WEATHER FORECAST—February weather forecast is: 1 to 4, opens fair and frosty; 5 to 11, turns colder; with light snow falls; 12 to 18, clear and cold, probably some snow; 19 to 25, turns milder with light falls of snow; 26 to 28, cloudy with rain.

FAREWELL GIFT—A very pleasant evening was spent at the Protestant Orphanage, on Monday evening, Jan. 23rd, when the Ladies' Aid of Mount Herbert United Church held a special meeting, and made a presentation of a purse to one of their most valued members, Miss Bessie MacKenzie, prior to her departure for the P. E. Island Hospital, which institution she is about to enter to train for a nurse. Miss MacKenzie, who has been the faithful and efficient teacher at the Orphanage for the past three years, will be greatly missed. Her ever willing assistance in all the social and religious activities of the community has been very much appreciated and the loss thereof will be keenly felt. That Miss MacKenzie will make a successful nurse is a forgone conclusion, for where could one need a sympathetic, sunny disposition more than when ministering to the sick and suffering. Her many friends in Mt. Herbert and vicinity join in extending best wishes for future happiness and success in her new undertaking.

Winnipeg, Jan. 30.—(C.P.)—If Judge Lewis St. George Stubbs was not justified in accepting fees while on the bench then neither were other judges, the County Court Bench today told a commissioner inquiring into charges of alleged judicial misconduct against Judge Stubbs. Action should be taken to have them removed just as it had been taken against him.

Judge Stubbs summed up a day's evidence in his defence before commissioner Mr. Justice Ford with the quotation: "What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

Judges, in accepting these fees for issuing various orders, were acting under the advice of H. A. Bergman, "one of the most able lawyers in Manitoba," the Judge said, "and no one would suggest they were doing wrong except the Attorney-General who is not acting in good faith."

Three years after his department had received information regarding collection of these fees, the Attorney-General "pretended in the legislature he had unearthed a tremendous discovery," said the Judge, "and I shall show later his conduct on the floor of the Legislature was a direct breach of faith with everybody when he made this vicious, malicious attack on me."

He denied accuracy of reports submitted to the Attorney-General by Thomas H. Jones, clerk of the Court, who prepared a list of fees received by the Judge. Also he denied Jones' statement to the Attorney-General that Judge Stubbs' delay in granting applications had brought complaints from lawyers that clients were becoming desperate and important transactions were being delayed.

Jones, the Judge, said had no right to say what fees were collected. He might report how many orders were issued but he didn't know if the accused had received fees for them all. He issued many orders for which he was never paid, the Judge said. Judge Stubbs described Jones as an "officious official tell tale," who "wore out much shoe leather running over to the Parliament buildings to tattle. And all the officials

The younger generation is very apparent in the National Hockey League this season, but they do not have it all their own way, by any means. Veterans, many of them, are holding their own, despite the torrid pace and the strain of such a robust, trying game as hockey.

The following "honor roll" indicates those who have seen 10 seasons or more of consecutive service in the National League:

John Ross Roach, goaler of Detroit. First played professional hockey with the Toronto St. Patricks in 1921. Has played since with New York Rangers and Detroit. Age 32.

Frank "King" Clancy, Toronto left defence player. Played his first professional hockey for Ottawa Senators in 1921-22. Sold to Leafs for $50,000. Age 29.

Aurel Joliat, brilliant left winger of Montreal Canadiens. Joined that club in 1922. Age 31.

Reg. Noble, defence player with Detroit Falcons. Has played major league hockey longer than any other player in the game. First professional engagement with Toronto Arenas-Canadiens in 1916-17. Age 36. (Note: Noble was recently released by Detroit Red Wings, but is now on the Montreal Maroons roster).

Billy Burch, forward, Boston Bruins. Played his first professional hockey with Hamilton Tigers in 1922-23. One of the "original" New York Americans. Age 30.

