The residents of Cornwall and vicinity extend their deepest sympathy to Mrs. Ernest Leonard on the recent sudden death of her husband.

The Rev. Hugh Miller of Trinity United Church in Charlottetown was the speaker in Cornwall church on Sunday evening last.

There was a large congregation in attendance.

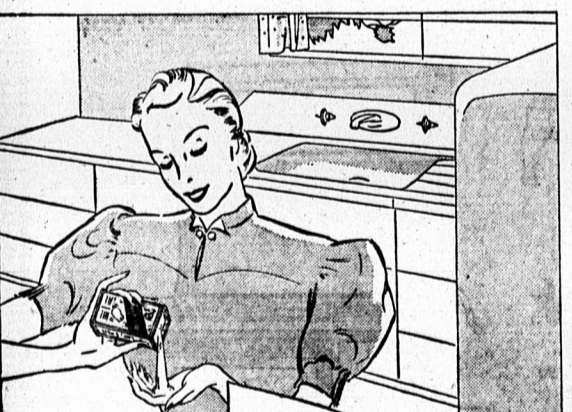

Mr. Daniel J. MacArthur has returned to his home in Cornwall after spending a few days in Camp Hill medical hospital.

Mr. Harris MacPadyen is employed at Jack McPhail's, Cornwall, while Mr. Bert MacKinnon is working at Lea Howard's.

Mr. Douglas MacDonald is constructing a new home in Cornwall. Farmers have generally finished pulling the turnips and report the crop a little poorer than other years.

Mr. Fulton Moreside's store in North River has changed ownership and is now the property of Mr. Roberts.

Mr. George Vickerson of the United States has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Yeo of North River for some time.

Fuel Oil Prices Not Excessive

Half truths and wrong conclusions, reply representatives of the oil industry in answer to claims of the head of a well-known financial agency who recently claimed that fuel oil prices in a certain territory had been exorbitantly high.

In his article he claimed that with a recent advance in price, fuel oil had been lifted 27 percent in three years.

The reply was that his views, as he expressed them, gave an entirely erroneous survey of conditions in the oil industry.

To keep the record straight the oil industry turned to a United States government record for May which showed that commodities covered in the general classification of "fuel and lighting" are 77.2 percent of the 1926 index of 100. All commodities are given a rating of 87.4. The index for the price of petroleum products is only 69.8 percent of the 1926 figure, the lowest of all industrial products listed.

Mr. C. McNeill Dies in Santa Ana.

Christopher McNeill, Santa Ana pioneer building contractor, who had charge of construction of the present courthouse and other county buildings, died yesterday at his home, 1103 North Broadway, after an extended illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Smith and Tutill chapel with interment to follow in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mr. McNeill, a native of Prince Edward Island, Canada, came to Santa Ana 55 years ago and engaged in the building industry here. During his business career he supervised construction of a large portion of the older buildings in the city's business district, in addition to several of the outstanding county buildings, including the court house.

The first building he constructed for the county was the old county jail on the site between the court house and the Hall of Records. Mr. McNeill was the contractor in charge of this building which was erected in 1897 and was in use until recent years when it was razed following construction of the present jail, just across the street.

The next county building constructed under Mr. McNeill's supervision was the court house, which has stood as a tribute to the contractor's skill since 1900 when the building was erected. In the devastating earthquake of 1933, when other buildings in the city were partially demolished, the damage to the courthouse was comparatively slight. The basic structure withstood the almost continued shocks or more than a week.

The last county building constructed under Mr. McNeill's supervision was the main building of the County Hospital erected in 1910.

Active in construction work of the city Mr. McNeill also played an important part in the civic development of Santa Ana and was particularly active in affairs of the Masonic Lodge and Odd Fellows Lodge. He was a member of Lodge No. 241, of the Masonic Order, Knights Templar and Royal Arch Masons, in addition to the Santa Ana unit of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Etta B. Patton, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Helen Nelson, Tampa, Fla., and three grandchildren, Miss Thelma Patton and Murray Patton, both of Santa Ana and Ward Nelson of Tampa, Fla. Cousins of Mr. McNeill of Santa Ana Calif., are Mrs. R. Johnson, Miss Maria McNeill, George A. Riley.

