Mr. Borden to Independent Liberals: 'I appeal to the thoughtful and independent Liberals in this national crisis, at this parting of the ways. I appeal to them that this night an almost imperceptible tie may be strengthened and not weakened. Whatever party name we bear our hearts are in the cause of Canadian unity and British connection. Many of you are the descendants of those pioneers and Loyalists who surrendered without a murmur all their earthly possessions for the sake of the flag they honored and the allegiance they treasured. Their memories forbid you to be indifferent in this struggle. And they to whom the heritage of Canada is to be committed after you have fulfilled your allotted task, they also are calling you to be on guard and to fail not. For, as Burke has said, 'The nation is indeed a partnership, but a partnership not only between those who are living but between those who are living, those who are dead and those who are yet to be born.'—Mr. Borden at London.

APPLAUSE FOR SIR WILFRID GROWING SCARCER. The Montreal Herald, Liberal, referring to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's recent visit to that city, says: "Sir Wilfrid's visit to Montreal was as usual very quiet. There was no attempt to catch the public eye, no opportunist effort to enhance the popularity of his personality. Oh, yes. But it was not ever thus. Formerly Sir Wilfrid did not lose opportunity to 'catch the public eye' and get applause. Now that the applause is not forthcoming he moves about very quietly.

PLAIN TRUTHS FOR CANADIANS. (Mt. Clemens Monitor, Michigan.) The outcome of the whole business, if reciprocity is ratified by the Canadians—and it may be at the general election which will decide the question—will be annexation. The friends and foes of reciprocity in this country would send up a unanimous shout of welcome if the whole of Canada would come right into the union. That's where it belongs, and is likely to be.

HON. CLIFFORD SIFTON. "I hope and trust that there are many thousands of Liberals in Canada who are patriotic enough to put country before party and stand by our true national interests."—Hon. Clifford Sifton, former member of Laurier Government, now Chairman of Commission for the Conservation of Canada's Natural Resources.

A FEW FACTS ABOUT FARM ENGINES

With Special Reference to the Ideal Horizontal, Hopper Cooled Engine, Sold by Bruce Stewart & Co. Ltd. of This City

The Guardian in an ably written article, recently printed, has shown the gasoline engine for farm use would be utilized by every wide-awake farmer. The writer said in part: "The demand for mechanical power on the farm is rapidly growing and to meet this demand the gasoline engine is ideal." The writer was right, for the gasoline engine is ideal and the Ideal is the gasoline engine that all thrifty farmers are now buying. It is the Bruce Stewart & Co. Ltd. and his fair to equal on land the achievements the famed Imperial has wrought on the water. The Ideal stationary engine will thresh the grain, chop or grind the feed for stock, saw up all your wood, you could ever use, turn the grindstone for sharpening tools, pump water and serve as a farm fire engine or pump water for irrigate purposes.

It is equal to a hundred hired men, never sleeps or threatens to leave on Saturday night, consumes little fuel and lives on good hard work—the Ideal better, and you won't catch the Ideal hitting with your neighbor's daughter when you want to thresh the grain. Besides doing so much work itself the Ideal will help you to do more. It acts as a pace-maker that helps you do twice as much work as you did before, without extra exertion or overtime.

The Ideal is a horizontal, hopper cooled engine that is made to stand all the wear, use and work of ordinary farm labor. It is a good solid well-built engine that won't let the weather interfere with its good work, rain or shine, hot or cold—you get the same superior satisfaction. Here's a few of its features that have especially appealed to all up-to-date farmers. Hopper cooled—only takes a bucket of water—no pipes or pumps to freeze up in cold weather. Perfect Governor—speed can be changed when running. Valves in Gages—can be removed without taking cylinder head off. Double Exhaust—keeps cylinder clean and prevents warping of valves.

Gasoline Tank in Base—no danger from leakage. Make and Break Spark Ignitor easily removed. Crank and Connecting Rod solid forged steel—not malleable cast. Phosphor Bronze Bearings—adjustable to take up wear. Every man who wishes to secure the profits that modern methods bring should see an Ideal engine in operation or write for a free catalog to Bruce Stewart & Co. Ltd., Charlottetown. They'll give you any information you desire regarding this famous farm engine.

CHARLOTTETOWN AND QUEEN'S COUNTY

It pays to buy in this Province. L. G. Wear who has been visiting in this city left yesterday for Montreal. A. E. McEachern, City, returned from a fishing trip east yesterday afternoon. Rev. Dr. McMillan, Cardigan, was a passenger to this city yesterday afternoon.

Dr. N. W. Leard of Jersey City, N. Y., is visiting his home in Trvon. Mrs. Urquhart of Toronto is the guest of A. J. and Mrs. McLaine, Prince Street. J. A. Webster, City, was a passenger returning from the East yesterday afternoon.

A. A. McDonald, barrister and W. R. McLachlan, of Charlottetown, are at the Halifax—Halifax Exchange. Miss Hattie M. Hodgson, City, leaves by this morning's express for New York City where she will visit her sister, Mrs. J. S. Cookson.

Among the arrivals on the Northumberland last night was H. F. Ellis, Accountant, Royal Bank of Canada, Bridgewater, N. S., who will spend a short holiday in this city the guest of H. G. Lyons, of the Royal Bank of this city.

