

When Indigestion Grips You

It is not merely "something you ate" at the last meal—it is weakness in the stomach. A pain is Nature's danger signal that something is wrong. Indigestion is the stomach's way of telling you that it can't or won't work.

Now is the time to take FRUIT-A-TIVES.

These fruit tablets rest the stomach—bring out a copious flow of gastric juice at meal time—and make the stomach and intestines digest everything you eat.

You know that Fruit-a-tives are doing you good—because there is no more pain—no more sour stomach—no belching gas. Fruit-a-tives keep the stomach clean and healthy—and ready to digest any sensible meal you eat while the constipation is entirely cured by their use.

Fruit-a-tives are most valuable in the home. We have used two boxes and are to-day getting a third, which tells our opinion of their merits. I find them especially good for the children, pleasant to take and very cleansing in their action.

Mrs. P. M. MORRISH, Calgary, Alberta.

Fruit-a-tives are pure fruit juices in tablet form. They act gently on all the organs of digestion—strengthen, invigorate, and cure. If there is anything wrong with stomach or bowels, cure yourself with

A Grand Result in Charlottetown, P. E. Island.

Mr. A. N. FRASER, Provincial Manager, The Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York, Charlottetown, P. E. I. May 20, 1905.

Dear Sir:—I acknowledge with thanks the receipt of your Company's cheque for $7030.30 on Bank of Montreal, also Annuity Policy No. 11725 which provides—That on May 1, 1905 and each year for life, I will receive three hundred dollars ($300), in settlement of my Matured $5000, 15-year endowment, 15-year Distribution Policy No. 401,652 with Deferred Annuity, in THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK.

This I consider a splendid result, as to buy an Annuity of $300 at my age would cost $3,408, so that drawing $7030.30 and getting an Annuity of $300, I am getting practically a cash value of $10,430.30.

I also carry another policy in your company, in which I have all confidence.

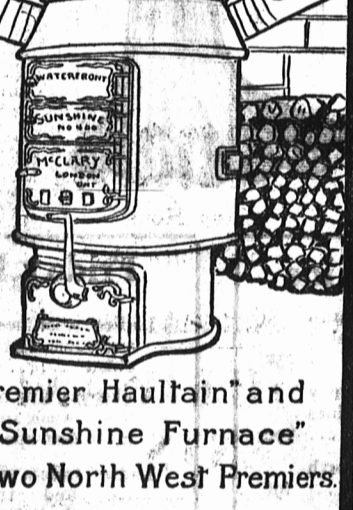

Yours very truly,
SIMON W. CRABBE,
Manager.

CHAPTER IX—Continued.

Later years something had come between us. Long ago we had fallen out of each other's confidence, and ever since she had seemed to shun me. I began to play with boys and she with girls. And it made me miserable to hear the boys a bit older than I gossip of her beauty and accuse each other of the sweet disgrace of love.

But I must hasten to those events in Faraway that shaped our destinies. And first comes that memorable night when I had the privilege of escorting Hope to the school-assembly, where the argument of Jed Feary, poet of the hills, fired my soul with an ambition that has remained with me always.

Uncle Eb suggested that I ask Hope to go with me.

"Prance right up to her," he said, "and say you'd be glad of the pleasure of her company."

It seemed to me a very dubious thing to do. I looked thoughtful and turned red in the face.

"Young man!" he continued, "the boy that's 'traid of' women 'll never hev whiskers."

"How's that?" I inquired.

"Be scairt of death," he answered, "fore they're best time 't start. Ye want 't step right up 't the rack jes' if ye'd bought an' paid fer yerself an' was proud of yer bargain."

I took his advice, and when I found Hope alone in the parlor I came and asked her, very awkwardly as I now remember, to go with me.

She looked at me, blus'ing, and said she would ask her mother.

And she did, and we walked to the schoolhouse together that evening, her holding my arm timidly, the most nervous girl that ever struggled with the problem of deportment on such an occasion. I was oppressed with a heavy sense of responsibility in every word I uttered.

