Nations Relay Olympic Torch Flamed By Sun

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Feb. 16—Peter, boy King of Yugoslavia, shepherd lads and some 3,000 runners of seven nations will carry the Olympic flame over a distance that would nearly span the American continent, in next summer's torch relay from the ancient Olympia to Berlin.

The relay will take exactly 12 days and four hours from July 20 until Aug. 1 and will be run through Greece, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Germany. Total length of the course is roughly 3,100 kilometres, or 1,925 miles.

Hans von Teichammer-Oestlin, Nazi sports leader, decided an ordinary match would not do to ignite the Olympic flame which symbolizes the "re-awakened Hellenic spirit." Phoebus Apollo himself will be left to the song to fire the torch.

Before an altar at the sacred grove of Olympia where Greeks once worshipped at the temple of Zeus, sun rays will be concentrated through a burning glass as the source for the Olympic flame in Berlin. The first torch will be carried by the burgomaster of Athens, who passes the fire on to the next in the chain of 3,000 torchbearers.

The flame carriers will pause at unknown soldiers' tombs in Athens, Sofia, Belgrade, Budapest, Vienna and Praha, capitals of six nations. Halts will also be made at such other important towns along the route as Corinth and Delphi.

After the cross-country run through Greece, the Bulgarians will carry the flames on by night through the dangerous Kresna Pass at an altitude of several thousand feet. At the border, members of the Yugoslav sokol federation will continue the relay through their country.

A special memorial service en route is planned at the tomb of assassinated King Alexander of Yugoslavia at Opacna. Here young King Peter will join his countrymen in the relay after lighting a candle at his father's grave.

The most difficult barrier on the course seems to be the thinly-populated Hungarian plains. Some hundred athletes must be concentrated there to insure uninterrupted progress.

Upper Queen St. House League Finals Tonight

Finals of Upper Queen Street House League get under way this evening at 7 o'clock. The teams battling for House League supremacy are Giants and Benedicts.

Giants, who finished first in the league standing, are a formidable band of pucksters, and are looked upon by Benedicts as a tough barrier to hurdle.

Benedicts, having won several sparkling triumphs of late, have become favorites to garner the laurels.

In any case, close followers of these two contenders predict a series productive of everything necessary to make up a real close and colorful brand of hockey.

The series will be best two of three games.

VENZKE WINNER

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

MANCHOUKUO DEBATE ON U.S. PROTESTS TO TREATY EARLY MONGOLIA THIS WEEK

This report was denied, however, in Soviet dispatches from Ulan Bator, outer Mongolia. Official Mongolian quarters were quoted as saying there had been no further border trouble since a clash on Feb. 12, which, Soviet accounts said, resulted from invasion of Mongolian territory by Japanese-Manchoukuan troops.

(The Tass official Soviet—News Agency called the Tokyo report a "pure invention.")

See Peaceful Settlement

Russian Government officials expressed belief that a peaceful settlement would be reached in the frontier dispute between Mongolia and Manchoukuo, but the official Communist party organ, Pravda, warned:

"Any imperialists attempting aggression will find it fatal to tamper with the Soviet frontiers."

The government spokesman said establishment of a mixed commission to investigate border incidents must await word from Tokyo as to whether Moscow's suggestion that neutrals be included is acceptable.

The Tokyo and Moscow governments have agreed in principle to the formation of such a commission to inquire into the year-long series of clashes.

sed regret that the government had not advanced any policy to end poverty and insecurity among the masses, was voted down 208-8, all parties uniting against the C. C. F. group with the exception of Miss Agnes Macphail, (U.F.C. Grey-Bruce).

F. G. Sanderson (Lib. Perths), was appointed chairman of committees of the whole House and deputy speaker. The House sat in supply committee Friday afternoon, passing a large section of the public works estimates.

A lively debate on the Canada-United States trade agreement resolution is expected in view of the outspoken condemnation voiced by Mr. Bennett when he referred to the agreement in the course of his speech on the subject.

The agreement, Mr. Bennett said, was "highly detrimental to the highest interests of this Dominion. Not only will it be found to be disastrous in its operations, but it sows seeds of discord instead of promoting harmony in this Dominion."

In absence of any government legislation likely to be ready for consideration in the near future, the Senate stands adjourned until March 3.

Norway Leading Miniature Rifle Shoot

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 16—Behind the brilliance of her skiers and speed skaters, Norway romped away with the mythical team-title of the fourth winter Olympics which ended today.

While no team championship is officially recognized, a "title" is awarded each Olympics to the nation gathering the most points on the basis of 10 points for the winner of an event, five for a second, four for third and so on down to sixth place. On this basis, Norway collected 146 points while the big German contingent amassed 117.

Canada was credited with nine, the hockey team getting five and figure skaters the remainder.

The final standing:

Norway 146, Germany 117, Sweden 49, Finland 41, United States 35 1-2, Switzerland 30, Austria 29 1-2, Great Britain 16, France 11, Canada nine, Czechoslovakia seven, Hungary seven, Belgium five, Japan three, Italy three, Poland two.

Italians Entrenching For Month of Ethiopian Rains

With the rains starting once again in Ethiopia, Italian troops are entrenching themselves as best possible to await another dry spell, not expected until March. From then until June, they will have to conquer the rest of the country if they wish to finish the job this year. Heavy rains start in June and last until October, making already difficult roads impassable to a mechanized army. Map indicates the little bit of territory that has fallen into the hands of Mussolini's troops. Light line shows mountainous areas. It is felt that even if Italy should capture or destroy Addis Ababa, they will not have conquered the country, since the capital city is one in name only, and of little strategic or economic importance.

BRITISH STUDY GIRL PRINCESS WHO MAY REIGN

Princess Elizabeth, yellow-haired, blue-eyed, with "small ears" and "the whitest skin in the world," plays in the park in the afternoon but, except for her little sister and several cousins, has few child companions.

Even her birthday parties are attended by grown-ups, seldom by boys and girls her own age. King George used to preside. She blew out the candles but the King cut the cake.

Elizabeth has a pony, a bicycle, ice skates, a string of coral beads, a jewel box, a globe, a doll house, a gramophone, and a dog named "Yorky." She has opened a savings account at the London post office and a charge account at a Knightsbridge shop but instructions at the latter are she must limit her purchases to one shilling.

The little girl's first biography was published when she was four years old, a plaque of her has been exhibited at the Royal Academy, and at eight she began her public engagements. She is the author of several letters to King George, whom she called "Uncle England," to the present King and to other members of the royal family in which she discussed such subjects as the weather, ponies and burkas.

She is said to be able to perform an Irish jig and the Scottish hornpipe. She likes to watch the guardsmen on parade and once when a sergeant asked if he had her permission to dismiss the guard, she replied, "Yes, please. Then she turned to her mother,
