CITY & COUNTRY NEWS

A SMART steady boy with a fair education wanted as an apprentice at this office.

REV. C. R. Pitblado, of Winnipeg is in the city on his way to the Presbyterian general assembly, which meets in Halifax. He is staying with J. W. Watson. 168 Kent street.—Ottawa Citizen.

OWING to his large and increasing business Mr. J. D. Taylor has recently placed a large modern Chandler & Price jobber. The press is of the latest design and is especially adapted to book and heavy job work.

A Gloucester paper says: Capt. Stewart Keith, a highly respected master mariner, dropped dead at his store on Rogers street this afternoon. Deceased was fourth son of Mr. Chas, Keith, miller of Montague. He was in his 34th year and was universally respected by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

TOURISTS and persons bent on pleasure, should not forget that the Jacques Cartier runs a special excursion every Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock to Orwell and return for but 30 cents, and every Saturday afternoon to Crapaud and return for but 40 cents. These are delightful outings, as they give passengers so much pure sea air.

Mrs. John Dorsey offers for sale her beautiful residence "Penwith Villa," on Pownal Street. This is a delightful home and should sell readily. It has modern conveniences and is centrally situated in a desirable part of the city. Mrs. Dorsey will remove shortly to Toronto where her two sons Alfred and Ezra, now reside.

THE funeral of the late James McEachern of Montague took place yesterday at 3 p. m. The interment was made in Union Road cemetery. Rev. H. Penna officiated, assisted by Rev. Mr. Matthew of Murray Harbor. The following were the pall bearers: J. J. McDonald, Wm. Robinson, Peter Stewart, Robert Stewart, James Bourke, D J. McLean.

THE GUARDIAN is indebted to Mr. D. Schurman, representative of the Massey Harris, Co. Limited for a souvenir of "The Land of the mayle Leaf." On the left are four scenes reminding of the days when there were no modern improvements, the days of the cradle and the reaping hook. On the right the different implements used from the sowing until the garnering. In the centre is a motto upon a blue ground bearing the words "seed time and harvest shall not fail," encircled with a wreath of Maple Leaves. The flag of Britain and the Canadian coat of arms occupy positions. The blending of the colors and the general design show the care and attention given by the designer.

EASTERN NOTES.—Farming is nearly completed with the exception of the odds and ends incidental to the modern system. Vegetation is backward owing to the unusually cold spring. Lobsters are scarce along the north shore; fair at East Point and Red Point. Cod fish were very plentiful and of fine quality on the north shore the first part of the season but have got scarce as well as bait. On the south side the quality is good but the quantity is small, and the experienced fishermen don't now expect an average catch. They attribute it to the number of vessels which went to Cape North earlier in the season, and broke up the schools on their way to the Gulf. —The opening of Red Point Cheese Factory on the 9th inst. makes the beginning of a new epoch to the farmers of this section, and the energy of its directory in erecting such a magnificent building in short a time is worthy of all commendation.

WEDEED 10 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. F. Parker Carvell.

HAPPILY SURPRISED

On Their Wedding Anniversary—Pleasant and Novel Social Event.

THERE was a pretty wedding which many will remember at which Mr. F. Parker Carvell and Miss Alexandra Carey were the principals, and in anticipation of the tenth anniversary of that interesting and happy event Mr. and Mrs. Carvell were on Monday last invited to spend a quiet evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bartlett not expecting to meet other friends. But as it turned out a genuine surprise was in store for them, which had been arranged with the utmost secrecy by the host and hostess. For, about nine o'clock a party of twenty had collected on the lawn in perfect silence and each one carrying a mysterious parcel. With noiseless step these stole into the front drawing room while Mr. and Mrs. Carvell and their hostess were engaged in the rear drawingroom, the folding doors between being closed. And then came the surprise. Suddenly the doors were thrown open and to the astonishment of the wedded pair in marched a procession headed by Capt. Bartlett bearing a flag, he being followed by the others, each performing on some musical or sounding instrument constructed of tin. There were bugles, whistles, drums, tamborines, cornets and cymbals, which made plentiful and more or less harmonious music. The laughing procession circled around the bridal party, who were more than astonished at the appearance of so demonstrative a company. In an instant the music of Lohengrin's Wedding March broke forth from the piano, whereupon the bride and groom were conducted to the head of the room and there received very hearty congratulations while gifts appropriate to this particular anniversary were showered on the fair bride. It was some joyous minutes before the party could settle down to the quiet games which had been arranged as part of the program, and ever and anon afterwards an outbreak of merry laughter would occur as the guests recalled the earlier incidents of the evening. Later the supper room afforded another pleasing surprise. On entering here the little maid of honor of ten years ago, now grown larger (the daughter of the host and hostess) having in hand the flower basket she had then carried, presented Mr. and Mrs. Carvell with favors of ingenious design for their personal decoration. On the pier glass facing the door were the Christian names of Mr. and Mrs. Carvell with the figures 1890 in characters of tin. Beneath this was the photograph of the original wedding party, several members of which were again present. The sumptuously spread table was remarkable for the ingenious and orginal method in which various articles of tinware were turned to new and exceptional uses, for instance, a bright little dustpan, containing dainty sandwiches, was a partial sample of the general design. The floral decorations were apple blossoms, beautiful reminders of the bridal orange wreath. And so all went merry as a marriage bell. As a surprise and in every way the evening was a great success. It was unique in its character and evinced thought and originality in every detail, for which the hostess must feel amply repaid by many admiring comments. Mr. and Mrs. Carvell were escorted home with the various musical (?) instruments which had done service earlier in the evening, and the best wishes of all the party.

