TRADE WITH NEWFOUNDLAND

As briefly stated, some days ago, in our telegraphic report of the proceedings in the House of Commons, Mr. A. A. McLean, M. P. for Queens brought up the matter of Canada's trade with Newfoundland and the desirability of catering to it. Mr. McLean's remarks followed his enquiry as to whether an application had been made recently to subsidize a line of steamers between Halifax, Charlottetown, Sydney and Southern Newfoundland. He pointed out that the trade with Newfoundland was steadily increasing but he feared it was going into the hands of the Americans rather than of Canadians. Last year the trade of Newfoundland amounted to over $14,000,000 and we had captured only $4,000,000 of it while the United States took $5,000,000 and Great Britain $4,000,000. Mr. McLean, in a forceful speech, emphasized the necessity of subsidizing steamers to foster this trade, as the people there, particularly in Southern Newfoundland needed our manufactured goods our breadstuffs and farm products. The population of Newfoundland is increasing at the rate of 20,000 every ten years, the colony is within a reasonable distance of us and it is of the greatest importance, particularly to the Maritime Provinces, that this trade should be cultivated and that every inducement should be held out to our people to deal with our Newfoundland neighbors.

Hon. George E. Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, in replying to Mr. McLean, stated that there are now five or six services between Canadian ports and Newfoundland, some of which are of a very superior order. The service between Sydney and Port Aux-Basque is one of the best on the coast. Then there is a service between Halifax and Great Britain with a call at St. John's, Newfoundland; a service between Montreal and Newfoundland with a call at Charlottetown and Summerside; two other services running out of Halifax skirting along the southwestern coast of Newfoundland. In addition to these is the proposed new service from Halifax, via Miramichi and touching at Prince Edward Island ports.

Mr. Foster, while emphasizing the importance of the trade with Newfoundland and expressing the intention of the government to help it in every possible way quoted figures to show that it has been steadily increasing. "Our trade in Newfoundland in the last two or three years," said Mr. Foster, "is gaining in competition with the United States. The latter country has, however, a very good service running as far as Halifax, and calling at St. John's which gives them very direct and very prompt service and we have to compete with that."

It is interesting to note here that the total imports of merchandise from Newfoundland during the last year amounted to $2,957,297, an increase of about $250,000 over the preceding year, and the largest in the history of the trade between the two countries. The exports from Canada to Newfoundland amounted to $1,727,717, an increase of $350,000 over the preceding year and the largest in the history of the trade between the two countries. This makes a total trade of $4,685,014. That this trade can be increased almost indefinitely goes without saying. Newfoundland is not an agricultural country. There is a large and rapidly increasing population. They need and will need larger quantities of agricultural products yearly. Even at present Prince Edward Island's trade with the Ancient Colony is very considerable. With more steamship accommodation, with regular calls at our island ports, our farmers would within a few years adapt their farms production to the needs of the Newfoundlanders and work up a most profitable business.

It is especially desirable to get this trade established now on a wide basis as possible for the Ancient Colony is not always going to stand aloof from Canada. Some day, and it may not be far distant, Newfoundland will be a province of Canada. With free trade established, it will be very much more valuable to Prince Edward Island and to the rest of the Maritime provinces than now. It is gratifying therefore that the government is doing so much and ready to do more to provide the best possible service.

SCHOOL STATISTICS

In a census bulletin just published a number of interesting school statistics are given from which we glean the following:

In the year 1911 Prince Edward Island had 1 school to every 196 of the total population, Nova Scotia had 1 to every 185, New Brunswick had 1 to every 186, Quebec had 1 to every 290, Ontario had 1 to every 345, Manitoba had 1 to every 195, Saskatchewan 1 to every 232, Alberta 1 to every 269 and British Columbia 1 to every 736 of the population at June 1st, 1911. Basing the computations on the number of teachers to the number of persons between the ages of 6 to 16, Prince Edward Island had 1 teacher to every 39 children, Nova Scotia 1 to every 41, New Brunswick 1 to every 43, Quebec 1 to every 38, Ontario 1 to every 42, Manitoba 1 to every 26, Saskatchewan 1 to every 28, Alberta 1 to every 39 and British Columbia 1 teacher to every 50 children of this age. Quebec and Ontario show the greatest percentage for children 7 to 14 years of age attending school for more than six months, being 76.47 per cent of the total number in Quebec and 74.43 per cent in Ontario. In the Maritime provinces, the percentage ranges from 64.24 to 67.90 per cent, and in the Prairie provinces, from 43.76 per cent in Saskatchewan to 61.71 per cent in Manitoba. In British Columbia, the proportion was 67.34 per cent. The Maritime and Prairie provinces show the greatest proportion attending school for from 4 to 6 months in the year. The percentage of pupils from 7 to 14 attending school for any period in 1910 was greater in Prince Edward Island than in any of the other provinces, being 81.60, the next highest being Ontario with a percentage of 84.37, followed by Nova Scotia 82.86, Quebec 80.96, New Brunswick 80.05, the western provinces being considerably lower.

A SUGGESTION

Sir:—Now that the nice summer weather is here again, would it not be in order to ask our City Council what steps have been taken in the matter of having the Band on the Square? Last year, it will be remembered, it was about the latter part of July before a band was secured for those much-looked-for entertainments, owing to some misunderstanding between the parties interested. I think that if put to a vote, the citizens of Charlottetown would be unanimous in their request that the band commence about the first of June. Would it not be advisable that the City Council act in this direction, thus avoiding the delay which took place last year? I am, Sir, etc., ENTHUSIAST.

Even the Smallest Classified "Ad" Is In No Danger of "Getting Lost"--- Because CLASSIFICATION Builds a Straight Road to it For Every Reader of This Newspaper!

The shortest name is as easy to find, in the Telephone Directory, as is the longest, CLASSIFICATION DOES IT!

The "littlest ads" might have, indeed, a sorry time to make themselves conspicuous if they were not classified. But proper CLASSIFICATION, under the head to which it belongs, makes the task of finding the small "ad" simple and easy—the work of a few minutes, at most.

Every person looking for a furnished or unfurnished room turns to the To Let classification as a matter of course—and, thus the two or three lines "ad" STANDS OUT CONSPICUOUSLY, provided that it contains facts that appeal to the reader.

Every classification of the small "ads" is subject to the same rule. The reader, to whom it carries a message, finds the little "ad" as readily as the big one. But, when found, it should really convey its message—and in this respect the classified advertiser sometimes makes undue economy of words defeat his purpose. To be brief, and still be explicit, is possible—and yet the aim at brevity often obscures the meaning.

Write your message clearly—and it will reach the very people to whom it is addressed.
