COLONIZATION OF HEBREWS IN CANADA

Special to The Guardian.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 29—Particulars of a huge colonization scheme of a semi philanthropic nature, promoted by prominent Jewish bankers and merchants of France, England and Russia, were made public here by a prominent English financier, now visiting Winnipeg.

The scheme is to colonize 200,000 of the persecuted Jews of Lower Russia on farms prepared for them in Alberta.

Agents of the syndicate have been out west for several weeks and favor a tract northwest of Edmonton.

The present plan is to give the immigrants twenty years in which to pay for their farms.

At the afternoon session J. Dayton Clarke, Supreme V. C. R. of Dayton, Ohio, was introduced and made a brief but interesting speech.

The report of the Committee on Constitution was then taken up and the recommendation to have biennial instead of annual sessions of the High Court was voted down.

The balance of the reports were laid over until today.

In the evening at seven-thirty a parade was formed up in front of their hall on Grafton Street, which, headed by the Citizens Band and capably marshalled by John H. Bell, proceeded to the Victoria Hotel and then to the Opera House where a public meeting was held.

The meeting, which was well attended, opened at 8.10 and was presided over by Ex-Governor Mackinnon. Seated with him on the platform were: J. Dayton Clarke, Rev. E. J. Rattee, S. F. Hodgson, Horatio Nelson, L. U. Fowler, John F. Whear, Murdock McLeod, J. H. Bell, B. W. Tanton, R. H. McDonald, W. S. Bearisto, and Geo. W. McPhee.

Ex-Governor McKinnon who presided, in opening dwelt on the objects of the order, its membership and its work in the province. He spoke briefly of the methods of business of the order and referred to investments made by them in this province and briefly spoke of the fraternal benefits of the I. O. F. and was hopeful the great idea of brotherhood as outlined by the I. O. F. would one day embrace the whole world.

Rev. E. J. Rattee was next called on and began by referring to a concrete instance of the good being done by the Order. This was a hospital recently instituted by the I. O. F. in New York, another case was that of a man from this province, stricken with a disease which later made a cripple of the patient. The party became helpless and his family was in dire need and the I. O. F. took his case in hand with the result that the fraternity, besides assisting him by sick benefits to the extent of $150 gave a further cheque each month of $10 to assist in the education of his growing children. This same man had insurance in an old line company which he had to surrender because of lack of funds. He received but a paltry portion of the sum he had paid in.

The chairman then introduced the principal speaker of the evening, J. Dayton Clarke, Dayton, Ohio, the Supreme Vice Chief Ranger of the High Court of America.

He began by complimenting the vocalists who had preceded him. He referred to his election to the office of Vice Chief Ranger by Canadian votes to the extent of 40 per cent. though an American Forester. He spoke of the disappointment of the brethren and the audience in not having with them the Supreme Chief Ranger Eliot G. Stevenson whose place he was taking. There was so much in the great order which might be discussed that, he said, he was at a loss where to begin or where to stop. He said that the order had distributed to widows and orphans $31,000,000. The investments of the Order were large, strong and safe. In Ontario he said there was an orphange with 45 orphans cared for by the Order. In Canada, America and Britain many orphans received contributions similar to that in the instance referred to by Mr. Rattee. Six of those in Canada are in Prince Edward Island. Twelve Foresters in a Tubercular Hospital in the Adirondacks, originally costing $40,000, were now receiving the most modern treatment.

He referred to the open field of I. O. F. fraternity, of its influence and said he would leave a message to the I. O. F. that the fraternal side be magnified after an influential impetus gained at this meeting. He spoke of the inception of the children's aid movement of the I. O. F. which was started at a meeting in California at which a widow of a Forester called to ask what could be done for her children without them being taken away. Then Elliot G. Stevenson originized the idea of monthly payments to assist widows with families in the upbringing of children.