Lionel Hitchman, defence, Boston Bruins. Played first professional hockey with Ottawa Senators late in the season of 1922-23. Age 30.

Howie Morenz, center, Montreal Canadiens. Played his first professional hockey in the season of 1923. Always with the Canadiens. Age 30.

The above takes into account only the N. H. L. careers of those named. Many others have had even longer professional service.

Bill Cook, star right-winger of New York Rangers, now 34 years old, played his first professional hockey in 1922 with Saskatchewan Sheiks of the Western League.

Frank Boucher, famous play-making center of the Cook-Boucher-Cook Ranger line, now 30 years old, played his first professional hockey in 1921 with Ottawa Senators, then went west and starred in the Pacific Coast loop, a major professional league, for four straight seasons.

George Hainsworth, net-minding star of the Canadiens, played professional hockey from 1922 until 1926 with Saskatoon Sheiks of the Western League. Hainsworth is 34 years old.

Swedish Prince Manager of Advertising Agency

"Tavart-Advertising agents." Behind this bald announcement on an office door lies the romantic story of a Prince who renounced his title and a life of luxury for the sake of the girl he loved.

"Tavart" is the business name of a Stockholm firm which has been established by the 22-year-old Prince of Lennart, who married Karin Nissvandt, the daughter of a Swedish business man, despite the opposition of his grandfather, King Gustav of Sweden.

As a result of his family's attitude he decided to cut adrift and take up a profession.

The name "Tavart" is derived from the last letters of his name, Gustav Lennart. He insists, however, on being called plain Mr. Bernadotte.

Skilful and Efficient

The advertising agency he has founded at present occupies only small offices and his staff consists of himself and three employees.

He does the lay-outs and provides the ideas—work which requires considerable skill and efficiency.

"I am particularly anxious to have a real profession," he said.

The love story of Prince Lennart and his bride was one of the most touching romances of the past decade.

"We are just an ordinary boy and girl very much in love," said the Prince when the engagement was known.

They had met at a party when he was 15 years of age and she 13. Two years later he had made up his mind to marry her despite what he knew would be the opinion of he knew would be opposition from the family.

He was informed that he would have to renounce his Royal Title and privileges if he carried out his intentions, but it made little difference to him. He simply called himself Mr. Bernadotte.

The young couple were married in the simplest manner possible at a London register office.

"Our country has been settled but it is still to be civilized." — Dr. Charles Gray Shaw.

FRED A. FLINT A MASON FOR 72 YEARS

Frederic A. Flint, a native of Woburn, Mass., in early manhood a resident of Charlottetown, P. E. I. and now residing at the Masonic Home in Charlton, Mass., is probably the oldest member of Masonry in the United States. Mr. Flint was born in Woburn May 25, 1837 and received the first degree in Masonry in Victoria Lodge October 25, 1858, received the second degree the following month and the third degree in January 1859. He was admitted and then entered Mount Horeb Lodge, Woburn, in May 1868 of which he is still a member. Mr. Flint passed his 72nd year in Masonry on October 25th, 1930 and has a fair prospect of enjoying a few more anniversaries.

The question of years in Masonry was developed with the death of Col. Willard D. Tripp, also of this city. It was said that Col. Tripp was the oldest member of the Masons in the United States in the point of membership, and that he had been a member for more than 70 years.

Funeral services for Frederic A. Flint, the oldest Mason in the Masonic Home in Charlton, who died at the home in Woburn on Dec 7 in his 96th year, were held Saturday afternoon at 2 in the First Congregational Church.

New Glasgow and Vicinity

Mrs. Howatt, Mrs. Mervin Bulman, and Miss Florence Laird attended the Presbyterial in Kensington.

Mrs. Rennie Houston of New Glasgow, is visiting in Cavendish the guest of Mrs. Lowther.

Friends of Mr. George Yeo, Bradabane will regret to learn of his continued illness.

