WANT COOLIDGE TO RUN AGAIN FOR PRESIDENT

Petitions on His Behalf Are Being Circulated Throughout the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The first authoritative direct statement of President Coolidge's 1928 desires since the famous "I do not choose to run" edict from the White House today, and it was an expression of Mr. Coolidge's desires that petitions on his behalf be kept from circulation.

Unlike "I do not choose" statement which was typewritten and handed to newspapermen by the President himself, today's outline of usual routine of giving to the press the attitude of Mr. Coolidge on various topics without authority to quote him directly.

Mr. Coolidge has been importuned frequently during the summer and fall to amplify his Black Hills statement, but to no avail. Today's exposition of the White House views was brought about by publication of the intention of a supporter of Mr. Coolidge to start an endless chain petition urging his re-nomination. Mr. Coolidge believed such petitions would do no good.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The New York Herald Tribune says today a movement aiming to put a majority of the people of the United States on record for the re-election of President Coolidge, in advance of the Republican National Convention is gaining ground in New England.

Links in a "chain petition" calling on the President to reconsider his decision not to run in 1928 have appeared in various parts of Connecticut and Massachusetts, the newspaper says, and have been traced indirectly to Philip M. Tucker, Boston Broker.

The plan to ask each citizen signing the petition to get ten others to sign, branching out until the entire United States has been covered.

A foot note to the petition says: "There is no organization behind this movement. It is entirely a spontaneous method by which the common people can express their wishes and others to carry on."

To present a petition representative of a majority of the voters participating in the last presidential election nearly 15,000,000 signatures would be necessary. Four times that number would be required to speak for a majority of the American people.

Acquisition Of Mexican Railway Is Predicted

(Special to the Guardian)
MEXICO, CITY, Nov. 23.—Acquisition of the Tehuantepec Isthmus Railway by Canadian interests is predicted here, simultaneously with the visit of Sir Henry Thornton, head of the Canadian National Railway, who is here studying Mexico's Railway situation at the invitation of the Calles government.

The Tehuantepec runs from Puerto on the Gulf of Mexico to Salina Cruz on the Pacific. At the present time produce, especially from the East, is shipped by rail to the Pacific Coast, and thence by water to Mexico. It is contended that it would be much more economical to ship direct from Canada's Eastern ports to the Gulf of Mexico, thence by rail, six hours to the Pacific Coast, from which trans shipments could be made to any point on the Western Coast of South America.

The Tehuantepec Railway is admitted to be in a rather unsatisfactory condition at present, but it is pointed out that the rockbed along the route of the line would eliminate much of the expense of repair and maintenance.

Apparent Cure For T.B. Found

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 23.—Apparent success from efforts to obtain a cure for tuberculosis were indicated here when the first returns from scientific tests of the treatment outlined by the late Dr. E. F. Pernot, were returned by city officials.

Five out of six guinea pigs inoculated with tissues from cows on which the treatment had been tried in Portland, showed that one cow had recovered and another was "well on the way to recovery." Dr. S. G. Someland, medical director of the California clinic at Los Angeles, said the experiment has apparently proved the success of the early, today, with prospects of the treatment, adding that he is now conducting experiments with the remedy on human patients.

GLOOMY DEAN UNDER FIRE OF WOMAN WRITER

Rebecca West Attacks Inge in Letter to Daily Express—Attitude Toward Labor, Ireland and National Intelligence Scored.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Rebecca West, the novelist, in an open letter addressed to Dean Inge in The Daily Express, attacks the "gloomy" Dean saying: "Of you it might be written as you wrote of Karl Marx: 'His unsparring, dominant passion was the passion of hate. It was hate that goaded him to his enormous literary labors. It was hate that determined his selection and rejection of the historical facts for his distorted description of industrial England. It was hate that fired his economic principles.'"

Referring to passages in Ireland in the Dean's book "England," Miss West says: "The fury you show there because your country has tried other methods than the sword for dealing with that island, shows you would feel more easy if you cast aside your diabolical attire and assumed the shorter and more serrated garments and sacrificial knife of a cannibalistic medicine man."

Referring to the Dean's statement in his essay on eugenics that intelligence tests in the United States Army proved that only 11 per cent of negroes were over the mental age of 13, and that 70 per cent of Poles, 63 per cent of Italians and 60 per cent of Russians in the draft were below the mental age of 9, she says: "These figures imply that about three-quarters of the inhabitants of Poland, Italy and Russia are feeble-minded men. Those who believe that will believe anything. You follow these figures that would make a cat laugh, and a Bishop scratch his mitre, by the sentence: 'America is the classical land of democracy is governed by voters half of whom have the intelligence of children less than 13 years old.'"

"It will hardly be maintained either that our population is more intelligent than America's or that the addition of female votes could raise the standard."

"Better and better. First you believed three-quarters of the population of Poland, Italy and Russia were feeble-minded. Now in a series of bizarre presumptions, you assert that about one-half the population of the British Isles are feeble-minded, and England the home of idocy."

Attacking Dean Inge's attitude toward labor, Miss West says: "If you were psychoanalyzed it would probably reveal your extreme infamy, and you would be severely chastised by some member of the working classes with whom, even at this late date, it is possible to feel the warmest sympathy."