The little ten year old son of John Power, of the Charlottetown Steam Navigation Co., sustained some slight injuries about the face yesterday afternoon by a fall from a ladder at the Notre Dame Convent. He is doing fine and is pleased to know from more serious injuries.

S. H. and Mrs. Lewis, Sydney, arrived in the city last night on the express. Mr. Lewis is a member of the mechanical staff of the Sydney Record, and has been spending a vacation in this province, accompanied by Mrs. Lewis. He visited this city three years ago and spent a holiday here then, but has not revisited the Garden Province since. He leaves this morning on return to Sydney.

The concert at Government House on Monday evening in aid of the Free Dispensary proved to be more successful in a financial point of view than had been expected. It is understood that the gross proceeds amounted to very nearly $100, from which some $8 for expenses would be deducted in the ordinary course. One of the ladies who took a prominent part in the evening's entertainment, named generously contributed the amount of the outlay for expenses, thus leaving the full $100 to be placed to the credit of The Dispensary fund. Great credit is due to all concerned for the splendid result.

The concert given by the Highland Band from Nova Scotia in the Caledonia Hall last evening was indeed a novel one and splendidly rendered. The pipe music under Major Baillie was superb and numerous encores were called for. The singers were Misses McArthur and Blanchard, both of whom possess charming voices. The gentlemen soloists were also in good voice. Major Baillie is very musical and besides the pipes, he played the violin and the guitar to the satisfaction of all. Mrs. G. Brown presided at the piano in a graceful manner. A hearty vote of thanks was passed by Major McDonald, who said he would do all in his power to help organize a Highland Band in this city. The concert was seconded by John McPhee and tendered to Capt. Baillie by Mr. Paton. The pleasing entertainment closed with the National Anthem.

The People's Theatre put on a "middle-of-the-week" change of program last night which certainly was hard to beat—from any standpoint. The Vitagraph Comedy, The Troubles of Secretaries, was without doubt a laugh taker right from the start—and the favorite performers got applause which would have been present had they only have been present to have listened. A Novel Experiment was rather an innovation in the experimental line—but the Selig people surely did themselves proud in their dramatization of a most interesting piece, The Redemption of Rawhide near a Kailash production of the thrills which characterize their western subjects—and the reformation of the principal character lacked nothing of completeness or thoroughness. Ralph Fischer in his new illustrated song and final rendering of the national appreciation, and numerous recitals. The music—it is always splendid—and the audiences were unanimous in unstinted commendation of the cheapest and best show they had ever seen.

Horace and Mrs. McEwen and Miss Evelyn McEwen, City, returned on the Northumberland last evening after a visit to Halifax and other Nova Scotian points. THE DECLINE OF CANADIAN SHIPPING. The diagram reproduced on this page has been drawn to show how the Canadian Mercantile Marine stands at the present time. The sailing vessel in the upper diagram shows the amount of shipping owned in the country in 1878, and 1910 is represented by the steamship. The former date saw our Mercantile Marine at its zenith, with over 1,300,000 tons on the register—mostly sailing vessels owned in the Maritime Provinces, while 1910—the age of the steamship—sees us with a little over 718,000 tons. The lower diagram illustrates the decline of sailing vessels at the present time, as compared with the steamship. Canada has about 3,300 steamers on the Register, totalling some 520,000 tons, and over 4,000 sailing vessels, aggregating 200,000 tons. For the large increase in steamship tonnage over sail, the inland waters claim the highest tonnage registered—Ontario having over 1,500 vessels amounting to a tonnage of 208,652 net tons. Nautical journals are giving a great deal of space at the present time to the much discussed question of foreign seamen employed on board vessels flying the British flag, and an appeal to several shipping owners, who have been in the habit of signing on foreigners, has invariably brought the reply that they found Scandinavians, Germans and Asiatics made better crews, owing to their tractability, obedience to orders and general industry. The British sailor hurt his reputation when the Merchant Shipping Act prescribed for his welfare, as instead of respecting the benefits given him by the Act, he took advantage of it, and by constantly leaving the masters and officers, made himself objectionable. This probably led to his ultimate exclusion from many classes of ships and caused the willing Dutchman, Dago, Lascar and Chinaman to be employed on deck and in the stoke-hold, as his stead. Upon the better class of steamers and liners the crew are almost always British, and invariably the best of their kind, but on the tramp and long voyage steamer the representatives of all nations will be found in the foc'sle, besides a large percentage among the masters and officers. Upon vessels in the East, Eastern and Indian trades are to be found Lascars and Chinamen to a large extent. They can work better in the tropics than the Britisher, and for less pay, but lately, Asiatic crews have been making themselves objectionable by default, and subjecting the masters and owners of the vessels to heavy fines under excluded alien acts. Several charges of mutiny and insubordination are being laid at the Chinese seaman's door, while general uselessness and cowardice is charged against the Lascar. And so it goes on. German war scares led shipowners to keep a watchful eye on the Germans they were employing as officers and crews aboard their ships, and not long ago the United States Navy discharged all Japanese stewards, leaving vessels of the fleet. The only solution to the question seems to be for the mercantile marine of every flag to employ seamen of their own nationality, and the only way to get men to go to sea is to make the profession of able seamen, fireman, trimmer, etc., as remunerative, well-paid and as comfortable as the condition of the average working man ashore. When that is done going to sea will not be looked down upon as being a last resort, and an open profession for the scum of all nations.
