Col. Bradley Never Ran Out Of "B" Names

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 15 - (AP) - Col. E. R. Bradley never did run out of "B" names for his famous B-line of horses. The noted racer of thoroughbred champions, who died early today at his Idle Hour farm near Lexington, was making champions out of them since 1915. And since he would average at least 20 to 25 horses a year, it was estimated that close to 700 thoroughbreds had raced under his "B" names and his green-and-white silks. He passed on every name himself. If the names were turned down by the Jockey Club, he tried again with another list of names beginning with "B". Four of the B-liners won the Kentucky Derby for Bradley - Behave Yourself in 1921, Bubbling Over in 1926, Burgoo King in 1932 and Broker's Tip in 1933. The war helped in the selection of recent names, such as B NINETEEN and Bird of War.
