Prosperous Year for Mutual Life of Canada

Mr. Louis L. Lang, President of The Mutual Life of Canada, when addressing the policyholders during the 74th Annual Meeting at Waterloo on February 3rd pointed out that since its organization the Company has disbursed almost $300,000,000 to policyholders, and that over 35 percent of the new business issued during recent years had been purchased by existing policyholders. In 1943 the Company maintained its unbroken record of growth and entered its 75th year providing protection for more than 180,000 policyholders.

The administration of life insurance by government agencies rather than by individual companies, as at present, was discussed at length by Mr Lang, who saw no benefits to the public from such a system and very great disadvantages. He pointed out that in a mutual company such as The Mutual Life, for instance, the only persons to be "bought out" under a government arrangement would be the policyholders, the owners of the Company's assets, composed of the obligations of private persons under mortgages, of private corporations under bonds, of municipalities, of the Province and of the Dominion. Mr. Lang added:

"The assumption by the government of the great reservoir of funds created by life insurance premiums would not only seriously disrupt the flow of normal investment funds so essential to the orderly and effective development of the nation's resources but would place within the reach of politicians funds which hitherto have been held as a trust for one purpose only, to satisfy a sacred obligation to widows and orphans and to those who have devoted the savings of their earning years to provide a comfortable old age."

Among other disadvantages cited by Mr. Lang was the fact that the safeguard now provided by the federal department of insurance would not exist if life insurance premiums become part of government income. He also emphasized the fact that the proper administration of life insurance requires the services of officials who have acquired a broad technical knowledge as a result of years of study and experience.

General Manager's Address

Mr. W. H. Somerville, General Manager, reported that Assurances in Force increased by $41,499,837 to a total of $680,026,296. New business for the year excluding Annuities and Revivals, amounted to $63,366,773.

Mr. Sommerville commended the Company's representatives in the field for the valuable service they have given in increasing the security which life insurance provides for Canadian homes, in enlarging the flow of money into channels which assist in preventing inflation, and in aiding the Government in the sale of Victory Bonds; and referred to the large number of representatives and other members of the Company's organization who are serving with the armed forces.
