

BEERY AT HIS BEST IN NEW HIT—TODAY—SAT.

WALLACE Beery
OLD HUTCH
OUR GANG—PETE SMITH—CARTOON

Wallace Beery plays one of his most human roles in the new story, "Old Hutch" which opened last night at the Prince Edward Theatre.

Beery in the title role, is at his best. Obviously "Old Hutch" is unable to cash any of the bills.

Meanwhile, the bandits who originally hid the money, rediscover it in the cache where Old Hutch left it.

They virtually kidnap him and in the escape, he manages to wreck their car. The bandits are caught, of course, and the lovable old character receives the reward, which is enough for his needs, even for luxuries.

Eric Linden and Cecilia Parker, who played with Beery in "Ah Wilderness", are teamed again in the romantic leads. The supporting cast includes Robert McWade, Caroline Perkins, Elizabeth Patterson, Julie Perkins, Delmar Watson, Harry Watson, James Burke, Donald Meek and Jean Chabrun.

Cassidy Stops Indian War in Thrilling Film Big Western Hit At Capitol

Everybody who delights in the swiftly moving and colorful panorama of the American outdoor West will enjoy "Hills of Old Wyoming," the latest "Hopalong Cassidy" film which opened at the Capitol Theatre last night with William Boyd in the star role.

Wyoming and a crooked government agent who tries to use his wits as a cloak for his cattle rustling activities.

The historic customs of the Indian tribes and their ceremonial and spectacular fighting tactics provide a colorful background for the picture. The savages' respect for courage which enables the fearless "Hoppy" to convert them from enemies into followers and to lead them with the ranchers in a combined attack against the rustlers, is also convincingly depicted.

William Boyd, who created the stirring screen character of "Hopalong Cassidy," is supported by George Hayes, Russell Hayden, Stephen Morris and Clara Kimball Young.

Cundall Home

Scene Of Pretty June Wedding

The drawing room of the Cundall Home, Prince Edward Island Hospital nurses' residence, was the scene yesterday morning of the wedding of Miss Florence Platts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Platts, Charlottetown, to Dr. J. Wendell MacKenzie, also of Charlottetown.

Rev. S. C. Cooper, pastor of the Central Christian Church, assisted by Rev. Hugh Miller, pastor of Trinity United Church, officiated. The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked very charming in a gown of white lace. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Mrs. G. E. Full played the wedding march. The couple was unattended. The drawing room was beautifully decorated with flowers. Following the ceremony, which was performed in the presence of immediate members of the families, a wedding breakfast was served at the Canadian National Hotel.

Dr. and Mrs. MacKenzie left on a wedding trip to the Adirondack Mountains. Before returning to Charlottetown, where they will reside, they will visit several upper Canadian cities. The bride's travelling gown was of thistle crepe with accessories to match.

The bride is a graduate of the Prince Edward Island School of Nursing and has been assistant superintendent of nurses at the hospital.

Dr. MacKenzie, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. T. MacKenzie, is a well known Charlottetown physician and a member of the Prince Edward Island Hospital medical staff.

"decorating" were credited today with saving thousands of birds. "Most serious of all bird diseases we have yet encountered," said V. T. Wilson, superintendent, "is duck sickness, or botulism, a food poisoning which affects the muscles. Members of our staff gathered more than 5,000 sick ducks within the refuge this spring. At the hospital we gave these birds a laxative, castor oil or salts and followed with fresh water and rest in the shade later with food. We saved from 65 to 77 per cent." A permanent staff of eight men administers the refuge. Two work exclusively on bird diseases and parasites. A third studies bird food habits.

In Memoriam

MRS. ANGUS MacPHERSON

Early Saturday morning, June 5th, Mrs. Angus MacPherson passed away at her home in Kilmuir. She had not been well for many months and since the first of February had been mostly confined to her bed. During the latter part of May a cold developed into pneumonia and in her random condition all realized that there was slight hope of recovery. Gradually weakening she passed quietly away early in the morning of the ninth day.

The funeral service was held on Tuesday, June 8th, at 2 p.m. in the Kilmuir Hall. Mr. John M. L. Young, student minister at Calcedonia, presiding. The text was I Thess. 4:13, 14. "But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope. For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with Him." The hall was crowded to capacity and showed with what high esteem she was held in the entire community.

Those present of her immediate family were her husband, Mr. Angus MacPherson; her daughter Agnes, who resides at home; and Catherine, Mrs. Hanson, home from Plymouth Mass. Besides these she leaves to mourn a daughter, Mrs. Leo R. Penson, in Roxbury, Mass., and a sister, Mrs. Sarah MacRae, of Bedouque, P.E.I.

Following the funeral service the interment took place at the Valleyfield cemetery. (Patriot please copy)

AS GRANDMOTHER MIGHT HAVE DONE VANCOUVER, June 16—(CP)—Grace Luckhart writes in the Province: I wish grandm. could have been alive to enjoy this Coronation. I wish she could have lived to hear a record of the service, or to have heard King George giving a message to his people.

No monarch ever had the loyalty from her subjects that Queen Victoria had. Few, if any, of the settlers in Bruce and Grey Counties in Ontario had seen her. But every home had her photograph, together with those of lesser royalties. I remember being just as sad about the Queen's long widowhood as though she had been somebody on the next farm. The Prince Consort was no legendary figure to me—someone whose obituary was kept in the Green Book along with that of my grandfather.

I was almost grown before I heard anything remotely suggesting lese majeste. I was talking to another girl about the late dear Queen, and she said: "Victoria wasn't half the Queen that Elizabeth was. She was just a domesticated little woman who ought to have been running her own dairy." I was so amazed that I didn't even answer her. I watched to see if she would be struck down, but she wasn't.

And I like to think of what Little Grandm. would have done with Mrs. Simpson.
