MOTHER

(From an old Fifth Reader)

Often into folly straying,
O, my mother! how I've grieved her;
Oft I've heard her or me praying,
Till the gushing tears relieved her;
And she gently rose and smiled,
Whispering, "God will keep my child."

She was youthful then, and sprightly,
Fondly on my father leaning,
Sweet she spoke,, her eyes shone brightly,
And her words were full o meaning;
Now, an autumn leaf decayed,
I, perhaps have made it fade.

But, whatever ills betide thee,
Mother in them all I share;
In thy sickness watch beside thee
And beside thee kneel in prayer
Best of mothers! on my breast
Lean thy head, and sink to rest.

MISSED HIS VOCATION

A man engaged in banking took his son into the bank, intending that that should be his business also, and that the name should be continued in indentification with the establishment. The young man got on very well until it came to the time when the annual examination of the books was to be made, and it so turned out that there was a very slight difference between the debit and credit accounts. It did not amount to more than three pence half-penny, but the gentleman at the head said to the clerks: "You have got to go over the books again. You know we cannot have any error whatever in the accounts. And the boy, with the characteristics of the present generation, said: "Why, father, are you going to put them to all that trouble for such a trifle? Why, I will pay the three pence half penny myself and let them off." Upon which the father looked at th boy and said: "My boy, you may leave the bank: it is not the kind of business that you are fitted for. I will see that you are put into the church."

THEY'RE NOT SPEAKING NOW

Dolly—What a time you've been! Belle—Yes, I had to wait at the hairdresser's before they could do my hair.

Dolly—Why didn't you tell them to send for it?

Now they never speak as they pass by.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

DARING ROBBERY.—A daring robbery was discovered Monday morning in the dry goods store of Mr. Joseph Sumarah, Grafton St, when Miss Martha Sumarah, who is in charge of the store in the absence of her father, found on opening up shop at 8.30 a. m. that entrance had been made and goods to the value of over $300 stolen. Apparently the thieves had crept through a hatch at the back of the store into the basement, forcing the inside hatch and thus entering the store. Among the articles missing are eleven watches, some three dozen rings, lockets, etc. Some clothing was also missing, the full amount of which is uncertain. The matter has been placed in the hands of the police and every effort is being made to trace the thieves.

SOLID MILK

In Holland milk is now put up and sold in solid form, being made into little cubes which are readily dissolved in tea, coffee or other fluids. The milk, after removal of the cream, is reduced by heat to dryness, then powdered and mixed with the cream, the material being pressed into blocks. These milk cubes have the advantage of preserving their freshness for a long time. They are recommended for use in regions where milk is not easily to be had, and travellers may find it convenient to carry a supply of them..

SCATTERED

A birthday speech is like the remains of Dennis McCann. When he was blown up by an explosion of dynamite of committee was appointed to break the news to his wife. After the spokesman had informed her of the tragedy as gently as he could, she asked if Dennis had been badly mangled. "Well, yes," said the spokesman, "his head was found in one lot, his legs in another, and his arms in a tree a half a mile off." "That," said the bereaved widow, "is just like Dennis. He was always all over the place."

WASTED TACT

"Do you know what day this is John, dear?

Unpleasant recollections of previous memory lapses flashed through John's mind. He wouldn't be caught this time!

"Why of course, my love. How could I possibly forget that this is our wedding anniversary?" he said.

"No, it isn't, that is three months ahead," she responded coldly. "This is the day on which you promised to take the afternoon off from the office and beat the rugs." Tit-Bits.

PERSONALS

Mrs. W. A. Miller, Royalty, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. John F. Simmonds, city, returned last night from a three weeks visit ot Boston,

Mr. John Stewart has returned from New Glasgow, N. S., where he has been working for some time and has taken up his old position with JJenkins and Son, Grocers. Mr. Stewart says that he prefers his old home town and his many friends welcome him to the city again.

Mr. Hazen Baker has taken a position with Jenkins & Son, Grocers. Mr. Baker was for a number of years with Beer & Goff and later with Stewart & Son. He served overseas and was a prisoner of war in Germany for 10 months. His many friends welcome him back to the city again.