While admitting that the Government these days is proceeding in futile, indeterminate fashion, Miss West says: "This has nothing whatsoever to do with democracy, which is not an instrument of automatism. It is a good instrument that was invented not as a libertarian luxury, but as a necessity, when a number of events of an increasingly disturbing nature, of which not the least was England's loss of America, proved that the aristocratic form of government had for various reasons become ineffective."

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 23.—Miguel Aguasquin Proluarez, described here as a Roman Catholic priest, was executed today as one of the actual leaders of the attempt to assassinate General Alvaro Obregon on November 13.

Spring-Like Weather In Alberta

(Canadian Press)
WINNIPEG, Nov. 23.—Chinook winds have completely routed the wintery forces of snow and zero in Alberta and spring-like temperatures prevailed over the province generally today. The weather was described as "well on the way to recovery." Dr. S. G. Someland, medical director of the California clinic at Los Angeles, said the experiment has apparently proved the success of the early, today, with prospects of the treatment, adding that he is now conducting experiments with the remedy on human patients.

SIXTY THIRD ANNIVERSARY OF TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

On Sunday next the 27th, instant the congregation of Trinity United Church, Charlottetown, will celebrate the 63rd Anniversary of the opening of their church. This fine church edifice was the outgrowth of sixty years of Methodist settlement in Charlottetown. Among the earliest settlers of the colony were those who adopted this profession of faith and they were not slow, upon their settlement in Charlottetown, to establish and maintain the public worship of Almighty God under the name of the Methodist Society. For more than twenty years services under the auspices of this body were conducted by local preachers, with occasional assistance of regular ministers from the outside world.

The first ordained minister stationed in Charlottetown was the Rev. James Bulpit who arrived here in 1807. At that time the preaching services were held in the court house.

In 1810 the Society procured a piece of land on Richmond St. between Queen and Pownall Streets where they built their first place of worship in Charlottetown. In this building the first Sunday School of any denomination ever held in Prince Edward Island was formed by the Rev. John B. Strong who was the minister of the Society at this time. This Sunday School has continued without interruption for one hundred and eleven years and from a very small beginning is now flourishing with a membership of over five hundred officers, teachers and scholars.

BUCKLEY WILL BE PUT THROUGH SANITY TEST

Board of Alienists will Examine Youth Who Shot Girl and Himself.

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—If Joseph Foster Buckley, the Halifax boy charged with the slaying of his sweetheart, Grace Mills, recovers he will be put through a thorough mental examination by a board of alienists. This sanity test loomed today when the physician at the Waltham Hospital and the Waltham police were still mystified by Buckley's attitude and his stubborn fight against death. His every thought is to join Grace Mills in death, but despite his attitude he is putting up a fight that has amazed many doctors.

It was a week ago tonight that Buckley and Grace Mills kept their midnight tryst which proved fatal for the nineteen year old girl, and may yet claim her sweetheart. Physicians attending Buckley stated that the youth has gone through enough in the past week to kill several normal persons, but his wonderful constitution is carrying him through.

One day he appeared to be on the brink of death, at then all of a sudden he rallied. Since Sunday he has been improving slowly and is expected to live now, although the doctors are not anxious to make any prediction.

Buckley's greatest foe now is the danger of pneumonia, which may set in at any time. He is bothered greatly by a cough, and he appears to be in pain when he has a coughing spell.

Two hours today the police searched throughout Wayland for a farm hand who was reported to have witnessed the shooting of Grace Mills. The search was in vain.

High Tribute To Royal Winter Fair

(Special to the Guardian)
TORONTO, Nov. 23.—"The most wonderful sight of its kind" this tribute to the Royal Winter Fair was paid by none other than the famous yachtsman, Sir Thomas Lipton, who was "among those present" last night. ## $2,000,000 To Be Expended On Montreal Postal Facilities

(Special to the Guardian)
OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 23.—Ambitious plans for expanding and modernizing Montreal postal terminal facilities have been formulated by the post office department and it is understood the ultimate cost of the large project will approximate $2,000,000. It is believed that about one half or about $1,000,000 will be expected from the coming parliament.

Final determination of the scope and details of the plan will depend upon settlement of the scheme of Canadian National Railway for its new passenger terminal on the side of the present tunnel terminal on La Gauchetiere Street. A general plan of the latter is now before the Dominion Railway Board and will form the basis of discussion at a hearing to be called, probably early in the new year.

The post office department, it is understood, will insist upon the formulation and execution of its own project, so that it will not be subjected to the difficulties that marked the development of its terminal work in the new Union Station in Toronto.

Hope Held For Improvement In British Bacon Market

(Special to the Guardian)
TORONTO, Nov. 23.—The importance of maintaining production of swine at this time of comparatively low prices, and especially in view of the fact that the present is the time for preparing by breeding for next fall's early delivery of hogs at the market, was strongly emphasized in a discussion of the situation by members of the Meat Packers' Council yesterday.

Hope of early improvement in British bacon market conditions was held out by several of those in closest touch with the export trade, including Mr. A. H. Mills, a representative of the Canadian packers in London.

An announcement of particular interest to producers made by Mr. McLean, President of the Harris Abbot Co., was that in view of the fact that the cut of three dollars per cwt. on heavy hogs, has been effective in reducing the percentage in offerings of such undesirable weights, it has been decided by the packers that the cut in price of heavies as compared with bacon select hogs will be reduced to two dollars per cwt. starting today.
