K. Of C. Opens Campaign For Catholic Action

The Mobilization for Catholic Action Campaign was inaugurated at a special meeting of the Summerside Council of the Knights of Columbus, held on Saturday evening when there was a large attendance.

The Grand Knight fired the opening gun in the campaign when he read the admonitions from Supreme Knight Carmody and the plan for the campaign. Mr. Larkin was Chairman, Mr. Larkin was leader of K. of C. financial campaigns, during the World War, that raised more than Eight Million Dollars for the comfort of our soldiers overseas.

The campaign will be international in scope and will be participated in by over 2,500 Councils and about a hundred thousand Knights of Columbus in Canada and the United States. It will be for two weeks only commencing on March 17th.

The outlines of the Supreme Knight Carmody is as follows: "On May twenty-seventh last His Eminence Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, speaking authoritatively for the Supreme Pontiff, Pope Pius XI, said: "To the Knights of Columbus, the standard-bearers of Catholic Action, collaborating in the hierarchical apostolate for the defense and triumph of the Faith, is due all praise and gratitude. And of what praiser and nobler eulogy could the Knights of Columbus proud than the title of rivals of the first apostolic cooperators, an dot the modern advance-guard in the ranks of Catholic Action? To this glorious work they have been called and enrolled, by the voice of the reigning Pontiff, Pope Pius XI, to the side of the ministers of the Faith, the pastors of the Roman Church.

"Our Order is a power-house of Catholic energy. Its power is man power. In every corner of North America, Catholicism is strengthened daily through our efforts. Beneficence and charity are the two Coukols a deep well from which the ydraw unceasingly. Each day America becomes a better place in which to live because of Columbianism and this recognition of our efforts, expressed for the Supreme Pontiff, must be accorded to our true Knights as an obligation and command to pursue our work ever more vigorously.

"Time after time Knighthood has thrown its tremendous strength behind the leaders of the Church and the Nations in their efforts to bring about national and international progress. Such problems were never more numerous nor more grave.

For these reasons, and after careful consideration, your Supreme Directors have determined to rapidly assist local Councils in waging an intensive, carefully prepared and thoroughly organized campaign in order that our man power may be augmented.

"This campaign will have two prime objectives: 1.—The strengthening of our activities, both local and international, through the enlistment of additional man power in each and every Council. 2.—The arousing of our entire membership to the need for Catholic Action, a recognition of Our Knights to the worthwhile causes for which we, both as local Councils and an international Order, are striving.

The organization work in the local campaign is going forward rapidly under the leadership of Campaign Chairman, Dr. J. A. MacPhee and Mr. W. Henry Noonan, Chairman of the Prospect Listing Committee. Mr. J. P. MacInnis is Publicity Director. Local Committees of Knights will be formed in every parish in Prince County and it is hoped to have an effective army of workers ready for action by March 17th.

The campaign is the greatest of the many successful campaigns ever attempted by the Knights of Columbus.

ever sick during his long lifetime. Mr. Turner was borne in Mahone, Nova Scotia, and came to the Island sixty years ago. In 1883 he married Hannah Youker of Milton who predeceased him 21 years ago. For some time he conducted a general store and post office at Long Creek. During this period he owned some large sailing craft and carried on general trading between Maritime ports, Newfoundland and Labrador. After the death of his wife the general business and trading activities were discontinued, and for some years he resided with his son in the operation of his farm.

Mr. Turner was a life long member of the Church of England. His remains were laid to rest alongside of his wife in the English Church Cemetery at Long Creek. Funeral services were conducted by his pastor Rev. E. G. Bridgewater, Cra-paud, assisted by Rev. Dr. J. W. S. Laurie. The pall bearers were Frederick Storch, Norman McLean and John McLean, Neil McEachern, Donald McEachern and Thomas Henderson. He leaves to mourn one son Ernest and four grandchildren, Langille, John, Hannah and Reagh Turner, who will all greatly miss one to whom they were intensely attached.

Mr. Turner was a man who was warm hearted, genial and honorable. During his long, useful life he made many friends who will regret the passing of this stalwart, splendid citizen.

U. S. GOLD

the government's own bonds were concerned, but that Federal bondholders had suffered no damage, and had no right at present to other than a dollar for dollar redemption; That a gold certificate is worth only its face value in the present devalued currency.

Suspense Relieved

Abruptly, the announcement broke the taut atmosphere of anxiety and suspense in which it was delivered. Secretaries Cordell Hull and Henry Morgenthau, Attorney General Homer Cummings and Senator Joseph Robinson, the Democratic leader, were gathered in the President's office. There was rejoicing as plans for meeting an adverse decision were torn up.

"The President is gratified," said one of his secretaries.

"I am very much pleased," declared Morgenthau, but they considered their victory, in fact, that they quickly announced the decision necessitated no new legislation, and no administrative action.

The markets, paralyzed by uncertainty for weeks, leaped into activity. The market for the surge profit taking reduced them but a little and left the predominant sentiment still bullish.

In the grain pits of Chicago, buying became so feverish that officials of the Board of Trade ordered for how long. Brokers clustered about the tickers eagerly reading the pronouncement of the court.

Comment on Ruling

The words of Supreme Court dissenters were stern.

"The constitution is gone," declared Associate Justice James Clark McReynolds for the dissent, and added later: "This is Nero at his worst."

The majority Chief Justice Charles Hughes, once a Republican candidate for the Presidency, read the verdict sustaining the law. Associate Justices Owen Roberts and Benjamin Cardozo concurred.

Mr. McReynolds, Attorney General under Woodrow Wilson in the last previous Democratic administration, who delivered a barbed and emphatic dissent. He was joined by Associate Justices Willis Van Devanter, George Sutherland, and Pierce Butler.

Effect On Canada

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—No one would venture a definite estimate of just how much the United States Supreme Court decision to deny interest to Canada. Statisticians have fixed United States investments in Canada at around $4,000,000. Much of this is in common stocks, and other securities not containing provisions for payment in gold.

Experts here have expressed the opinion that half of this investment or $2,000,000,000 is in gold bonds. Today's decision held that this was payable in present U. S. dollars. Had the decision been reversed it would have meant payment on the basis of $1.69 for dollar or $3,380,000,000, a jump of $1,380,000,000.

The Dominion has $240,000,000 of its own gold bonds in the United States. At $1.69 these would have been increased to $405,900,000.

Memorial Service

The February meeting of the Lower Montague W. M. S. was held at the home of Mrs. James Hewitt on Thursday evening, the 7th inst., twelve members and several visitors being present. The Secretary, Miss M. J. Taylor, presided. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess during the evening.

At the close of the regular meeting a very impressive Memorial Service for the late Mrs. Mattida J. Parker of Lower Montague was held at this service, with Miss Agnes Anne at the organ.

Mrs. Parker, it will be remembered, passed away very suddenly at her home on Jan. 24th, leaving a gap in the W. M. S. which will be hard to fill.

The address by the President, Mrs. Leth Cowan, of which a full text appears below, deserves special mention. This address was very appropriate and reflects great credit on Mrs. Cowan's ability in composition.

At the close of the service Mrs. G. A. Poole, sister-in-law of the late Mrs. Parker, very feelingly expressed her appreciation of this thoughtful act on the part of the Society.

Following is the program: Quiet Music, "O Master let me walk with Thee." Hymn, "Still, still with Thee." Scripture reading by the Secretary from Psalm 106. Address by the President. Prayer by the President. Hymn, "O love that will not let me go." Prayer and Benediction by the Secretary.

Christian friends, Our thoughts are specially drawn this evening to our late sister, Mrs. Parker, who has been taken so suddenly from our midst.

Just five weeks ago tonight she was hostess to our Auxiliary and those of us who were privileged to be present will long remember the pleasant evening spent with her. Interested, as always, in our Society, she at that time renewed her membership with us for another year.

Little did we think on that evening that in three weeks she would be called Home. Our hearts are sore indeed when we realize that she will not meet with us again here on earth, but how thankful we are to have had that last opportunity to gather at her home, to partake of her lovely hospitality and to discuss with her the work of our Church at home and abroad.

We will miss her so much, but her hurts were not our ways, by her loved ones, to whom our hearts go out in sincere sympathy.

How can we carry on without her, and who will take her place? These are questions we are all asking; we wonder why she was taken from us just now, but we must remember that God's ways are not our ways, and that God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform. When we, as a Women's Missionary Society, were asked to face the new year with the same executive, I wondered where the courage and faith would come from to carry on, and I think some of you thought the same as I did. Then we had Mrs. Parker, now she is gone from us, she who was our strongest supporter financially, she who so willingly gave of her hospitality, who always welcomed us to her home with a smile, who always had the interests of the Church at heart, and who was ever ready to discuss sympathetically the affairs of our Church and Society. The way seems very dark without her, but still we must carry on. No wonder we say "Why, O God, did you take her? Did you need her more than we do?" Listen! Do we hear God say to us—"Not by might nor by power, but by my spirit." Let us remember again that God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform.

Has He taken a loved one from us, one whom we felt was needed here so much, because we are not carrying on His work as we should? Have we in our struggle to keep up the financial side of our religion, lost sight of the Spiritual? And then again, have we as Christians lived as we should, or have we been stumbling blocks to others? Have we depended too much on our own strength in the doing of His work in this place, thinking we were all sufficient, and forgetting to whom we must go for spiritual help? Soul searching questions these, and questions which, if taken seriously, will supply abundant food for deep thought.

She was called from us so suddenly. Is it a warning—"Be ye also ready"—a warning—warning us that a great many of our workers cannot always be active among us, and when the work is laid down by death, who will carry it on? Is her death a challenge to the younger men and women of our community? The work must go on, we all realize this. The Lord hath need of us all for the work of His Kingdom, some to do one thing and some another. The challenge then comes to us to be prepared to take up the work which others must drop and carry on.

