardington, England, according to telegraph officials here. At present the big airship is expected to dock at Canada's only dirigible mooring mast late tonight or early tomorrow.

Prominent among the reception committee, regardless of what time the vessel arrives will be the newspaper and "moviemen." One of the hangars at the field has been turned into a press office and all through the day it has been a scene of wild excitement and activity. A message to the Canadian Press from Three Rivers said that the R-100 was sighted over the village of Donnacona at 8:25 p. m. E.D.S.T. Donnacona is fifty-four miles from Three Rivers. The dirigible seemed to be leaving the St. Lawrence River to head west across the country to the airport. A seaman on the water-front estimated her speed at 10 knots.

(By Wallace H. Ward, Can. Press Staff Writer)

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Que., July 31.—A sudden squall whipped the dust at St. Hubert Airport and sent mechanics running to tie down planes on the line. A terrific line squall lies directly in the path of the dirigible between the airport and Three Rivers. The wind is high and gusty. It is believed that the dirigible would slow up to try and escape the line squall which is a local storm with a definite path.

A report was current among landing officers that the ship would not attempt to land tonight under existing weather conditions. The R-100 left Cardington, England at 9:45 Monday night bringing its flying time to 72 hours at 9:45 tonight.

The ship's officers made no predictions before leaving of the time they expected to take in their crossing, but many optimists predicted that the new ship, which is the largest ever built and capable of approximately 100 miles an hour under perfect conditions, would make the passage in 60 hours or even less.

NOTICED RIP IN ENVELOPE

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Que., July 31.—A large square flap of loose fabric was noticed in the top of the envelope of the R-100 as she neared Quebec. Capt. Henry St. Martin of Montreal, pilot of a "movie" plane, flew within two miles of the airship and noticed that she was barely holding her head into the wind. "There seemed to be a tear in the top of the bag," Capt. St. Martin said on his arrival at the field here at 6:30 p. m. Standard Time tonight. Capt. Martin left the dirigible about thirty five miles below Quebec about 5:15 p. m. "She hardly seemed to be moving," Capt. St. Martin said. Unwilling to risk his pilot's license by approaching closer than two miles of the R-100, Capt. St. Martin was unable to observe if there were any of the crew trying to effect the temporary repairs mentioned in communications received from the vessel. Capt. St. Martin upon leaving the British dirigible flew directly to Montreal.

SAME MISHAP AS GRAF

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Que., July 31.—Falling fabric, the same mishap which imperilled the German Graf Zeppelin on its first flight, delayed the arrival of the British R-100 as it reached the destination of its flight from England. But just as the crew of the Graf rose to the emergency and, despite a lashing storm, repaired the German dirigible's tattered fin in the air, so England's sailors of the sky turned to today and got their ship soon underway again.

Nine Outstanding Dirigible Flights In Twenty Years

Nine outstanding flights adorn the records of lighter-than-air flying. All of them have been made within the last 20 years, and four were made by one ship, the German Graf Zeppelin. The list of notable flights follows: America—Piloted by Walter Wellman, attempted a trans-Atlantic flight from Atlantic City, N. J., in October, 1910. Wrecked off Cape Hatteras, crew rescued. L-57—German dirigible flew from Jambol, Bulgaria, to Daka Oasis, East Africa and back in 1917. Voyage of 4,200 miles took 96 hours. R-34—British dirigible, flew from Scotland to Mineola, L. I., and back in July, 1919. Distance of 6,200 miles covered in flying time of 187 hours. ZR-3 (Los Angeles)—German-

FIN BROKEN

Just how serious was the damage to the R-100 could not be told prior to its arrival, expected about 11 o'clock E.S.T. tonight, for messages regarding the trouble were terse as the language of sailors, whether they be of the sea or sky traditionally is. "Report fabric trouble on fin" the first message read, "necessitating reducing speed. Will probably prevent landing tonight." Then, just as anxiety was beginning to spread, there came another message, "have completed temporary repairs to fin, it is reported. "Making good 20 knots, at 4:50 E.S.T., position 18 miles north-east Quebec City. Stand by to land me as soon as I arrive."

Between the sending of those two messages there was an interval of two hours. What happened in that time. What heroic deeds may have been performed, were not told in the brief message from the British ship. LATER MONTREAL, Que., July 31.—At 11:30 p. m. E.D.S.T., the R-100 was sighted over Cap De La Madeleine, one mile from Three Rivers, according to a report wired to Montreal by the Canadian Pacific Telegraph operator.

Ross Hamilton Is Not Dead As Reported

(Canadian Press) HALIFAX, N. S., July 31.—Ross Hamilton, well known member of the old Dumbells theatrical company sailed from New York this morning for Yarmouth on the steamer Evangeline, according to a message received here by a friend of Hamilton's from R. U. Parker, General Passenger Agent of the Eastern Steamships Company, New York. Hamilton was reported to have died in Kalamazoo, Michigan. Continued on Page 3
