Profits Others Have Earned from Patch Foxes

E. B. sold a pair of crosses to J. R. and they produced one pair of silver black foxes which sold for $8,000.00. A. M. sold two pairs of patch foxes which produced litters of silver black foxes, yielding the owner big returns for the investment.

One pair of 60 p. c. patches purchased by parties in Crapaud in 1913 produced among their litter two silver black foxes, one of which sold for $2,500, the other female was retained by the company. One pair of patches sold to Mr. P. of Tryon in 1913 had a litter of five pups, two handsome silver blacks and three crosses. This litter enabled the company to declare a dividend of 60 per cent.

The grand parents of the foxes owned by the company, which paid the largest dividend in 1914, were patches. T. W. from a ranch near Charlottetown had from a pair of patches a litter of four foxes, three were silver black and sold for over fifteen thousand dollars.

The Lampson Silver Cross Fox Co. Ltd. is a "Ground Floor" Proposition at a "Ground Floor" Price---

THE LAMPSON COMPANY HAVE TWENTY-ONE AND A HALF PAIRS OF FOXES (eighteen pairs of patch or cross foxes, three blue foxes, and two pairs of Arctic white foxes). The foxes are capitalized at less than $1,000 per pair. Just think of it! Think of the prospects and earning possibilities at this capitalization.

Even if the Company should secure only eight good silver foxes from the whole lot, wouldn't it be an excellent position to pay a big dividend—and this is a very reasonable estimate in view of what others have accomplished in the past.

On the other hand, by reserving the very best of each year's production, the Lampson Company would, in a comparatively short time, have the highest type of silver foxes at a capitalization much lower than companies with patch foxes only.

If this means anything it means prosperity and big profits for the shareholders of the Lampson Company—and now is the time for you to decide if you wish to share in the profits and possibilities of the Company.

Shares only $25.00 each—only a limited amount of stock for sale. Write the Canada Fox Exchange, Charlottetown, or the Secretary for prospectus of the Lampson Company.

If the term "Ground Floor" could ever be truthfully applied to an investment proposition it surely should be to the offer of the Lampson Silver Cross Fox Company, Limited.

The capitalization is the lowest, and the prospects of securing a good average production from twenty-one and half pairs of foxes are the highest.

There are no promoters' profits connected with the Lampson Company—there are no salaried directors—there are no "rake-offs" or strings to the proposition. Everyone goes in on the same basis, and everyone shares equally in the earnings.

The present stock issue covering forty three foxes is but $20,000, and only a limited portion of this stock will be offered for public subscription as the Directors are determined to retain large holdings in the Company. Taking this into consideration it will be seen that anyone desirous of sharing in the profits of the Company will necessarily have to make application promptly. The shares are selling now at 25.00 each. Now is the time to ACT.

The following are the directors of the Lampson Silver Fox Company, Ltd. The fact that nearly all of these men are experienced in the fox industry is a guarantee that the Company will be efficiently managed, and the production of each breeding season sold to the best interests of the shareholders.

PROVISIONAL DIRECTORS.