Mr. Percy Howatt, Elliotts, who has been a patient in the Prince Edward Island Hospital has returned to his home and is doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McLure, Miss Evelyn McLure, Summerside, accompanied by Mr. Arthur McDonald, Forest Hill motored to Cavendish and Rustico on Sunday, January 22nd and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Townsend McNeill.

Mrs. Leighton Milligan, Summerside, is at present at Bradabane, being called home on account of the serious illness of her father, Mr. George Yeo.

A delightful birthday party was held at the home of Mrs. W. W. Paynter, Rustico, on January 14th in honor of her grand daughter, little Miss Hazel Smith, it being her fourteenth birthday. Quite a large number of her school friends and others were present. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in games and other interesting amusements and at five o'clock the guests were invited to the dining room where a bountiful supper awaited them and a huge birthday cake decorated with fourteen lighted candles was an interesting feature. The young hostess received many lovely gifts. Miss Mary McLean cut the ices, and Mrs. Paynter poured tea.

While cutting ice, Mr. Melville Weeks, Fredericton, had a narrow escape from drowning last week. Mr. Weeks was cutting ice on his father's mill pond at Elliotts and the ice on which he was standing was not as firm as he thought and unfortunately slipped in the water. He managed to get out with some help and suffered a severe chilling.

The members of "Refuge" Division, Fredericton, held an interesting concert in their local hall on Thursday evening last. Quite a large crowd was in attendance. The following program was carried out:

Remarks by the chairman, Mr. Leslie Weeks, opening chorus, Island hymns, recitation, Tobin Pa Shaves by Lewis Hickson, duet, dialogue, getting even with sister's beau, reading by Mary Stevenson, recitation, not built that way by Milton Cutcliffe, instrumental music by Mrs. Roy Carter and Fred Bertram, dialogue, the Minister's mistake, solo, Annel MacLellan, motion song, little house keeper, by three girls, recitation an embarrassing circumstance, by John Hickox, trio, Fred and Lewis Bertram and Thurlow Hiscott, pantomime, my old Kentucky home, chorus, Jingle Bells, Intermission. Sale of Candy, Reading, Marion McLellan, solo, father's whiskers, dialogue reading the news, reading, Wallace Bryenton, solo Angus Mc-Masters, dialogue, the singing school teacher, instrumental music, recitation by Aletha Somers, solo, Blanche Wyand, kitchen orchestra. The National Anthem.

Another hard fought league game of hockey was played on the New Glasgow rink on Thursday evening between the New Glasgow Imperials and the Rustico Rangers. The Rangers are a bunch of nifty puck chasers and gave the Imperials a hot chase. The first period was fast and furious but both teams failed to score. The second was equally as fast but again failed to score. In the third period Francis Doucette of the Rangers slipped one in the Imperials net. Revell Dickieson then shot two in succession for the Imperials, the game ending 2-1 in favor of the Imperials. The line up. Rangers: goal, Arthur Buote, defence, Arthur Woolner, Ralph Doucette; centre, Joseph E. Gallant; forwards, Gauthier, Fred Doucette, Sub, Eddie Gallant. Referee, Howard Gauthier. Imperials, goal, Mervin Bulman, defence, Harold Dickieson and Kenneth Stevenson, centre Harold Stevenson, forwards, Edwin Stevenson, and Revell Dickieson. Subs, Robert Stevenson, Chalmers Laird, Referee, Lorne Stevenson. Much credit is due M. Bulman of the Imperials for the way in which he turned the sharp shots aside. Summary, 1st period, 1 min. penalties. Harold Dickieson, Joseph Gallant, Revell Dickieson, Arthur Woolner. 2nd, period, 1 min. R. Gauthier, 2 min. Robert Stevenson. 3rd period, goal by F. Doucette, two goals by Revell Dickieson.

Miss Ethel McLeod, R. N., Summerside is at present in Cavendish on professional duties.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. LePage and Mr. Chester Bulman left Friday morning for Boston where they will visit relatives and friends.—N.

