KAISER'S ILLNESS IS LAID TO THE DRUGS REDUCING STOUTNESS.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Kaiser William's consort is making very slow progress in her illness, and it is extremely doubtful if she will ever be quite herself again. The cause, in spite of efforts to keep it dark, has become known at last, and is nothing less than a drug which the unfortunate woman took to reduce her stoutness. This together with depriving herself of nourishing food, undermined her constitution and affected her heart, and at one time she was more gravely ill than was generally known. The Kaiserin is one of the best dressed women among the older European royalties, and has always taken great pride in her appearance. Captious critics sometimes dub her showy, and accuse her of having the appearance of a jeweler's shop when in evening dress. Certainly her hats are a trifle to the large side, and her white hair rather aureole, but at least she always looks attractive. The contrast she made when here for the unveiling of the Victoria Memorial last year, in her graceful flowing dresses and large becoming hats, to Queen Mary in her stiff, frumpy frocks, ridiculous hats and tightly screwed up hair, was most remarkable. Her increasing stoutness as she advanced in middle age, therefore, was a great worry to her, and after trying all manner of harmless cures she took the drug in desperation.

'ISLE OF THE SUN-KISSED SEA'

(Prince Edward Island.)
Bright the scenes of thy meadows green,
Tale of the sun-kissed sea,
Soft the tune of the winds that croon
Of the boundless surge to thee.
Cool and deep thy streamlets sweep
Through woodlands, sweet with fern;
Now high, now low, they fall or flow,
New joys at every turn.
And the undreamed gold thine across
Land of ungarnered grain,
Thou'lt keep in trust, as a mother must,
'Til thy sons return again.

Oh! they'll tire of din, and the fight to win
A place in the lands afar;
And they'll yearn to thee, and turn to thee
Wherever on earth they are.

Oh; in summer's glow, or in winter's snow,
A haven of rest to me;
For thy dawn-bird sings but of tender things
Isle of the sun-kissed sea!

BOOST—DON'T KNOCK.

Any fair-minded observant person who has had the opportunity of visiting the different provinces of Canada, and stopped long enough in different places to become somewhat familiar with the conditions in each, will I believe, be quite willing to admit that for general prosperity Prince Edward Island stands out above all the others. The fact that the deposits in our savings banks are greater per capita than any other country in the world is pretty good evidence in support of this. Why then are we losing so many of our young people and showing ten per cent. loss of population in a decade? It is a question that cannot be fully answered here but I wish to suggest one remedy viz., BOOST. If the wether is cool and wet, stoutly maintain that it is just what the country needs, if hot and dry maintain the same. If the grain crop is a bit light, maintain that prices will be higher, if a heavy crop why we have more to sell. And don't knock neither your own province nor your neighbor. If the other fellow has some few ideas that you had not thought of before, why, don't be jealous, give him a word of encouragement to help him along. It is just possible you know he might be right. Anyway give him a chance. Life is quite a gamble anyway and we would never get anywhere but for the fellow who is willing to take a chance. Practically all the great modern conveniences we enjoy to-day we owe to the fellow who at the start took a chance. If it were not for him we would still be plowing with oxen, travelling by stage-coach or worse, cutting our grain with a scythe and threshing it with a flail. It has been my good fortune to have travelled a great deal through Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific and to have lived for quite a time in many different parts of the Dominion and I have no hesitation in saying that the Prince Edward Islander can boast with a clearer conscience than the citizen of any other province. There is no part so far, no part where a good crop is so well assured, no climate so healthy, no place so moral, no place where business conditions are so sound. Let us organize a BOOSTERS CLUB, every member of which should be solemnly sworn to kill the knocker and to maintain in season and out of season, that while other countries may be good there is none so good as our own; and to those who have been honestly endeavoring to block the wheels of progress lest we should get going at a dangerous pace, I would say "Take a rest for a while and give the other fellow a chance." It is just possible you know he might have been right all this time. And perhaps a lot of our progressive young people who are restless under the curb, might remain at home a while longer and give us a hand at the boosting. W. K. ROGERS, Charlottetown.

IN MEMORIAN.

