Comedy, Charm Make "Fantasia" Unforgettable

Walt Disney's exciting new full-length feature, "Fantasia," is the most dramatic, the most original, the funniest, the most charming motion picture ever to come out of Hollywood.

As the critic for Esquire Magazine wrote, "Fantasia is unlike anything you've ever seen. It's impossible to describe it. You must see it." Now at the Prince Edward Theatre.

Comedy and charm predominate in "Fantasia." The stupendous amount of work which went into creating this brilliant entertainment is masked by lightness of touch and laughter.

Mickey Mouse is the only familiar Disney character you'll meet. You certainly know Mickey who has possibly the best material he's ever had, acting the droll, impudent and bristly little scroacher's apprentice who can start magic going, but can't stop it.

But Mickey is just one of five hundred or more characters Disney has created for "Fantasia." There's little Hop Low, for instance, the mushroom, who does a dignified dance with the Mandarin Mushrooms that has audiences roaring. Mickey, Upanova (pronounced name slowly and you'll get the idea) is another performer who won't let her footwork, "The Mile" is a lady ostrich who is the star of the burlesque ballet, "Dance of the Hours." She has a black velvet ribbon around her long neck, ballet slippers the size of gunboats, and a costume of her own plumage. She is assisted by Hyacinth Hippo, whose name ought to tell you enough to make you hurry down to the theatre. You'll never again be able to watch toe dancing without harking back to Mickey Upanova.

Sound Track a Riot

Even the Scott takes on personality in this remarkable movie and makes a great hit with his demonstrations of the way all the instruments in an orchestra live or swanby in a "book" when they make a sound. (Mr. Sound Track also demonstrated a Brox "heer.")

The workers, members of local 1870 International Association of Machinists (I.A.M.), also protested the board's refusal to grant hourly rates of pay for certain shipping clerks and storekeepers now paid by the week.

OTTAWA, June 15: Army regulations and show-world traditions don't get mixed up very often, but they do Nursing Sister Verda Smith of Toronto and Hagersville, Ontario, will be qualified to untangle the muddle.

Nursing Sister Smith, a Lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, is currently touring Canada with "The Army Show," and her main job is to see that the men and women of the all-army cast are in perfect health at all times.

Fourteen years of nursing has given Nursing Sister Smith an adequate background of experience with most of the minor ailments which have afflicted the show's personnel to date. Graduating from Toronto Western Hospital in 1929, Miss Smith was a private nurse in Toronto for several years, and for six months prior to the outbreak of war was employed at London Clinic, London, England, where the Duchess of York and Barbara Hutton were among the patients.

Girl Guide News

The 1st Charlottetown Brownie Pack closed on June 4th with a visit from the Brownie Commissioner, Miss Lillian Ducharme. An enrollment was held by the Commissioner who took each Brownie to the Magic Roadstool to repeat her Brownie Promise, standing on her hands and feet. Marybeth Harris and Stella Pickering and Elizabeth Lewis then received their Golden Bars from the Commissioner who congratulated them on their hard work.

Service Stars were also given to the Brownies, a star for each year since they were enrolled. Suzanne Palmer, Helen Holman, Carol Green, and Barbara Rupert, Marybeth Harris all received their second star.

Stella Pickering and Winnifred Hill received their first star.

Constance and Sadie McKarris received their three year star, which is larger than the one year star.

Mary Patelakis received her fourth star.

Inspection was taken by the Commissioner who seemed very pleased to see such neat and tidy uniforms. The Brownies were inspected for cleanliness and neatness. Hair, fingernails, also a reef knot in the back of their Brownie tie, as well as the neat and tidy uniforms. The meeting closed with a Magic Squeeze started by the Commissioner. As the squeeze came to each Brownie she opened her eyes and showed her Brownie Smile and the Commissioner had quite a job picking out the best Brownie Smile. Taps were sung and the Brownies closed for the summer.