THE S. S. Florida owing to a slight delay in leaving Hawkesbury, did not arrive until 8.30 last night, and left on return about 2.30 this morning. Her inward passengers included C.P. Flocton, Miss C. Rogers, Miss M. McIsaac, Miss L. McLaren, Mr. Conroy, Mrs. Conroy, Miss McLeod, Mrs. C. McPhee, Mrs. F. S. Chase, Miss K. McQuory, Miss Mellish, Miss McKenzie, Miss J. Conway, Mrs. E. M. McDonald, Miss B. Robertson, Mrs. M. M. McInnis, Miss E. O'Connell, Miss K. Gillis, Miss Buffon, Miss K. McAtee, Miss Beaton, Mrs. P. F. Tyman, Jas Mitchell, Dr. Allen, D. A. Beaton, Miss Hawkins, Miss F. McDonald, Miss C. McDonald. The following were her outward passengers: Edward Stewart, S.D.C., Jas. Cannon, S.D.C., J. W. Bolger, S. D.C., Leo Breman, S. D. C., Jno. Raftrey, S. D. C., L. S. Strasser. A. L. Clarke, S. D. C., Wm. Dew, S. D. C., J. D, Malcolm, A. J. McPhee, Jas. E. Kelly, Jos. Kaveney, S. D.C., Alf. Keough, S. D. C., J. W. Ryan, S. D. DONT fail to hear Rev. A. F. Lockerby's celebrated lectures on Thursday and Friday evening 14 and 15th inst.

AT the meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society held in the Y. M. C. A. Parlor yesterday morning, it was decided to hold a strawberry festival on the grounds of the New Hospital on Tuesday, July 10th.

REV. JAMES THOMAS, Metropolitan Secretary of British and Foreign Bible Society addressed a meeting in the Baptist schoolroom last evening. The subject was an interesting one and was much appreciated by the audience.

DANIEL Gannivan whose home is at 37 North Street St. John while on his way home from P.E. Island Monday afternoon on the C. P. R. Pacific express, died on the train near Sussex. He was 32 years of age and for some years past had been employed on the Government dredge, St. Lawrence.

AT the Police Court yesterday morning Frank McLeod, charged with appropriating a bottle of liquor, and John Donovan for drunkenness, were remanded for eight days. Catherine McDonald, charged with being drunk and using bad language was fined $10 or 60 days. On Monday, in addition to other business, Joseph Handrahan for being drunk was fined $2 or 10 days.

DR. Monaghan Professor of Junior Philosophy in St. Dunstan's College has been transferred to the Cathedral staff. Yesterday morning the students presented the Doctor with a beautiful cane and an address as an evidence of their esteem for him. Dr. Murphy, recently returned from Rome, will succeed Dr. Monaghan.

MR. A. Ogden in charge of the Bedford N. S. Hatchery and his assistant F. G. Tolson arrived in the city by the Princess yesterday afternoon with 100,000 salmon fry. Morell River will receive 50,000. The fry were contained in ten barrels and are seven weeks old. They were taken by team to their destination.

A QUIET though pretty wedding took place at the Baptist parsonage in Middleboro, Mass., on the evening of June 7th. The contracting parties were Mr. Benjamin F. Briggs of Mass., and Miss Lizzie Lowery formerly of P. E. Island. Both were most tastefully attired and presented a fine appearance. Mr. Briggs has a commanding figure, a kindly face, and is an estimable young man. He is to be congratulated, too, in securing so interesting and worthy a young woman for his bride. After the ceremony the newly married pair went immediately to the home which had been prepared for their occupacy.

YESTERDAY the body of Frank McCormack was noticed floating between Trout Point and the Red buoy. The body was taken in tow by Mr. James Taylor and landed on Pownal wharf. The body was beyond recognition but his sister Mrs. Burke, whose husband was drowned at the same time identified him by the clothes. The father also identified the remains. The coroner after viewing the remains did not consider it necessary to empanel a jury. An undertaker made the interment at 6 o'clock.
