LOST WOMAN RECALLS NAME.

PROVIDENCE, July 14—After suffering from a complete loss of memory since last Sunday, the woman who was yesterday sent to the State Insane Asylum, suddenly recovered her mental faculties today, and told the attendants she was Mrs Herbert Seege, and that she lived at 160 Boylston street, Jamacia Plain, Mass., with her sister, Mrs Clara Hines. The woman was found sitting under a tree at Roger Williams Park on Sunday, and the physicians believe that heat was the cause of her partial mental derangement. Her sister was informed of her plight, and her husband immediately set out to take back Mrs Seege.

Mrs Hines at her Jamaica Plain home said yesterday: "My sister had been living with my mother at her home on Amory street, Roxbury, until a month ago, when mother died. During the past few months we have lost 10 of our relatives, and I think it affected my sister's nerves somewhat.

"Lately, too, after she came to live with me, her husband has not been coming home, as he is a travelling man, and she told us that at present he is too far away to come and see her very often. Last Monday she seemed to be partfeularly upset over something.

"Finally she put on her hat and coat and said she was going out. I asked her where she was going, and she said that she didn't know exactly.

"All through the week we heard nothing of her, in spite of our inquiries, and it was not until we received the telegram from Providence today that we felt at all at ease about her. My husband has gone to Providence to bring her back with him."

THE KING AND QUEEN VISITING SCOTLAND.

EDINBURG, July 18—King George and Queen Mary arrived in the Scottish Capital today and received a rousing welcome. The city was bright with color decorations being the most elaborate that the present generation of Scotland have seen.

On the station platform Lord Provost presented the King with the keys of the city made of silver in 1368 for presentation to Charles I.

NEW YORK, July 14—Mark Twain left actual property worth $471,136. An appraisal of his estate filed with the surrogate today places this value on securities and real estate the humorist bequeathed to his only surviving child, Mrs Gabrilowitsch, when he died on April 21, 1910.

Mr Clemens left no real estate in New York. The value of his personal estate here was $296,746. This does not include a trunk full of manuscripts to which no value is assigned in the appraisal. The author's property in Connecticut, where he owned an estate at Redding, the place of his death, is valued at $174,340. Outside of the real estate it consists of mining, railroad and industrial stock. The books in his house at Redding are valued at $2000.

20 ARE POISONED BY JELLIED VEAL.

PORT HOPE, July 16.— Over twenty persons in town are seriously ill from ptomaine poisoning, alleged to have been caused by eating jellied veal. Charles Massie was the first to show the symptoms, he having eaten veal on Thursday for supper. On Friday morning he was taken seriously ill, and on Saturday his condition was very serious, and fears were entertained for his recovery. Mrs. Massie and her daughter Mildred, and Mr. Massie's sister, Mrs. Guthrie, have also been sick, and have been confined to bed but are improving.

On Friday Joseph and Mrs. Baulch and three children were taken sick, and confined to bed. On Saturday Henry Reynolds purchased a quantity of the veal. He and Mrs. Reynolds, two sons, Clive and Eric, and a daughter and niece, Miss Mamie Hewson, were taken very ill, Mrs. Reynold's condition still being serious. Neil and Mrs. McNaughton, Park Street; Charles and Mrs. Corthwaite, Cavan Street; Mrs. Wm. Moffatt, Park Street and Mrs. Evans, at Wildwood, ate very ill from the same causes.

In many of the cases referred to above, the patient's fever reached 104. The doctors report that today the patients are on a fair way to recovery.