My Brownies have covered a lot of water thanks to busy interested MOTHERS and by very industrious Brownies working by themselves as we had no Tawny Owl this year. I wish to say "Thank you Brownies" and all for the work you've done and an especially BIG THANK YOU to the Commissioner, Miss Ducharme for her grand visit.

We're very sorry that she can't be found to visiting us more often.

Sincerely,
BROWN OWL (Bessie Thornton).

Suggest Food 'Czar' For U.S.

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—Bi-Partisan Legislative leaders urged President Roosevelt today to appoint a food "Czar" for the United States—and reportedly received in return an executive proposal that Congress provide from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 to subsidize a rollback in prices to consumers.

Spurred by fears of a canned food shortage Senator Walter George (Dem.-Ga.) said a group of five Senators and four House members urged Mr. Roosevelt to centralize in one agency the final authority over production, distribution, preservation, rationing and prices of Agricultural commodities.

There were suggestions that this power be invested either in Food Administrator Chester Davis or War Mobilization Director James P. Byrnes, acting senate democratic leader, said Byrnes objected to any such course.

Byrnes, present at the White House conference, was represented as contending that creation of an over-riding authority would be likely to result in the rationing of present food price ceilings and production and rationing activities.

—an outcome George said appeared inevitable unless subsidies are applied.

In this connection President Roosevelt was said to have urged that Congress act soon to provide subsidies for a price rollback. This would be done through support from organized labor but was attacked before the senate banking committee today by farm organization leaders Edward A. O'Neal of the Farm Bureau Federation told the committee that labor's demands for subsidies constitute "a thinly disguised effort to secure another unwarranted increase in wages."

Former Minister Reviews Farm Policies

The Guardian had a pleasant visit recently from Mr. W. H. Dennis, former Minister of Agriculture. His vacation for the last two or three weeks seems to have renewed his youth and he is now feeling well again.

Mr. Dennis stated that when he took over the department he decided that drastic changes had to be made in the farmers were to receive consideration for their work in supporting the war effort. "We centered our attention on carrying products and in 1942 our butter increase was 33%," he said. "Our cheese increase was 40%." We organized a cooperative cheese board whereby all the cheese made in the Province would be sold to our Department; the Department paying the cost in connection with same. We created credit in one of the banks of $40,000,000 to finance the cheese board. We also paid $3572,000 for trucks and storage.

"One of the important expenditures of our Department was in connection with youth training for which we paid $2,636,000.

Realizing that much of our land was sour and needed ground limestone we spent $1,461,000 as bonus on freight to ground limestone, paying $1.20 per ton bonus on same.

"In 1941 the Department paid the farmers of the province $10,400,000 bonus on hogs.

"We also gave a credit to each new Cooperative that was starting of $50,000.

"Our brooder-house policy, I think, was one of the most popular movements that we inaugurated. We paid one-half the cost of a brooder stove to anyone building a brooder-house that complied with the specifications as laid down by the office. As a result, there were 465 brooder-houses erected which will add many thousands to the hen population of the Province.

"In regard to the bee industry, we undertook to pay express charges on all bee and bee equipment and last year there were seventeen tons of honey gathered by the bees. Apart from the intrinsic value of the honey there is the added advantage of the production of the fruits, flowers and vegetables.

"The wool clip of the Province was handled by one department cooperatively for the Cooperative Wool Growers of Canada with offices in Toronto. Our Department handled $4,288,000 worth of wool.

"With a hope of promoting the sheep industry we paid a bonus of $2.00 per ewe on new flocks, paying in total $400,000.

"We succeeded, after very strenuous work with the Hon. James G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, in having the Dominion Government pay all freight on feed grain, lessening the cost by $8.40 per ton.

"The West Prince Creamery Association had found that it could not carry on last season, and as there were five hundred cream patrons depending on this plant we took over the plant and operated it in the interest of the patrons.

"A Tyne Valley cheese factory was purchased and operated and we deposited $300,000 in their local bank to enable them to pay for milk and running expenses until they sold their cheese.</
