

THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN

SATURDAY, JANUARY 15, 1910.

A CANADIAN EDITOR'S VIEW OF THE BRITISH CAMPAIGN.

J. S. Willison, editor in chief of the Toronto News is now in England watching the British election campaign, and sympathizes pretty strongly with the Conservative cause over there.

Also he finds there is less confidence and less enthusiasm among the Conservatives than amongst the Liberals. He goes on to say, the feeling that the House of Lords must be reformed is strong and general, but there is no serious movement for its abolition.

Again Mr Willison finds a feeling prevalent that the Cecil is too powerful in the councils of their party and that the "old crowd" who were rejected four years ago would snatch the chief fruits of a Unionist victory. It is also felt that Labor must have representation in all future Governments, and there is no John Burnham among the Conservative candidates.

These views of a shrewd and close observer, formed while on the spot may help us in forming an opinion as to how the great struggle will result. A small majority for the Government or a majority less than that of the Irish-Nationalist vote, would be an decisive. If the Irish members hold the balance of power after the elections their demands may be more than Mr. Asquith would be disposed to, or could safely grant.

THE CANADIAN NAVAL BILL INTRODUCED.

Owing to the regrettable illness of Hon. L. P. Brodeur, from which he is now recovering, it fell to the lot of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to introduce the Naval Bill in Parliament. It could not have fallen into better hands, not was there anything in the manner in which he presented it to which reasonable exception can be taken.

The bill provides for the creation of a naval board, a naval college, an expenditure of eleven millions to fifteen millions and a naval staff including a Rear Admiral. The fleet will be composed of eleven vessels, four cruisers of the Bristol type one of the Boadicea type and six destroyers. The Bristol is protected cruisers of 4,800 tons each, carrying eight guns, 391 officers and men and having a speed of 25 knots. The Boadicea is an unarmored cruiser, of 3,200 tons and carrying six guns and 278 officers and men.

As to the cost, such a fleet if built in England would cost a little more than $11,000,000. If built in Canada as is intended they shall be, it is expected the cost will be at least less one third more, but the Canadian people will reap the great advantage that comes from the employment of labor and the disbursement of the money in our own country, and along with that the establishment of steel shipbuilding on an extensive scale in Canada. It will be a work of great magnitude and cost, but not without important compensations.

Canada and Canadians owe much to the Mother Country, and also much to their own self-respect. We cannot longer decently permit the people of the British Isles to bear the whole cost, as they have borne it for a century past, of the naval defence of our coasts, our ports and our commerce. On that both parties and the party leaders are fortunately at one. Mr. Monk, a prominent Quebec Conservative, dissents, but we believe he represents in this but a small fraction of Canadian opinion. Many in both parties would have preferred a direct contribution to the support of the British navy. They were honest and patriotic in this view, but there are some obvious difficulties in the way along that course. In any case, the bill is cast and Canada is to have a navy of her own.

PUSHING FORWARD THE TRANSCONTINENTAL.

Vigorous work was done during the past season in pushing forward the National Transcontinental construction in New Brunswick. The rails now extend from Cain's River northward to the north branch of the Miramichi river, a distance of fifty miles. The Toronto Construction Company expect to complete their 107 miles of road by next August with the exception of a few miles of very heavy work near Grand Falls.

It is thought that by next fall the road will be completed from the Quebec boundary to Moncton thus finishing the entire section in New Brunswick. In fact, the mine owners at Grand Lake, N. B., hope to be shipping coal to Quebec by the Transcontinental early next summer. The new road, though not very much shorter between Moncton and Quebec than the intercolonial, and having one or more very heavy grades, will greatly shorten the distance by rail between Fredericton and Moncton. Between these cities the saving will be over 30 miles.

Toronto city received more than half a million dollars last year as its share of the profits of the street railway.

The excellent service being rendered by the Government steamer Earl Grey in plying to this port much later in the season than the direct route has been maintained in the past, is giving unbounded satisfaction. The steamer is strong, effective, splendidly equipped, and reflects credit on Hon. Mr. Brodeur and the Government. If the service can be continued until midwinter, and the Minister of Marine, fully recovered as we hope he may be, speedily, will take a few days off and visit Charlottetown, he will be assured of a right royal reception.

The Moncton Transcript has a new suggestion in regard to the matter of naval defence. It is that the Canada

Canadian Pacific Railway Company shall have a Dreadnought to the Mother Country. Our Moncton contemporary points out that the revenue of the C. P. R. Company is greater than that of the Dominion of Canada—over 100,000,000—and that this was made possible by the generous subsidies of millions of dollars and millions of acres of land bestowed upon the company by the Government and people. The Transcript's suggestion shall prove effective in causing the company to bestow one or more Dreadnoughts it will be very warmly commended.

The Home -OF- Quality

Our constant effort is to make this a store where the idea of quality is at all times paramount. In some lines of business there may be good reasons for having a variety of grades—not so in the drug line. When drugs are needed only the best will do. Anything less than the best is dangerous.

We carry this principle of quality throughout our entire stock. In some lines, like brushes, we have goods at a variety of prices but each is the best grade to be had at the price, and in addition to the usual assortment we carry the finest grades which cannot be found in the ordinary store.