SPRINGFIELD WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The members of Springfield Women's Institute held the January meeting at the home of Mrs. Everett Haslam on January 10th, with eleven members and nine visitors present. The meeting opened by singing the Ode, followed by the members Creed. Roll call was answered with a Scotch joke, after which the minutes of last meeting were read, adopted and signed. The following committees were then appointed: School, Mrs. George Dunning and Mrs. M. T. Lambe; Refreshment, Mrs. J. E. Sinclair, Mrs. J. Norris Sinclair and Mrs. Archibald K. MacGregor; Program, Mrs. Archibald K. MacGregor, Miss Muriel Haslam, Mrs. Hyatt Haslam. Letters were read from Mr. and Mrs. J. Norris Sinclair, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sinclair and Mrs. Leo MacGuigan, thanking the members for the sympathy shown them in their sad bereavements. The Secretary also read a letter from the W. I. branch, advising us concerning the Sanatorium Grant and after a little discussion it was moved, seconded and carried that the $10 be sent right away. Mrs. J. E. Silver Wedding Anniversary

On the evening of Friday, Dec. 30th, quite a large number of the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. David Rennie assembled at their home in Darlington to celebrate with them the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day.

In the earlier evening the guests sat down to a sumptuous repast which was enjoyed by all.

Later the gathering was called to order and Mr. Eliph Howatt was appointed chairman. In a few well-chosen words Mr. Howatt stated the purpose of the meeting and then called upon Rev. R. Hensley Stavert to read an address to Mr. and Mrs. Rennie and family.

The following is the address: Mr. and Mrs. David Rennie: Dear Friends: Not long since we your friends and neighbors, on the receipt of your invitation to spend this evening at your home, learned that on this, the thirtieth day of December, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two you will have reached the twenty-fifth anniversary of your wedding day.

We one and all here assembled, now take this opportunity of assuring you both that we rejoice with you on this auspicious occasion and that we wish to extend to you our hearty congratulations on your twenty-fifth milestone in the course of your married life. As you look back over all of these twenty-five years spent together we feel quite safe in saying that while you both no doubt have had your dark and yet regretted the step taken by you on that eventful day.

Seeing that you began your journey through life together in the lands beyond the sea, we know that the circumstances surrounding you were quite different from what they are today.

We feel quite sure that on this occasion you could wish that all of the old friends who rejoiced with you at that time could be present with you this evening.

But knowing that that is impossible we your friends of recent years shall do our best to take their places, and make this occasion as joyful as possible. We would like to assure you that ever since coming among us, we have enjoyed knowing you and your two estimable daughters.

As you no doubt know that above all things else, this great new country of Canada needs its good citizens. After having known you all for the past five years we believe that Canada has found in you at least four of these required good citizens. In all that has pertained to the best interests of the community and of the church you have always taken a deep interest and it is residents such as you that always assist in the upbuilding of this or of any other country.

We would ask you to kindly accept these small gifts which we have brought along with us this evening as slight tokens of the esteem in which you are held by us. We trust that you will value these not because of their intrinsic worth, but rather because of the expression of admiration and of good will conveyed by the giving of them from us to you.

Through all of the oncoming years may God's richest blessings ever follow you and we trust that you both may be spared to spend at least twenty-five more happy years together so that when the second period of twenty-five years shall have rolled around you will then have the privilege of enjoying not only as now the celebration of your silver wedding but, then, at that time, that of your golden wedding.

Signed on behalf of your many friends,

In brief addresses Mr. and Mrs. Rennie thanked their friends for their gifts and the many fine things said in the address.

All then joined in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows." Short addresses were made by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Newport, Mrs. Alex McLennan and Eliph Howatt and Rev. R. Hensley Stavert.

The remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent in music, games and social intercourse.

The gathering was closed with joining hands and singing "Auld Lang Syne," followed by the National Anthem.