The I. O. F. were makers of men. He that makes a man is greater than he that makes a kingdom. He told of an experience in fraternal man-making and uplifting when a young man, ambitious, but crushed by circumstances, was brought into a lodge and later, through the influence of that lodge, developed into a highly respected citizen from a youth on a cracker machine in a bakery. He desired never to see the day when the selfish motives of insurance should prevail over the greater ideals prevalent at the institution of this great order of fraternity.

He thought an institution should be built right in P. E. I. for its 2000 Foresters to give them an opportunity to assist one another as brethren should.

The National Fraternal Association of which he was a member pleads for the total restitution of the fraternal ideals upheld at the institution of fraternal orders. He expected that brotherhood through fraternal orders would one day bring together all nationalities and all creeds. The influence of the church to these ends was not so great as that of fraternal institutions.

The I. O. F. originated the ban against liquor sellers or drunkards as members of fraternal societies. He uttered a strong appeal to all to make the fraternal side of the order a monument to each individual and illustrated the plea by the good deeds of the late Earl of Shaftsbury, whose motto was "love, serve," and whose attitude to his fellow men was a lasting monument to his memory.

In concluding he thanked the audience for their attention and expressed his pleasure on the occasion of his first trip to the garden province of Canada.

Mr. Clarke's address was a masterly effort and nothing but a verbatim report—which space will not permit—would do it justice. He was humorous and graphic and occasionally his word pictures visibly affected the audience by a delicate touch of pathos which appealed directly to the hearts of his hearers. He was loudly applauded at the conclusion of his address.

Mr. Clarke was followed by J. M. Clark, P. H. C. R., Summerside, who warmly complimented the previous speaker on his eloquent and forceful speech.

During intervals the Citizens Band rendered pleasing selections and Miss Amy Earle and G. Elmer Ritchie sang most acceptably solos which were received with hearty applause. The soloists were complimented heartily by Mr. Clarke.

After singing God Save the King, the meeting adjourned.

Today the High Court will hold its final sessions opening this morning at nine-thirty when reports of committees will be presented and the election and installation of officers will take place.

A special train is being provided for the accommodation of members who wish to return home this evening.

FOR UNIVERSITY REFORM AT OXFORD

Special to The Guardian.

LONDON Aug. 29—The Daily Express says the visit of Canada's crack regiment is an event of real Imperial significance and assures the officers and men of the warmest welcome.

The Standard regards the event as a further step towards that federation for the purposes of defence whereon the future security of the Empire must depend.

Reform of Oxford University is the subject of a long report by the Hebdomedal Council.

The most conspicuous of the report's reccommendations are the abolition of Greek as a compulsory subject for the entrance examinations and incresed facilities for the admission of poor men to the University.

A student's diploma course for those contemplating a commercial career is also recommended.

The question of admitting women to degrees will be considered in the near future.

Important changes in the government of the University are urged.

TREASURE TROVE OF $500,000

OTTAWA, August 28—There is half a million dollars treasure trove in the treasury of the government and a most peculiar story goes with it. On Friday the finance department sent one of its strong boxes to be repaired at a Wellington street locksmiths. The box was locked and no one had a key. It was just an ordinary job to the workmen who always repair these strong boxes. Workmen tackled the job, got the box and discovered in it a pile of English bank notes. A phone call brought panting civil servants to the shop. They counted up the notes to the total of about $500,000, parceled them up and carted them back to their department.

They stated that the box had been in their department six years and had not been touched over that period, as no one appeared to have a key. How the money came there, what it was for and who it actually should be credited to is at present unknown, as is the particular way in which the government will dispose of its oddest treasure trove.

THOSE TRAINED FLEAS.

ST. JOHN, August 28th—Since the first announcement that the celebrated Oriental Flea Circus, which all summer has been playing an engagement at Hammerstein's New York Roof Garden, would be a feature of the Modway at the Dominion Fair, fears have been expressed as to the possibility of their breaking loose, and playing havoc among the thousands on the grounds. To avoid the possibility of diminishing the attendance at the big fair, the management wish to explain that every one of these highly trained and intelligent fleas is fastened by a small chain, too fine to be seen with the naked eye attached to a gold collar which has been fitted around the neck of the flea, thus making it impossible even for these remakable specimens to play any other role than that for which their owner is being paid a price which would secure an attraction probably a million times larger. It is hardly probable that any fair patron will fail to see the educated fleas.

