Gene Autrey At Capitol

'KING OF THE COWBOYS' HAS FEATURED ROLE IN "MANHATTAN MERRY-GO ROUND"

That sensationally popular yodeling cowboy, the one and only Gene Autrey, has a featured role in the Capitol Theatre's hit picture, "Manhattan Merry - Go-Round," which starts to-day. Joe DiMaggio, the home-run kind, is in it, too, as is one of the "Three Mesquiteers," Max Terhune, complete with his dummy, "Elmer."

In addition, "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round" stars Phil Regan, the golden-voiced tenor, Miss Ann Dvorak and features such glittering personalities as Henry Armetta, Tamara Geva, James Gleason, Leo Carrillo, Cab Calloway and his Orchestra, Ted Lewis and his Orchestra, and Kay Thompson and her Radio Choir.

The story is based on the difficulties of some gangsters who gain control of a recording company. Judging from advance reports, "Manhatan Merry-Go-Round" is a cinema "must."

"Y" Again "Carries On" For Soldiers

An early activity in the history of the Canadian Y. M. C. A. was related to the Military Summer Training Camps throughout various parts of the country. Such activity and experience in serving Canadian soldiers led to the military establishment of the Canadian Y. M. C. A. comparatively early in the period of the World War for service on behalf of our Expeditionary Forces in Canada; England and France. Great Britain, New Zealand, Australia and the United States likewise through their respective Y. M. C. A. organizations carried on extensive services on behalf of the troops in Europe, Mesopotania and the training camp and hospital areas in Great Britain.

With the gracious co-operation of Lt.-Col. C. C. Thompson and Major T. B. Rogers our local association is providing recreational facilities for the troops camped in Victoria Park and the Ordinance Grounds.

A marque tent, electrically lighted and furnished with tables and chairs is visited by numerous soldiers from day to day. As the appointments of the tent and its accommodations become better known, the number of frequenters is growing.

Magazines, newspapers, writing materials, note paper, envelopes, checkers, dominoes and radio are at the disposal of the troops without charge. Mr. Keir McLeod is tent attendant on behalf of the Y. M. C. A. The service being given will be continued until the close of the camp. The Y. M. C. A. expresses, through the General Secretary N. E. Luck, its appreciation of the concert played last Tuesday evening by Adjutant Lynch and his band of the Salvation Army. Weather permitting the band will play again on Tuesday the 19th inst. at 7:30 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A. tent, Victoria Park.

Artillery And Legion Join In Church Parade

Militia units in camp at Charlottetown participated in church parade yesterday. In addition to the Prince Edward Island Highlanders in command of Lieut. Col. C. C. Thompson, the 21st Field Ambulance, R. C. A. M. C., under Lieut. Col. J. J. Blake, No. 6 District Signals, R. C. C. S., in charge of Capt. D. N. Bell all undergoing annual training here the 1st. Medium Brigade, R. C. A., under Major George Craig and members of the Charlottetown Command, Canadian Legion, B. E. S. L., under President James Walker took part in the parade.

Roman Catholic members of the units attended mass at St. Dunstan's Basilica while the remainder proceeded to King Square where a military church service was conducted by chaplains, Rev. Canon M. E. Malone and Major the Rev. R. Moorhead Legate, D. D.

Route of march from Victoria Park was by way of the Park Roadway and Kent, Pownal, Queen and Richmond Streets to the Great George Street intersection when the Roman Catholic troops turned off to the Basilica while the others continued on to Weymouth Street thence to the Square. After service the return march was made by Hillsborough Street to Grafton where at the Prince Street intersection the Roman Catholic members of the units "fell in" and the procession continued back to camp.

company the yacht to the shore of France. Outside Boulogne, drawn up in two rows will be the 10 warships which will fire a royal salute of 101 guns.

The King and Queen will be received by Boulogne authorities at the quay and will board a special royal train immediately, bound for Paris.

The Grenadier Guards band, bringing the color and music of England to French shores for the royal visit, debarked at Boulogne today and attended a civic luncheon. It will provide music as the King and Queen land and will give a number of concerts in Paris during the royal visit.

As all France waited the opportunity to give the King and Queen a rousing welcome, Havas News Agency stated the visit will emphasize in the opinion of high French circles, that in a Europe in which there has been constant danger of war for months, Great Britain and France stand solidly together, "consecrated to the task of maifntaining peace."

The visit takes on added importance, Havas said, coinciding as it does with reports reaching Paris that or the past month 200,000 Nazi laborers, torn from their work on the German speedway systems, have been pushing feverishly ahead on a system of fortifications along France's Rhine frontier.

ket taker.

"Just as he extended his hand to present his ticket to be punched," the ticket taker said later, "he threw his hands up in the air, his knees gave way under him, and he fell forward upon his face with a crash. His glasses were smashed."

Subway attendants called a policeman who took him to a nearby emergency hospital. He was pronounced dead on arrival.

Thus ended one of the most spectacular careers in the modern world of business and finance and adventure. Insull as a 20-year-old English clerk, went to the United States in 1880, worked for a time with the late Thomas A. Edison, and then went to Chicago to build one of the world's great financial structures.