In order to acknowledge the many valued services rendered to our Church and community by Mrs. Parker, one of which deserves special mention at this time, namely, the presentation of a number of the new Church Hymnaries to our late husband, it was arranged at a previous meeting of our Society to spend a social evening at her home and to present her with an address of appreciation, but owing to unavoidable circumstances, and the serious illness of her brother in the P. E. Island Hospital, we regret to say this plan was not carried out. I can only refer to her work among

18 CONVICTS STILL AT LARGE

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

GRANTVILLE, Okla., Feb. 18.—While 18 desperate fugitives from the Oklahoma State Reformatory here were hunted by posse tonight, Governor E. W. Marland announced the Warden, Mrs. George A. Waters, would be removed and replaced by a man.

Mrs. Waters, only woman warden of a men's prison in the United States, assumed charge eight years ago. There have been frequent investigations. Her difficulties were which 31 inmates participated, killing a guard.

Mrs. Waters personally directed the hunt for the escaped prisoners. She admonished the searchers to "shoot to capture." Prison guards, sheriff's deputies and private citizens joined posse.

Slipping into Sentinel, about 30 miles northeast of Grantville, this afternoon three of the prisoners seized a car belonging to a county deputy sheriff and fled before officers could bring guns to bear upon them. Citizens who watched their flight said one had a sawed off shotgun.

WHO?

Who is it who "always get them man?" Not always, perhaps, but whenever they can, Whether he hid, skipped off or ran! The Mounties.

Who are the guys whose aim is true, Who would do a whole darn lot for you, And who, themselves, are all true blue? The Mounties.

Who is it who all are six feet tall (Most of them, tho' perhaps not all If I tripped one I'd fain be the last to fall). The Mounties.

Who is it who always get the blame And can shoulder it, too, whatever the game, Tho' its surely a rotten, beastly shame? The Mounties.

Who is it who never tell tales out of school, Who work the clock round, and live by rule, And still are always calm and cool? The Mounties.

Who is it who always have the name Of treating rich and poor the same, And rescue many a man from shame? The Mounties.

Who all form an all around jolly bunch? Whether they're following up a "hunch" Or taking a lady out to lunch! The Mounties.

Who is it who always are on guard Who would die any day to save a pard, And then laugh and say it wasn't hard? The Mounties.

Whose organization is second to none, And from which children are taught to run, Tho' they never would harm a single one? The Mounties.

Who is it who always play the game, Who for themselves have made a name, And from East to West have acquired fame? The Mounties.

and had returned to Poland. "It was all arranged," she said. "I learned that while I was in prison. They were to get 30 years imprisonment at hard labor. Although she had known their social life intimately, she said, she never realized it was the curtain behind which the former Polish army officer manipulated an alleged spy ring that sought German military secrets.

"I learned that after they were arrested," she said, "and changing the names I wrote a play about it—that's why I was arrested."

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. MARGARET GILLIS

The funeral of the late Mrs. Margaret Gillis took place on Thursday at 2 P. M. from her late residence to Saint John Baptist Church, Miscouche, and was one of the largest and most impressive ever held in the parish. Reverend John A. MacDonnell, P. P., Grand Rector, and a former deputy of the parish, officiated at the solemn Requiem Mass, assisted by Reverend Urban Gillis, P. P., Wellington as deacon, and Reverend Reginald F. MacDonnell, P. P., Indian River as sub-deacon. Reverend Dr. Martin Monaghan, P. P., Master of Ceremonies, and Reverend Dr. Monaghan, also performed the service at the grave. The mortal remains were placed in the family plot, beside her late husband, who predeceased her fourteen years ago.

The late Mrs. Gillis was the last member of the family of Hugh MacDonnell, her grandfather, Martin MacDonnell, coming out from Knoydart, Scotland, and settling in Maryvale, Antigonish County, N.S. Mrs. Gillis was born. Other members of this family were the late Archbishop Ronald MacDonnell, of Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, who died over twenty years ago, and the late beloved Father Rod MacDonnell, who died in Antigonish, Nova Scotia, and the late Rev. Archibald MacKenzie, Pictou, were also sisters of the deceased.

Most of her long life of nearly eighty-six years was spent in the county, as well as her deep religious faith, she in company with her beloved partner built up one of the most comfortable homes to be found anywhere. She has now passed on to a body of High Mass, when Rev. Dr. MacLellan, V. G., gave an inspiring address on the Boy Scout movement, and urged the parents to support the campaign which is now underway for increasing the number of Scouts in the Province. He considered the organization one of the most worthy and of great assistance in training boys and youths to become useful citizens. At the evening service in St. Mary's Church, Ver. Archdeacon White, D. D., delivered a splendid address on behalf of the movement, and asked for the support of his parishioners in the Province. Rev. Dr. MacLellan addressed an unseen audience over the radio in the interests of Scouting. Announcements were made in all the churches on the campaign for funds which is to commence on February 22nd.—S