GERMAN POLICEMAN PINCHED THE CZAR.

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—The Czar of all the Russians has been arrested by a German policeman, according to a story printed by the Tageblatt. Emperor Nicholas, with a Grand Duke, slipped across the frontier incognito, according to the story. During their stay at Wolf's Garden they entered a park the use of which is forbidden to the public. They were arrested by a gendarme. Taking their predicament as a joke, they went to the police station and were photographed before the blunder was discovered.

They were finally released with profound apologies presented by officials ranging in rank from policeman to ministers and ambassadors. The latest photograph of the Czar, however, is in the possession of the police.

REV. MR FLANDERS IS COMING HERE

ST. JOHN, August 29th—In this date, of keen competition, even the churches have to be alive to their own interests. It is for this reason, among others, that the First Methodist Church of Charlottetown sometime ago extended to Rev. C. R. Flanders, of Centenary, the invitation to come to Charlottetown at the close of his pastorate here. There were several other important reasons, notable that Dr. Flanders is looked upon by the Island congregation as admirably adapted for the work in that church. It was for something of the same reason that Centenary, last spring, invited him to remain here for a fourth year, although his third year will not expire until June of 1911. Dr. Flanders accepted the invitation to remain in St. John, and has just sent to the Charlottetown congregation his acceptance to their hearty invitation to go to that church in July of 1912.

Rev. Henry E. Thomas is now pastor of the Charlottetown church. His term will expire in June of 1911. A year will then elapse between his departure and the arrival of Dr. Flanders. To bridge this year, the Charlottetown Methodists have invited Rev. Jacob Heaney, of West St. John to occupy the pulpit from June 1911 to June 1912. Rev. Mr. Heaney has also recently accepted this invitation. He is a Prince Edward Islander by birth, and will enjoy being near his old home even for so brief a time as one year.

"SOUL!" FLOWS FROM HER TOES

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—Mlle. Clara Raopan and her uninsulated tootsies are coming across the ocean to play the piano for us this fall. Uninsulated, as applied to Mlle. Raopan's feet, is the technical way of saying they are bare, innocent of clocks or oxfords. Of course, while she is on the boat coming over, or when she goes shopping, mademoiselle's feet are encased in shoes. It is only when performing at the piano that she takes off the insulation.

When she removes the slippers and stockings, the most delicate vibrations of soul flow down into the tips of her toes, which work in perfect harmony with her fingers. The piano pedals produce a thousand graduations of tone and the result is—"soul." This is according to Mlle. Raopan's press agent.

Mlle. Raopan is an American woman who studied and got married abroad. Free play for the toes is her own idea. She plays Chopin mostly, because she can enter into that master's moods most thoroughly. She uses a special piano, equipped with several ivory pedals.

DOWN IN THE DUST.

Is it worth while that we jostle a brother
Bearing his load on the rough road of life?
Is it worth while that we jeer at each other
In blackness of heart—that we war to the knife?
God pity us all in our pitiful strife.

God pity us all as we jostle each other;
God pardon us all for the triumphs
When a fellow goes down 'neath his we feel load on the heather,
Pierced to the heart; words are keenest than steel,
And mightier far for woe or for weal.

Were it not well, in this brief little journey,
On o'er the isthmus, down into the tide,
We give him a fish instead of a serpent,
Ere folding the hands to be and abide
Forever and aye in dust at his side
Forever and aye in dust at his side?

Look at the roses saluting each other
Look at the herds all at peace o'er the plain—
Man, and man only, makes war on his brother,
And laughs in his heart at his peril and pain,
Shamed by the beasts that go down on the plain.
