--The-- Constitutional Crisis

The constitutional issue is pure political buncombe, designed to divert attention from the King Government's administration of the Customs Department, upon which issue it was ignominiously defeated in the House of Commons.

Here are the vital stubborn facts:

- 1 In September 1925, Mr. King was granted dissolution by His Excellency Lord Byng, on the representation that he must be given a chance to secure a clear working majority. He stated at Richmond Hill that if such a majority was not forthcoming, he would not attempt to carry on.
2 In the old Parliament thus dissolved there has been 234 members, of whom 117 were Liberals, 66 were Progressives or Independents and 51 were Conservatives.
3 In the new Parliament, elected in October, 1925, Mr. Meighen had by far the largest group—almost half the total membership of the House. Out of 245 seats the Conservatives had 116, the Liberals 101, the Progressives 24, Labour 2, and Independents 2.
4 Instead of immediately resigning, as he should have done in view of the ground upon which he had been granted dissolution, Mr. King asked for and was granted leave to carry on, on the assurance that he would leave the fate of his administration to Parliament itself.
5 On Friday, June 25th, three separate motions by so-called independents, in support of which Mr. King's Government marshalled its last ounce of strength, were decisively defeated and the original motion of censure, to which the foregoing had been moved in amendment, was still awaiting decision in Parliament when Mr. King asked His Excellency for dissolution on Monday, June 28th.
6 To have granted Mr. King a dissolution under such circumstances would have been a direct denial of the right of Parliament to pass upon the vote of censure then pending.
7 Following Mr. King's resignation, Parliament by a majority of 10 did actually adopt a direct vote of censure on the King Government, and declared it unworthy of confidence or office.
8 It was Mr. King's refusal to follow British precedent in co-operating with the incoming administration to pass supplies and complete the sessional programme that left Mr. Meighen no alternative but to ask for dissolution.
9 Mr. Meighen followed the same course as that adopted by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1911, when he saw that it was impossible to carry on and abruptly dissolved Parliament.
10 If His Excellency had recalled Mr. King to office, he would have done so in the very face of Parliament's vote of censure.
11 Under Mr. King's interpretation of the constitution a Premier need never resign, but could demand dissolution after dissolution, despite the verdict of Parliament or the electorate, and the Governor General must perforce accept his advice.

This is the story. It calls for no comment--it speaks for itself!

The Conservative Party stands solid as a rock for sound British constitutional practice, the maintenance of the British connection, and the right of Canada to enjoy the blessings of stable Government.

Hair and the Swim. Many women dread to go swimming in the ocean for fear the salt water will turn their hair red. Salt water is very drying, but the salt is a good tonic to the scalp. If you chance to go swimming in the ocean, rinse the salt water out before your hair dries. If the hair is too dry after a salt water swim, rub a little oil into it. To keep your hair from getting wet, if you have a curl you wish to keep, bind a strip of chamois around your head and put your bathing cap on over this. Materials for Curtains and Draperies. Suitable materials for window curtains are: bobbinet, cable net, casement cloth, cotton chaille, cheesecloth, dimity, flit net, gingham, marquisette, scrim and voile. For draperies, the following are appropriate: armure, chints, crash, cotton poplin, rep, and terry cloth.
