The Globe had a pleasant call to-day from W. G. Scott, city treasurer of Winnipeg. He has been in Nova Scotia, and to-day is going to P. E. Island. At the close of twenty years of service to the government of Winnipeg marked its appreciation of his work by giving Mr. Scott three months' holidays. He has employed the time in going over the Dominion from the Pacific to the Atlantic. To-day he expressed regret that even that long holiday did not give him ample time to see all that he desired. But he has seen much. He expressed himself greatly delighted with the Maritime Provinces, and said many things grateful to the ear about St. John, in which he spent part of two days.—St. John Globe, Sept. 30.

As Mendels-horn's Wedding March was tastefully rendered by Miss Mary Yeo, the bridal party entered the front parlor which was beautifully decorated for the occasion and stood under an arch of Maple leaves and flowers where Rev. R. S. Whiddon performed the nuptial knot. The bride who is one of Bedouque's most popular young ladies, received many useful and costly presents testifying to the high esteem in which she is held. Rev. W. H. Sedgwick spoke to a large meeting of men at the Young Men's Christian Association yesterday afternoon on "The Liberty of Restraint." He pointed out the necessity of restraint in order to have true liberty, and showed that the freest of God's creatures were under restraint. He then compared this liberty with the liberty of license and spoke of the many who sought to cast off restraint and gain greater freedom by license but by so doing only forged for themselves a much greater bondage. Mr. Sedgwick closed his address by showing that the religion of Jesus Christ gave the truest liberty man could attain. The association will conduct meetings from throughout the fall and winter and has secured some first class speakers to address them.

THE calendar issued by the Charlottetown Business College and Institute of Short-hand and Typewriting which the principal, Mr. Miller, was distributing during Exhibition week is undoubtedly the largest and best ever issued by that popular and established institution. It is quite pretentious in size and is well illustrated by photographs of the staff, former pupils who now occupy prominent positions in the business world, and points of interest in Charlottetown. The teachers who have full page engravings are: L. B. Miller, Principal and General Manager; J. Harry Williams, Teacher of Rapid Muscular Movement Writing, Plain Figures and Formations; R. V. Longworth, Inspector and Teacher of Banking; P. J. Trainor, Teacher of Commercial Law, Legal Forms, Insurance, Sales and Contracts; C. J. McMillan, M.A., Instructor in English Composition, Punctuation and Correspondence; J. A. Messervey, lecturer of the firm of Garvell Bros., and ex-president of the Board of Trade; J. O. Trainor, principal of the shorthand department, licensed teacher with honors from the phonographic Institute of Cincinnati; and Miss Alice Trainor (cert. Phonographic Institute) teacher in the theory of shorthand and dictation, typewriting and spelling. The calendar deals extensively with the work and progress of the Institution for over a quarter of a century and on this point reproduces an extended article from the Guardian of September 10, 1903. The booklet concludes with a number of recommendations on behalf of the institution from prominent men, graduates and others.