At eleven a. m., Oct. 27th while the prayers of the congregation assembled for worship in the Catholic Church of Summerfield and neighboring parishes were being offered for her happy death the soul of Mrs. Bernard E. Croken took to heaven. Mrs. Croken has been ailing for a year or more the end came somewhat suddenly. The Tuesday previous she developed a bad cold later turning to pneumonia and despite all that skillful medical aid, the tender care of her beloved family and loving friends could do she passed peacefully away at the age of sixty-five, fortified with the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church. She leaves to mourn a bereaved husband Bernard E. Crokin, three sons and six daughters.—James of Summerfield, Dr. Isidoro at good, Wilbert, electrical engineer, Schenectady, N. Y., Margaret and Virginia, nurses, Mrs. A. McAulay, Mrs. J. E. Doyle all residing in Springfield, Mass. Mrs. G. L. Murphy, Sydney, N. S. and Lena at home. The pallbearers were Thomas McKay, Ronald McDonald, W. H. Mayne, Hugh Stewart, William Cormick, Barnaby Croken.

CROSS OR FEVERISH HALF SICK CHILDREN

Mean their bowels are waste clogged; liver sluggish and stomach sour.

Your child isn't naturally cross, irritable and peevish. Mother! Examine the tongue; if coated, it means the little one's stomach is disordered, liver inactive and its thirty feet of bowels clogged with foul, decaying waste.

Every mother realizes, after giving delicious "Syrup of Figs" that this is the ideal laxative and physic for children. Nothing else regulates the little one's tender stomach, liver and bowels so effectually, besides they dearly love its delightful fig taste.

For constipated bowels, sluggish liver, biliousness, or sour, disordered stomach, feverishness, diarrhoea, sore throat, bad breath or to break a cold, give one-half to a teaspoonful of "Syrup of Figs", and in a few hours all the clogged waste, our bile, and undigested food, and constipated matter will gently move on and out of the system without griping or nausea, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not dragging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

BOER WOMAN'S SIX HUSBANDS.
LONDON, Nov. 1.—There is a Boer widow residing at Pretoria whose matrimonial record will want a deal of beating. She is Mrs. Thekla M. de Boer, and is now seventy-eight. At the age of eighteen she married Petrus Jacobus Lubbe, who died, leaving her one child. Ten months later she took another husband, a widower with three children.

Church, Summerfield, was attended by a large concourse of people which almost filled the church. A requiem high mass was sung by Mgr. Gillis. At the end of mass he preached an eloquent and impressive sermon paying a high tribute to the departed.

The service at the grave was conducted by the Rev. D. P. Crokin, St. Dunstan College, assisted by Mgr. Gillis and all that was mortal of a kind loving mother and dutiful wife was laid to rest to await the great day of general judgment.

The deceased was a woman of exemplary habits beloved by everybody who knew her. Her departure will leave an aching void in the hearts of her husband and family.

She leaves to mourn a bereaved husband Bernard E. Crokin, three sons and six daughters.—James of Summerfield, Dr. Isidoro at good, Wilbert, electrical engineer, Schenectady, N. Y., Margaret and Virginia, nurses, Mrs. A. McAulay, Mrs. J. E. Doyle all residing in Springfield, Mass. Mrs. G. L. Murphy, Sydney, N. S. and Lena at home. The pallbearers were Thomas McKay, Ronald McDonald, W. H. Mayne, Hugh Stewart, William Cormick, Barnaby Croken.

TOOK THIRTY YEARS TO FIND CHILD.

MONTREAL, Nov. 1.—A reunion has taken place between a mother and daughter after 30 years of separation due to the kidnapping of the latter when she was two years old. The principals are Mrs. George Marcotte, Ontario avenue, Viauville, the daughter, and Mrs. Susie Newton, of Brant Rock, Mass., the mother.

The little Newton girl was kidnapped while her parents resided near Boston, in 1882. She was taken by a man named William Morse, whose married sister had lost her own little girl, and was broken-hearted.

The woman brought her up as her own daughter, teaching her her own language, which was French. In due time the girl married a George Marcotte, of Montreal. The secret came out a month or two ago, when the false mother confessed to the kidnapping just before she died.

Mrs. Marcotte then decided to try and find her real mother, and advertised for her in a Boston newspaper. Mrs. White answered the advertisement and identified her daughter by a cut on the thumb.

The reunion took place last week at Boston. As the daughter could not speak English or the mother French, their first greetings had to be interpreted by a friend familiar with both languages.