FELL FROM TRAIN.-An accident which might have terminated fatally occurred yesterday afternoon on the Borden train between Charlottetown and Wiltshire when Mr. A. Paquet of Souris fell from the steps of one of the cars and was picked up later in an unconscious condition by some of the section men. He was taken to the city on the incoming train and immediately rushed to the City Hospital in Mr. A. Hennessey's ambulance where he was attended by Dr. S. R. Jenkins. Though suffering from a severe shock no serious external injuries were noticeable. The accident had apparently not been noticed on the train and the injured man was in too dazed a condition to give any information. He was reported resting easily last night.

FUNNIEST TRUE STORY OF DOMESTIC DIFFICULTIES

Judge Jean H. Norris tells the funniest true story of domestic difficulties. Here it is:

In the tragedy of misunderstandings, it is a relief to run across a case that is strictly humorous. Entertainment of this sort was furnished in one instance by a husband, arraigned for non-support who declared that he had left home because he had been given dog biscuit for breakfast.

"That ain't no foundation for a hard day's work!" he complained "I always have oatmeal porridge in the morning; but that precious pup was sick and wouldn't eat his regular fare. So the missus gives him my porridge, and then breaks up his biscuit and tries to pass it on me. Wasn't that enough to make any man leave home?"

Asked if she liked the dog better than she did her husband, the woman burst into a pean of praise for her spouse.

"The dog's a delicate little thing and awfully fussy about his food," she explained. "I thought if the dog biscuits didn't hurt him they certainly wouldn't hurt a strong man like James."

The trouble ended in a complete reconciliation.

WEDS SEVENTH WIFE

ATLANTIC, Iowa, September 20. —Fred. Harris, ninety years old, has just married his seventh wife. All his wives were daughters of Peter Yost, who lived in Mildaukee, and sailed a freighter on the Great Lakes in the sixties.

Harris began by marrying the oldest daughter of Yost, and he has gone right down the line. The last five were widows. Mrs. Gustave Eidelmann is the last bride, and she is now seventy-eight years old. Her husband, a farmer, perished, in the Minnesota forest fires of 1918. She had been married twice before.

Harris, who was a hack driver, and later driver of a horse car in Chicago, after the great fire, recently bought a small fruit farm here on which to pass his remaining years.

THE SPEAKER'S CHAIR.

The Speaker's chair is a very substantial piece of furniture, with its canopy, sounding board, writing accomodation, etc., and quite as much a part of the permanent fittings of the House of Commons as are the benches of galleries. But it was not always so. The office of Speaker of the British House of Commons used to carry with it sundry little emoluments additional to the salary, as a buck and doe every year from Windsor, and a service of plate. Also, at the end of each Parliament, it was customary for the Speaker to claim as a memento the armchair in which he had sat as president, and the practice was discontinued only in 1832.

DISTURBED HIS OWN FUNERAL

A drunken man fell asleep by the roadside at Delagoa Bay. A patrol coming along thought he was dead and as burial in that part of the world follows straight on the heels of death, he was speedily taken to the cemetery ,where there are always some open graves. The lowering into the grave aroused the toper, who made such a commotion that h was released. He was immediately fined twenty-five dollars for creating a disturbance at a funeral.

SAYS HER RECOVERY IS ALMOST LIKE A MIRACLE

From Helpless Invalid to Complete Restoration of Health and Happiness Is Wonderful Change Mrs. Root Experienced in Three Weeks — Statement One of Most Remarkable On Record.

"Just a week beore I started taking Tanlac I was down in bed so crippled up with rheumatism I could not move without help. My son had taken Tanlac, and it had done him a world of good, so one day he brought home a bottle and said, "Mother, I want you to take this". When I had finished that bottle I felt like a different woman and by the time I had finished my second bottle, I was out in the garden hoeing.

"Tanlac has simply done wonders for me; it almost seems like a miracle". This is the remarkable statement made recently by Mrs Jennie Root, residing at 1409 Powers St., Portland, Oregon, and is only one of tens of thousands from well-known men and women who are daily testifying to the powers of Tanlac.

