U. S. Steel Output Continues To Climb

CLEVELAND, Jan. 26—(AP)—Steel production has increased to the highest level attained since the war and is headed toward new post-war peaks, the magazine Steel said today.
 Prospects are that a balancing of supply and demand is still some months, the magazine predicting an excess in requirements of flat rolled products, including plates, beyond the secondary market of 1947. Some leaders anticipate that a satisfactory balance in most grades of sheets and strip will not be reached until next year. The supply of alloys is adequate.
 "By virtue of right rationing and various revisions in selling quotas, some producers of major products expect to be fairly well caught up on arrears by the end of this quarter," Steel said. "Practically all of them will be in much better position than at the beginning of the present period, barring strikes, a point on which the industry now is fairly optimistic."
 Producers selling on a quarterly quota basis have begun to set allotments for the second period, and indications are that action will become fairly general in the early future.
 "Meanwhile," the magazine said, pricing policies continue in a state of flux.
 Despite the gas shortage last week which interrupted schedules at some points, steel's estimated national production rate rose one-half point to 91.1.

Slow Trading On N. Y. Stock Market

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—(AP)—The stock market Saturday concluded its second slowest six-session week in nearly two years with apathy and mild irregularity persisting.
 The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off 1/4 of a point at 65.2 and on the week showed a net loss of two-tenths.
 In the short Saturday session Du Pont added 1-4 at 188 on message sales, U.S. Steel 3-8 at 72, 3-8, Youngstown Sheet 1-4 at 65, 3-4, Douglas Aircraft 5-8 at 70, 7-8; Johns-Manville 1-2 at 131, General Motors 3-8 at 56 5-8 and U. S. Rubber 1-4 at 53 3-4. A share ahead were American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, North American, J. C. Penney, Kennecott and American Smelting.
 Santa Fe conceded 1-4 at 90 3-4. Lesser declines were suffered by Bethlehem, Goodyear, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Great Northern, Billmore and Ohio, Pennsylvania Power and Light, Anconda Standard Oil (N.Y.), General Electric, Westinghouse and Philip Morris.
 Canadian issues were firm at the close but Dome Mines and McIntyre each was down 1-4. Canadian Pacific, Eiram Walker, and Distillers Seagram were unchanged.
 Lake shore was off 1-4.

Among recent visitors to Charlottetown were: Mrs. Chester Walker, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Stewart, Miss Nanny George, and Mr. Bernard Batchelder.
 On Friday a car of turnips was loaded on the railway siding by Mr. Earl MacLaren.
 The ice is now pushed from here to Lower Montague and travelling by this route is especially good.
 A large crowd of hockey fans travelled by bus to Montague on Thursday night and attended the game between the Southern Kings All Stars and the Souris Legionaires. Six local players represented Georgetown on the All Stars lineup. In the Southern Kings County League several games which had to be postponed will be played on any available open nights or at the conclusion of the schedule. The standing in points now is Murray Harbour 8, Georgetown 5, and Montague 1, with Murray Harbour and Montague each having played one game more than Georgetown.
 Tickets are now being sold about the town for the Georgetown High School ice sports, which are to be held on Tuesday, 28th. It is hoped the ticket sellers will encounter generous support from the citizens, as the proceeds are for a worthwhile cause.

Friends of Mrs. Nettie Ross are sorry to hear that she is a patient in the Montague Hospital and all hope for a speedy improvement in her health.

To Ban Hapsburgs From Austrian Throne

LONDON, Jan. 26—(AP)—The four-power deputy Foreign Ministers Council has agreed to write into the Austrian peace treaty a permanent veto on any future claim of the Hapsburg dynasty to the non-existent Austrian throne, an American informant said today. The informant said the ban had not been discussed in detail, but it would apply presumably to any aspirant to the crown.

New Gadget Inflates Tires, Puts Out Fires

(By The Associated Press)
DETROIT, Jan. 26—A new automobile accessory that will put out a fire or inflate tires is announced by the Ford Motor Company. The new gadget, a small cylinder called an "emergency tire and fire unit," contains 10 ounces of carbon dioxide under pressure. This is said to be sufficient to put out an oil or gas fire or inflate three average size tires.

Canadian Medal of Honour Men

 under fire near the enemy's lines. Although serving as an orderly at the time, and not in a fighting capacity, Robert F. Doda, headmaster of the gallant fire pouring into the hundreds of struggling Federal soldiers trapped in and near the crater of the ill-fated mine at Petersburg, Virginia, voluntarily carried a number of wounded men from the scene of the battle.
 Many of the earlier citations are not very glowing, and the short and terse statement, "Gallantry in action," does not reveal the actual deed for which the Medal was forthcoming. However, such is the reason given for the decoration of three Canadian cavalrymen in various campaigns in Arizona. They were John Kilmartin at Whetstone Mountain, Herbert Mahers at Seneca Mountain, and Musher A. Harding at Chiricahua Mountains.
 For bravery in actions against the Indians in Arizona from August to October 1886, George G. Wortman of Moncton, N. B., and Thomas Gay, of Prince Edward Island, were decorated, while James Anderson received his Medal with the star-studded blue ribbon for gallantry during the pursuit of some Indians, and the flight which followed, at Wichita River, Texas, two years later.
 Many years have passed since the earlier Canadian Medal of Honour men received their awards for valor. In both World Wars there were of course, far fewer men from the North serving in the United States Army than the 70,000 who fought in the Civil War. But in the service of their own native land they have established imperishable records and have been honoured by other decorations for service no less meritorious, no less valorous, than those for which their predecessors as Canadian men-at-arms received the Congressional Medal of Honour.

Submersible Canoe

Up From War's Secret Depths
 Pictures Reveal the Story of British Heroism
 By Lone Men Under the Sea in Enemy Waters

In this underwater photograph taken in a calm sea, Britain's submersible canoe has just completely submerged. Smallest underwater craft in the world, it had a range of 30 to 40 sea miles at a speed of 3 1-2 knots. Its pilot, shown ready for duty at right, wears rubber suit and oxygen apparatus.

By NEA Foreign Service
LONDON, Jan. 21—(NEA)—The story of Britain's "fighting canoe-men"—a wartime epic buried in secrecy and often submerged in enemy waters—was revealed for the first time today.
 In a strange craft officially known as the M. S. C. (motorized submersible canoe), these lone men did their fighting under the sea at night attacking ships in enemy harbors.
 These exclusive pictures show how the "canoe-men" went into action.
 Not only the canoe, but the men themselves, had to be fitted out for underwater operation. The pilot, whose head and shoulders projected from the tiny cockpit, wore a rubber suit and oxygen breathing apparatus.
 Great human endurance was required of the canoe-man. He and his craft were carried into enemy waters on the deck of a motor torpedo boat, or in a conventional submarine. Then he set out on his mission, always working at night, sometimes forced to remain in his tiny boat for 10 to 12 hours.
 The M. S. C., only 12 feet 8 inches long with a 27-inch beam, could be partially flooded by means of valves and travel with only the pilot's head above water, or it could be completely submerged. In 50 feet of water, it could loop-the-loop.
 Although the assignment to man the submersible canoe was a life and death hazard for those who could meet the rigid physical requirements, young men waited in line to volunteer for the epic job.

Cruising on the surface of the English channel, the underwater canoe looks as innocent as a tiny speedboat on a holiday outing.
 Puzzle: Find the canoe. In Mediterranean camouflage, an M. S. C. plot shows how he could sneak up on an anchored enemy vessel.
