SPLENDID TONIC FOR CHRISTMAS WEEK

The W. S. Harkins Players Open Tomorrow, Christmas Day, with a Bright Breezy Programme that will Despel the blues for the Whole Week.

The coming of the W. S. Harkins Players to the City at this particular time is especially opportune. A good deal of the Christmas cheerfulness has been clouded by the strenuous events of the past month and an unwholesome depression is observable. This needs to be removed and no better tonic could be found than such a clean, spirited, wholesome programme as is being presented by the W. S. Harkins Players. It commences a five nights season at the Prince Edward opening with a Christmas afternoon matinee presenting Miss Billie Burke's biggest hit, "Jerry" and Christmas night, George M. Cohan's successful comedy, "It Pays To Advertise." As an added attraction, Miss Dorothy Chesnut, a great favorite with Charlottetown Theatre goers, will be seen in classic dances, and Miss Lillian Worth will sing the latest patriotic songs—"Baby's Prayer at Twilight," "A Mother's Liberty Loan" and "Smile, Smile, Smile." There will be a change of play each night. Mr. Harkins has a pleasant surprise for the theatres goers of the city, as "Stop Thier" has already been seen on the stage here. Mr. Harkins has decided to present in its place one of the Christmas cheerfulness ever written. "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" as played by England's favorite actor, Sir John Forbes Robertson. Mr. Harkins has secured the exclusive right for the provinces, Newfoundland, and The West Indies. "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" as a play is impossible to describe. It must be seen. Its suggestiveness, its comedy, its great theme, its convincing atmosphere—above all its everlasting truth. These are a few of the qualities of this "extraordinary play" which differentiate it from all others, which make it what it is admitted to be the most moving work which has perhaps ever been seen upon any stage. It is no "Stage play" of impossible situations, extravagant plot and farcical characters, but a living story unfolded by live people who think and move like human creatures.