Continuing her wonderful statement, Mrs. Root said, "For years I suffered terribly with rheumatism, and would often be down in bed for days at a time. In the last five years there was not a time that I didn't feel those rheumatic pains all through my body. About two months ago I got very much worse and my arms and legs were so bad I was almost helpless and couldn't even hold a pen to sign my name. I was so weak I could not do any housework. I couldn't even sleep, and had no rest day or night. Even to walk a few steps would tire me out completely. When I tried to walk I would stagger, andwhen I did walk a little way and sat down I could not get up without someone helping me. I had no appetite and hardly ate enough to keep me alive. I could not stoop over far enough to get my shoes on.

"I never knew what a night's sleep was, and would lie awake for hours. At times I would get very cold and would have to get up and sit by the fire all huddled up and my daughters would put hot water bottles all around me. I was treated by four doctors, and took all kinds of medicine Nothing ever did me any good. I am just like a different person now. All those terrible aches and pains have left me, and only the other day I was able to walk up four flights of stairs in an office building when the elevator was out of order.

"My appetite is just splendid now, and just today for the first time in years, I felt so hungry that I had to go and eat a piece of pie between meals. In fact, I can't remember the time that I felt as well as I do now. I have not only regained my health and strength, but I have gained fourteen pounds in weight. To tell you the truth I wouldn't exchange the benefit I have received from Tanlac for the best ranch in Oregon and I will praise it as long as I live."

Tanlac is sold in Charlottetown by Reddin Bros., and all leading druggists everywhere.

TEXT OF GERMAN TREATY WITH U. S.

The following is the text of the peace treaty between the United States and Germany:

The United States of America and Germany:

Considering that the United States, acting in conjunction with its co-belligerents, entered into an armistice with Germany on Nov. 11, 1918, in order that a treaty of pecae might be concluded:

Considering that the Treaty of Versailles was signed on June 28, 1918, and came into force according to the terms of its Article 440, but has not been ratified by the United States:

Considering that the Congress of the United States passed a joint resolution, approved by the president July 2, 1921, which reads in part as follows:

"Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled that the state of war declared to exist between the Imperial German government and the United States of America by the joint resolution of congress paproved April 6, 1917, is hereby declared at an end."

Section 2—That in making this declaration, and as a part of it, there are expressly reserved to the United States of America, and its nationals any and all rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations, or advantages, together with the right to enforce the same, to which it, or they, have become entitled under the terms of the armistice signed November 11, 1918, or any extensions or modifications thereof; or which were acquired by or are in the possession of the United States of America by reason of its participation in the war or to which its nationals have thereby become rightfully entitled; or which, under the Treaty of Versailles, have been stipulated for its benefit; or to which it is entitled by virtue of any act or acts of congress; or otherwise.

Retain Captured Property.

"Section 5—All property of the Imperial German government, or its successor, or successors, and of all German Nationals, which was on April 6, 1917, in or has since that date come into the possession or under control of, or has been the subject of demand by the United States of America, or of any of its officers, agents or employees, from any source or by any agency whatsoever, and all property of the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian government, or were on December 7, 1917, in or has since that date come into the possession or under control of, or has been the subject of a demand by the United States of America, or any of its officers, agents or employees, from any source or by any agency whatsoever, shall be retained by the United States of America, and no disposition thereof made, except as shall have been heretofore or specifically hereafter shall be provided by law, until such time as the Imperial German government and the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian government, or their successor, or successors, shall have respectively made suitable provision for the satifaction of all claims against said governments, respectively, of all persons, wheresoever domiciled, who owe permanent allegiance to the United States of America and who have suffered, through the acts of the Imperial German government, or its agents, or the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian government, or its agents, since July 21, 1914, loss, damage or injury to their persons or property, directly or indirectly, whether through the ownership of shares of stock in German, Austro-Hungarian, American or other corporations, or in consequence of hostilities or of any operations of war, or otherwise, and also shall have granted to persons owing permanent allegiance to the United States, most favored nation treatment, whether the same be national or otherwise, in all matters affecting residence, business, profession, trade, navigation, commerce and industrial property rights, and until the Imperial German government and the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian government, or their successor, or successors, shall have respectively confirmed to the United States of America all fines, forfeitures, penalties and seizures imposed or made by the United States of America during the war, whether in respect to the property of the Imperial German government or German Nationals, or the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian government or Austro-Hungarian Nationals, and shall have waived any and all pecuniry claims against the United States of America."

Restoring Friendly Relations.