INTO THE SHADOWS

Herewith my humble and inadequate tribute to that peaceful and quiet pioneer, Chris McNeill who has passed into the Elysian of eternity. In its structural appearance the Santa Ana of yesterday still stands as a testimonial of the civic contributions of today. Its spiritual and moral values we who remain are the beneficiaries of his department. When this city was in its swaddling clothes Chris McNeill helped to adorn the child with the habiliments of maturity.

Some of those earlier structures stand as a monument to his craftsmanship and the conscientious purpose of his workmanship. Men wither like the flowers of the field. We flourish for a time, and give to the world and those we love the best of our affection and service. To do this is not to have lived in vain. My fellowship with Chris McNeill was another of those Sunset club affiliations, and in the introspection and retrospection of his life I added to my daily profit of companionship. There was no strain or austerity in his

"HOSPITAL LADIES MEET—The annual meeting of Ladies Auxiliary of the King's County Hospital was held in the hospital on Monday afternoon at three o'clock. Four new members were added to this active auxiliary. The retiring President, Mrs. W. J. Fraser in her address reported a very successful year. The auxiliary made a substantial payment on the hospital debt. This money was raised by dances, etc., and by contributions from the Women's Institutes of different places. The following new officers were appointed: President, Mrs. Louis McDonald; Vice President, Mrs. W. J. Fraser; Secretary, Mrs. L. B. Mellish; Treasurer, Mrs. Carl Stewart; Director, Mrs. John Poole; Mrs. Preston McInyre, Mrs. Mack Martin, Mrs. A. C. McKay. After the business meeting afternoon tea was served and the ladies were shown through the hospital.—L

"INSTITUTE ANNUAL MEETING—The annual meeting of the Montague Women's Institute was held in the Memorial School on Tuesday evening, Nov. 2, 1937. Reports of the year were given showing a very successful year. Special mention was made of the retiring president's report showing the many activities and what was accomplished by this busy institute. This report read by Mrs. Reynolds herself might well have a place in our report, but her modesty would not allow it. The officers for 1938 are as follows. Hon. President, Mrs. Lemuel McLaren; Vice President, Mrs. Wilfred Watterworth; Vice President, Mrs. D. McDonald; Treasurer, Miss Mary Lamont; Directors, Mrs. Louis McDonald, Mrs. A. D. McLaren, Mrs. M. Reynolds; Auditors, Mrs. Preston McInyre, Mrs. J. E. Poole. The ladies have assisted the Canadian Legion in serving dinner in I. O. O. F. hall on Remembrance Day.—L

"W. M. S. MEETING—Mrs. Effie Bruce entertained the W. M. S. of the United Church at her home on Tuesday evening. Mrs. L. A. Johnstone had charge of the worship period and made this part of the meeting very interesting. The theme was "A Worshiping Church." She pointed out the greatest words spoken by Jesus on worship and the place that worship had in the early church of our forefathers? Also what is one of the greatest Christian prayers. This was answered in Ephesians 3, 14-21. This was closed with a circle of prayer. Mrs. McLean then read an article on "The 'Trend of Life, showing that the swimmers should help the weaker Christian. Even as a river may be said to flow south, it may turn and twist in all other directions and still end south, and so the new Christian may stumble and turn aside; but his own duty to help him face in the right direction again. The Tragedy of Mayerling

VIENNA, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Princess Stephanie of Belgium, the woman who but for a stroke of fate, would have been Empress of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, has broken a silence of many years to talk about "The Tragedy of Mayerling."

The Princess said she knew that her first husband, the dashing and impetuous crown Prince Rudolf, first born of Emperor Franz Josef, committed suicide at Mayerling.

The world has made a romantic mystery of events which occurred in a hunting lodge at the edge of the little village, near Vienna, in 1889.

