On Monday night last W. E. Edwards Grand Scribe S. O. T. organized Afton Division No 243, in Afton Hall, Nine Mile Creek. Though the charter membership of this Division is not large it is made up of the very best material and the prospects for a good division are very bright. The following are the officers:—W. P. George Dickson, W. A. Samuel Elliot, R. S. May McNeill, A. R. S. S. McDougall, Coo. John Taylor, Treas. Wm. Robertson, Chaplain Josie McNeill, F. S. Cecil McMillan. Division meets on Saturday nights.

Mrs. ERNEST PROWSE, Winchester Mass. who was visiting her brother Wallace Campbell, Lower Montague has received a telegram announcing the sudden death of her husband. He met death by accident as follows:—While crossing a railroad track in haste to a fire the flying engine struck him, throwing him 60 feet, breaking one leg in three places and one arm in two. No other injuries were sustained save a slight mark above one eye. He fell dead and never breathed. Mrs. Powers has the sincerest sympathy.

At the Methodist Parsonage Winsloe, P. E. I. on the 29th of June 1903 Mrs. (Rev. Frank Frizzle, nee Miss Anna L. H. Sleep of Jerusalem, N. B. departed this life at the early age of 35 years. Our beloved sister for several years in delicate health has during the last 12 months been a great sufferer and completely laid aside from home and Church duties. The best medical aid was procured for her restoration to health, but all in vain. Mrs. Frizzle was the possessor of an amiable disposition, sympathetic, gentle, affectionate, a model wife and mother. Early in life she united with the Methodist Church in her native place, during the pastorate of the Rev. Richard Ople who at that time was stationed at New Jerusalem, Queens County, N. B. She adorned her Christlike life, which was ever a benediction to all who came within her influence. Her Christian fortitude and deepened spiritual consecration during her severe and tedious illness evidenced the reality of her Godly life. The funeral services were conducted at the Winsloe Parsonage by the Rev. W. W. Lodge, R. Ople and F. Sackford after which interment was made in the family cemetery of her husband, Cornwall, P. E. Island. She leaves to mourn their loss, a sorrowing husband, two sons and one daughter, all of tender years, a father, mother, two brothers and two sisters and numerous friends. She was greatly beloved by all who knew her.