Being desirous of restoring the friendly relations existing between the two nations prior to the outbreak of the war, have for that purpose appointed their plenipotentiaries:—The resident of the United States of America, Ellis Loring Dresel, commissioner of the United States of America to Germany, and the president of the German Empire, Dr. Friedrich Rosen, minister for foreign affairs, who, having communicated their full powers, found to be in good and due form, have agreed as follows:

Article 1—Germany undertakes to accord to the United States, and the United States shall have and enjoy all the rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations or advantages specified in the aforesaid joint resolution of the congress of the United States of July 2, 1921, including all the rights and advantages for the benefit of the United States in the Treaty of Versailles, which the United States shall fully enjoy, notwithstanding the fact that such treaty has not been ratified by the United States.

Article 2—With a view to defining more particularly the obligations of Germany under the foregoing article, with respect to certain provisions in the Treaty of Versailles, it is understood and agreed between the high contracting parties.

(1) That the rights and advantages stipulated in that treaty for the benefit of the United States, which it is intended the United States shall have and enjoy, are those defined in Section 1 of Part 4 and Parts 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 14, and 15. The United States, in availing itself of the rights and advantages stipulated in the provisions of that treaty mentioned in this paragraph, will do so in a manner consistent with the rights accorded to Germany under such provisions.

(2) That the United States shall not be bound by the provisions of Part 1 of that treaty, nor by any provisions of that treaty, including those mentioned in Paragraph 1 of this article, which relate to the covenant of the League of Nations, or by the council or by the assembly thereof, unless the United States shall expressly give its assent to such action.

(3) That the United States assumes no obligations under or with respect to the provisions of Part 2, Part 3, Sections 2 to 8, inclusive, of Part 4, and Part 13 of that treaty.

(4) That, while the United States is privileged to participate in the reparation commission, according to the terms of Part 8 of that treaty, and in any other commission established under the treaty or under any agreement suplemental thereto, the United States is not bound to participate in any such commission unless it shall elect to do so.

(5) That the periods of time to which reference is made in Article 440 of the Treaty of Versailles, shall run, with respect to any act or election on the part of the United States, from the date of the coming into force of the present treaty.

Article three—The present treaty shall be ratified in accordance with the constitutional form of the high contracting parties, and shall take effect immediately on the exchange of ratifications, which shall take place as soon as possible at Berlin.

In witness whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed this treaty and have here unto affixed their seals.

Done in duplicate in Berlin, this twenty-fifth day of August, nineteen hundred and twenty-one.

COFFEE SORTED BY LIGHT

Coffee beans are sorted both according to size and color, but the latter is the more important of the processes. This machine's operation is based on a well-known property of selenium, namely, that this element's electric conductivity is increased in the presence of light.

With the new device the beans are carried by a convenor under a selenium cell. As the light-hued beans reflect more light against the cell than the others, additional current is transmitted through it, which actuates a deflecting needle. This in turn operates a device that diverts the light-colored beans into a separate channel.

If the speed of the machine and its first cost make it more economical than hand sorting, the same principle may be used in sorting grains, tobacco and other products.

MONOPOLY IN RADIUM

[LONDON, September 20.— An agreement concluded between the Imperial and Foreign Corporation of London and the Czecho-Slovakian Government, whereby the corporation gets a commercial monopoly of the entire Czecho-Slovakian state mines' radium output, will interest all Canadians doing medical research work, as the new company is free to form sugsidiary companies in any part of the world. The yearly output of the Joachimsthal Mines, near Carlsbad, is about four grammes. Half of the radium produced during a period of fifty years belongs to the corporatin, which guarantees the capital for mine-working, and the other half to the Slovakian Government for research in their Government laboratory.

A READY ANSWER

An enterprising salesman was trying to persuade a farmer to buy a bicycle. The farmer was in town for the day and had determined to see everything.

"I'd rather spend my money on a cow," said he proudly.

"But think," said the salesman "what a fool you'd look riding about on a cow."

"Not half such a fool as I'd look trying to milk a bicycle," answered the farmer.

To avoid possible disappointment, don't merely say "corn flakes," but—

Post Toasties
—best corn flakes

Your grocer will know you're rather particular about quality—even though "Post Toasties" cost no more than ordinary corn flakes.