An official explanation related that the Crown Prince and the beautiful Baroness Vetsera were found, one morning, shot to death in a little building in which hunters of the royal family occasionally slept.

The succession to the throne was changed. Princess Stephanie, who had come from Belgium as Rudolf's bride eight years before, lost all prospects of becoming an Empress. Official accounts, always vague, gave credence to the supposition that the crown Prince had taken his own life.

Books and plays seemingly without number, based on the "tragedy of Mayerling," were produced.

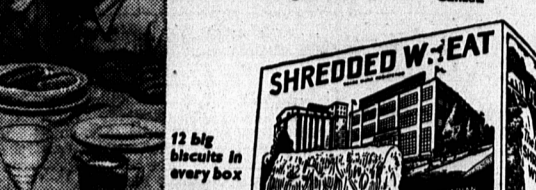

One supposition which gained some currency and which has been revived by writers this year, was that the body of an unknown man was placed beside that of Baroness Vetsera and that the crown Prince fled from his responsibilities to a life of adventure in South America.

It was this version that caused Princess Stephanie, now 73 years old and living quietly in Hungary, to break her long silence.

"The Crown Prince committed suicide. There is no mistake about that," she said. "There was no possibility of an error of identifica-

Approved Chicks Make Most Profits

The importance and volume which the chick hatchery business has assumed in Canada in the last few years may not be generally appreciated. During the 1937 hatching season, 12,900,000 chicks were produced and sold by over 500 breeders and hatchery-men operating under the Record of Performance and Hatchery Approval Policies administered by the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

To produce these chicks, 21,500,000 eggs were set, enough to fill 135 freight cars and make a train over one mile long. All of these eggs were produced by flocks which had been culled, that is, the poor birds as regarded egg production or meat type removed. Practically all of these flocks were also blood-tested as an insurance against outbreaks of pullorum disease in the offspring. A large number of flocks were headed by Record of Performance males—males whose female ancestors for two or more generations had laid over two hundred, two ounce eggs per year.

Through Record of Performance and Hatchery Approval, also through cooperation with the various Provinces, the breeders and hatchery-men are steadily improving the quality of eggs and poultry meat produced on the farms throughout the country.

More and more farmers to-day realize that they can purchase, either from Record of Performance breeders or approved hatchery-men, chicks of a higher quality and at less cost than can be produced on their farms. The approved chicks sold in 1937 are enough to replace half of the total poultry flock of Canada.

Under Record of Performance chicks of various grades and quality are produced, ranging from straight approved commercial chicks, selling in competition with those produced by non-approved hatcheries, to chicks selling as high as $1 each, produced from the finest matings of pedigreed, high production, progeny tested matings in Record of Performance flocks.

The flocks inspected and approved as the sources of hatching eggs for these approved hatcheries are bred and culled not only for high egg production and large egg size, but also for the production of poultry of good market type and quality. Half of the chicks reared each year will be males, and the majority of these have to be sold as broilers or roasters. Fowls also have to be sold as market birds after they have finished one or two years of layings. It is therefore important that the birds be bred to a type which will have a desirable appearance when dressed for market and bring the highest price. A difference of two or three cents a pound premium received for high quality market birds over those of a lower quality is an important factor when a large number of birds are to be marketed.

The time will soon be here when orders will be placed for chicks for 1938. Those who wish to make the highest possible profit from their poultry flocks will order chicks from Record of Performance breeders or approved hatchery-men. High production, large egg size, suitable meat type are thus ensured.

For Sunday night supper or for an informal luncheon you will like this meat loaf.

One pound ground ham, 1-2 pound ground pork, 1-2 pound ground veal, 2 teaspoons salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1-4 cup butter, 1-2 cup minced onion, 1-2 cup minced celery, 1-2 cup milk, 1 egg.

Ham, veal and pork should be ground twice by butcher. Brown onion in butter, add milk, add bread crumbs and seasoning to meat. Beat eggs into milk mixture, then add to meat mixture and combine well. Pack in buttered bread pan. Arrange strips of bacon over top. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for 1-1 1/4 hours.