In 1932, after Insull amassed a personal fortune estimated at $100,000,000, his empire collapsed, and he fled to Europe as embezzlement proceedings were started against him and his brother Martin, who moved to Orilla, Ont. Insull eventually returned to face trial and was acquitted, but his ruling days were over.

At the emergency hospital the frail old man was identified by a laundry bill, the only thing he carried with his once-famous name upon it. In his pocket he had only 30 francs—84 cents. Insull arrived in Paris last Monday, having sailed from Montreal on the liner Ascania. The vessel ran aground in the St. Lawrence and Insull with other passengers transferred to another ship.

The remarkable career that saw Insull rise from an office boy in England to head of the great Chicago financial machine, came to a dramatic climax in 1932 when the structure collapsed.

In 1934 Insull, then in his 74th. year, fled to Greece and then Turkey in an attempt to escape extradition.

Seized by Turkish policemen he soon thereafter was sent back to Chicago to face trial. There he and 16 associated were tried and acquitted of federal charges of using the mails to defraud. Later he was cleared of bankruptcy fraud charges. Finally he and his brother Martin, the "crown prince" of his empire, were tried and acquitted on state charges of embezzlement.

Supposedly without wealth now, he retired to the background, was seldom seen in public. Besides Mrs. Insull, he left a son, Samuel Insull, Jr., of Chicago.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The morning service was taken by Rev. Lewis Murray of Trinity Church, Charlottetown. Mr. Murray's thoughtful sermon was "The danger of leaving Christ out." Basing his thought on St. John 12:21 22, Mr. Murray recapitulated the story of the Greeks, perhaps traders, perhaps visitors, who at Jerusalem came to St. Philip with the request "we would see Jesus."

Greeks, throwing aside their national superiority, their prejudice and pride of race and religion, seeking for the truth, heard of the wonderful teacher of Galilee, with his spiritual message of the Kingdom of God, his wonderful words and works and "would see Jesus."

The Material age in which we find ourselves, too often creates a barrier to our clear sight of Jesus. That race prejudice which turns humanity into groups and race, turns religion into religions is a tremendous difficulty in the way toward seeing truly, appraising justly. Divesting ourselves of all that stands between, we must see Jesus, we must up courageously to his stanards, his teaching. There is no revelation of the Most High to him who will not allow his prejudices to be disturbed.

Today we are invited to see Jesus for ourselves, to know him to accept him. It is fatal to leave him out of our lives. In him alone is the true revelation of the heart of the Father.

Miss Evelyn Wood sang in fine voice and with notable expression "Beautiful City of Light."

At the evening service "Hymns and Hymn stories" formed the message, with the Rev. H. L. Denton telling the story that lies behind some of the loved hymns of all churches, the hymns discussed being sung by the choir and congregation. Miss Berna Huestis sang Oley Speaks' Let not your heart be troubled, very tunefully and impressively.

The afternoon service, at Marshfield in the open air on the Church Camp ground was addressed eloquently by the Rev. G. C. Webster, Minister of Zion Church.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

Rev. Lewis N. Murray conducted both services at Trinity and Rev. Hugh Miller preached. The morning sermon was based on the incident of Isaac digging the wells his father Abraham dug, which the Philistines filled with rubbish that conveniently came to hand. The incident is a fact of history but such facts may be illuminating to us. The late Dr. Jawett stated that on preparing his sermons he asked himself how the great preachers would approach the text. How would Jesus approach this text. He would use it as a parable as well as a fact of history. He would speak, as He frequently did, of the deep, abiding truths of life, springs that satisfy the longings of the soul. The water of life was a favorite phrase with Him. He taught that all who would come would find it in Him. He also taught that each had to dig for himself. It is not a gamble, the springs are there. All who seek shall find.

We are guilty of permitting some of the wells our fathers dug to become choked with the rubbish of life. Three were named, Home, Sacrifice, the observance of the Lord's day. The plea was made for family altar and parents more faithful religious education of their children. Sacrifice must have a greater place in our religion. We sacrifice time, energy and means to the gods of the world and the left-overs, if any are given to Church and region. Sabbath desecration is rampant and increasing. The day is used for work that can as easily be done during the week. A return to the ways of our fathers would result in more satisfied, rested and successful life. The Church must save the day, from the forces that would make it a day of pleasure and gain.

At the morning service Mrs. William Matheson, soprano soloist of St. Andrews United Church, Sydney gave an inspiring rendering of the solo "How beautiful upon the mountains"—by Harker. Mr. A. R. Kendall presided at the organ.

O Victor

All prase to Thee, Thou King of Saints
For the ressurrection of the just,
All thanks to Thee, Thou Holy One,
For the meek Mother given to us,
Who, in Thee did place her trust.

All praise to Thee Lord Jesus Christ
That she to Thy Body belongs;
The Holy Church of God: whom in Sincerity and Truth sing forth
Thy praise and songs;
By Faith washed in Thy Precious Blood;
Taught and sanctified by Thy Holy Ghost and quickened by Thy Word:
Dear Mother rests with Father until
They hear the sweetest call their Ears have ever heard:
