expected of an institution of the size was being done. They were dealing with botany, agriculture and chemistry—not one of these subjects unnecessary. So much in regard to the academic work of the institution.

PREPARATION OF TEACHERS.

The College was also their provincial Normal School, in which the teachers for the public schools were prepared. The preparation of these teachers was a matter of very great importance. The teachers of the province, he said, had hitherto received an altogether inadequate remuneration for their services, and the Government, realizing that they could not very well put the emphasis they would wish upon the professional training of the teachers, had remedied matters, so that in the last two years they had a very material improvement in regard to teachers' salaries. The Premier was alive to the importance of the matter, and it was engaging his serious attention at the present time as to the way in which those salaries could be still further increased. (Cheers.) Dr. Robertson's next remarks concerned the Model School, its efficient staff of six, the excellent work they were carrying on, etc. They had in the school six teachers of the very highest standard. The Doctor concluded his address by referring to the work of the graduating students and the success they had achieved.

Professor Barlow sang an excellent solo, after which the distribution of medals, prizes and certificates took place. The following is the Honour List:

rence River. Special praise was given by the passengers to the heroic work of Dr. J. E. Grant, of Victoria, B. C., the ship's surgeon. It was estimated that by his coolness and authority over the survivors he managed to save a large number who were taken out of the water but who would have perished had they not received prompt medical attention. Mention is also made of the open-hearted hospitality of the French Canadian people at Rimouski. Appreciation is expressed for the way in which the Intercolonial Railway sent down a special relief train. The Government will hold an investigation into the cause of the wreck.

APPALLING DISASTER

Fears were felt for the safety of Ensign White, of this city, who was on his way to England via Montreal, to attend a convention of the Salvation Army and who, it was thought, might have taken passage on the ill-fated steamer. The following telegram received by his wife last night dispels this fear, while it throws a lurid light on the fate of the other Salvation Army officers who were bound for the same destination. MONTREAL, May 29.—Mrs. Ensign White, Salvation Army, Charlottetown:—Arrived at 9.30. Am heart-stricken at the news of the terrible disaster. Out of 175 officers 22 are reported saved. Am sending a letter giving full particulars. Keep brave, Fred.

The Empress of Ireland and the Empress of Britain were sister ships. The former was built in 1906 at Govan, Scotland at the cost of $2,000,000. She was 8,028 tons net, 14,491 tons gross, with a horsepower of 18,000. Of 36 feet in length, she was 65 feet broad and with a depth of hold of 36 feet. She was a twin screw steamer, of exceptional and high-class passenger accommodation, being fitted out in the most commodious and luxurious fashion, and equipped with all the most modern appliances and ship-building improvements. She had accommodation for 350 first-class cabin passengers, 35 second-class cabin and 1,000 third class.

From Messrs. W. K. Rogers & Co. the C. P. R. agents in this city, a Guardian representative, who yesterday made inquiries as to whether there were any Islanders that booked passages on the ill-fated Empress of Ireland, learned with gratification that so far as the Charlottetown agency was concerned their were no bookings for the Empress from this island. But there is this reservation to be made, there might have been Islanders on board booked in other places. There was a rumour current about the city yesterday that among the Empress's passengers were two daughters of Chief Justice Sullivan, but this, it is learned, is not so. The two ladies came out from the Old Country on the Empress while the vessel was lost, she was on her way back to England. In fact, the ladies are now safe in Ottawa.

It is feared that at least one Islander was on board the ship. Mr. Smith, of Messrs Black & Co., Sunnyside, yesterday informed a representative of the Guardian that his brother, Mr. Allyn L. Smith and his wife were to have left Quebec by the Empress, and he thought it probable that the couple were on board. Mr. Allyn Smith is a Salvation Army Officer and if it be true that he was on the vessel, was one of the 450 delegates on their way to London, where a special convention is to be held some time in June.

At a late hour this morning The Guardian received a list of the survivors, missing, and identified dead compiled from all available sources, which time and space prevent publication. The majority are Canadians, while many are from Great Britain. There are no P. E. Islanders listed. Dr. Alex Lindsay, Halifax, is listed with "First-class Cabin Missing."

Let the Vacuum Cleaner

Clean for You.

It will clean your rugs--your mattresses--your parlor furniture, couches, etc, and will clean them CLEAN.

The powerful suction draws out every particle of dust--removes the sand and grit--the moth eggs, etc. The Vacuum Cleaner will remove more dirt in an hour than a man can beat out in a day.

We clean the rugs right where they are. It isn't necessary to take them up--or to move furniture. The cleaner makes absolutely no dust--but it certainly does remove a surprising lot.

It is operated by an experienced man and costs $1.00 per hour while working. Phone us and we will put your name down--and you'll avoid disappointment.