Ann Jane Foster, known as "Scholar Jane" for her rapid walk and stiff carriage, met us at the corners on her way to the schoolhouse.

"Big turnout, I guess," said she. "Jed Feary an' Squire Town is countin' over from Jingleville an' all the big guns 'll be there. I love 't hear Jed Feary speak. He's so feelin'."

Ann Jane was always looking around for some event likely to touch her feelings. She went to every funeral in Faraway, and when sorrow was scarce in her own vicinity journeyed far in quest of it.

"Wouldn't wonder if the fur flew when they git 't goin'," she remarked, and then hurried on, her head erect, her body motionless, her legs flying. Such energy as she gave to the pursuit of mourning I have never seen equaled in any other form of disportation.

The schoolhouse was nearly full of people when we came in. The big boys were wrestling in the yard. Men were lounging on the rude seats inside idly discussing crops and cattle and lapsing into silence frequently that bore the signs both of expectancy and reflection. Young men and young women sat together on one side of the house whispering and giggling. Alone among them was the big and eccentric granddaughter of Mrs. Bisnette, who was always slapping some youngster for impudence.

Jed Feary and Squire Town sat together behind a pile of books, both looking very serious. The long hair and best of the old poet were now white and his form bent with age. He came over and spoke to us and took a curl of Hope's hair in his stiffened fingers and held it to the lamp.

"What silky gold!" he whispered. "S a skein of fate, my dear girl!"

Suddenly the schoolteacher rapped on the desk and bade us come to order, and Ransom Walker was called to the chair.

"That there is talent in Faraway township," he said, having reluctantly come to the platform, "and talent of the very highest order, no one can deny who has ever attended a lyceum at the Howard schoolhouse. I see evidences of talent in every face before me. And I wish to ask what are the two great talents of the Yankee—talents that made our forefathers famous the world over? I pause for an answer."

He had once been a schoolmaster, and that accounted for his didactic style.

"What are the two great talents of the Yankee?" he repeated, his hands clasped before him.

Palpitation of the Heart—Nervous Prostration—Cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

They make weak hearts strong. They make shaky nerves firm.

Mr. May V. Cormier had a very trying experience while at College; but, thanks to Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, he has been restored to health. He tells his experience in the following letter to us:—

"Wellington Station, P.E.I., Dec. 2nd, 1904. Messrs. The S. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ontario.

"Gentlemen—Having been cured of a very troublesome disease, and it my duty to write you a few lines. I was troubled with a very great palpitation of the heart and nervous prostration. I was attacked with it at College, and could not follow up the games of the University without being overcome with fatigue. I could not descend the stairs without resting half-way. I have left College, and am working in a general store, where I found your famous pills. I used three boxes, and am now completely cured. I cannot thank you enough for sending anyone who is suffering as I did, my home in Saskatchewan, N.B. but at present I am on Prince Edward Island.

"I remain, dear sirs, RAY V. CORMIER, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, 50c. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25. All dealers, or mailed on receipt of price.

Red Rose Tea

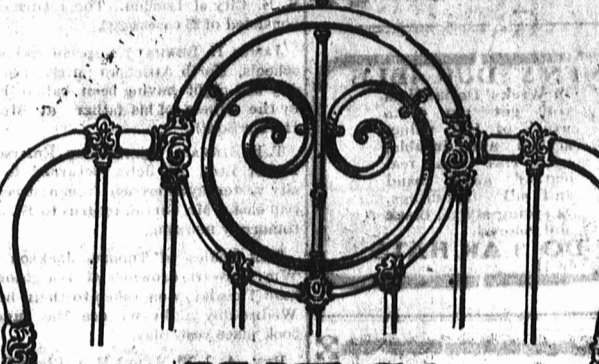

Because it is accepted as a standard of quality.

Red Rose Tea can be found in the sample room of nearly every tea firm in Canada. It is used as a standard of quality by which they judge their own teas.

A large London, Eng. Tea firm recently asked their correspondents in Montreal to send them samples of the best brand of tea sold in this country—they sent Red Rose.

This is a very high tribute to Red Rose Tea. If you will try the tea you will feel like endorsing this tribute.
