Steady Progress During Year In Scout Movement

Increased interest in Scouting activities in Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia, and throughout Canada generally is reported by Mr. H. G. Greenaway, Dominion Field Commissioner for Nova Scotia, who was among the speakers at the annual meeting of the Provincial Boy Scouts Association on Monday evening.

Interviewed, Mr. Greenaway said the membership last year of 81,000 for Canada, which represented an increase of 15,000 over the previous year, will be still further increased this year; and there is every reason to expect, in the near future, a achievement of the objective of 100,000 membership suggested by the former Governor General Lord Bessborough.

The same generous support given the movement by Lord Bessborough is being continued by his successor in office, Lord Tweedsmuir.

Mr. Greenaway was pleased, to note at the provincial Association meeting, the attendance from Summerside and other centres, indicating the province-wide interest in scouting activities. In Nova Scotia also very satisfactory progress is being made.

"We have just completed a district cadet training course at King's University College," Mr. Greenaway explained. "Fifteen of the students took the course. There is now a movement underway to put on a similar course at Dalhousie. There is also a training course to be put in at Acadia and I am introducing one next week in Truro. During the coming week-end a training course for patrol leaders will be given at Bridgewater, Lunenburg County. There has been a greatly increased interest in scouting activities in that County. They have now a troop fifty strong, with an excellent Scoutmaster in charge.

"In North Sydney the work is going ahead by leaps and bounds. Glace Bay has just formed a new local association, taking in New Waterford, Dominion, Reserve, and other sections.

"Halifax also has made great progress during the last year with many new Cub packs and Scout troops, and two Rover crews.

"During the year we have paid special attention to Cubbing and Scouting. Next year we plan to devote our efforts to Rovering, and have formed a committee of business men, who are not in Scouting at the present time, to go into the whole question of Rover training under the chairmanship of the Commissioner Mr. W. E. Tibb."

Mr. Greenaway had read while in taking place here in Girl Guide activities. This he attributed to the visit last year of Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, which did so much to stimulate interest both in Scouting and Girl Guide work throughout Canada.

British Warning Is Followed By Fleet Movement

French shippers, officials said, will be told to do everything possible to avoid international incidents.

The French fleet is ready to protect French merchant ships on the high seas, but they must remember that when in Spanish waters they are subject to Spanish law," a spokesman said.

The French answer to Spanish insurgent blockade threats, officials said, was that France would continue to support the rights of French ships to pursue "normal commerce" in Spain.

France, unlike Great Britain, did not contemplate special legislation to prohibit her vessels from carrying arms to Spain, spokesmen said, because the Government held the non-intervention agreement covered the matter "sufficiently."

Paris, Nov. 24—France, joining Great Britain, declared tonight she would tolerate no interference with French ships on the high seas by either side in the Spanish civil war.

An official statement said "inside the three-mile limit French merchant ships will submit to the control of local authorities under international law. But beyond that zone the French Government will permit no halting, visiting or seizure by either of the two Spanish fleets, having recognized neither party as a belligerent."

Children's Aid Society Has Very Successful Year

Children have been wards of the Society and supervision and aid has been given to very many more. For years he had felt, the president said, that the society was losing out in its fight to reclaim children but he was glad to be able to take a more optimistic view this year.

During his address Dr. MacMillan referred with regret to the retirement from the executive of Mr. John McKenna.

Miss Lea's Address

The Children's Aid Society is fundamentally a guardian organization. Miss Neta Lea said in her address. Officers of the society need to plan in season and out of season for the ultimate welfare of the children under their care. It was not enough that they be warmly clad, well fed and properly housed. The spiritual and mental needs of the children are of the utmost importance and should be carefully watched.

Teachers, Priests and Clergymen are valuable aids to the society, which to be successful must have the backing and sympathetic support of the whole community, Miss Lea declared.

In the welfare of children a very important aspect is the building up of a normal home life. In many homes it is found that the parents are either unable to maintain a normal home life. Such homes very frequently give rise to the "problem child."

In many cases, however, it has been found that with supervision, instruction and assistance such homes can be reclaimed and made into normal homes. Churches, Women's Institutes and other organizations already in the field can be made great use of in this branch of work.

The maxim that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure was never more true than in child welfare work, Miss Lea said.

The adoption problem is another one to which the society must give serious thought. The Society is not in the field to fill empty homes but to provide homes for children needing them. Adoption properly carried out can provide great satisfaction to the child and the home. The placements, however, need to be wisely made and carefully followed up, Miss Lea said in conclusion.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speaker, moved by His Worship Mayor Turner and seconded by Mr. L. B. Miller, The Rev. Father Fleming and Mr. Donald McKinnon and Major T. E. McNeill spoke in support of the motion.

N. B. Farmer Raises 701 Bushels Potatoes To An Acre

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

PRESQUE ISLE, Me., Nov. 24—Because he asked a "lot of questions about the potato-raising business," a former New Brunswick farmer, tonight achieved a national record for per-acre yield in this state of "spud-growing farmers."

Frank Shaw, the new record holder, came here from Carleton County, N. B., four years ago with no knowledge of potatoes beyond what he tasted like.

Shaw, who runs a 120-acre farm, and lives with his wife and daughter, said, "I obtained all the advice I could from growers around here who seemed to know the potato-raising business."

Officials of the state department of agriculture said he raised an average of 701 bushels an acre on a 2 1/2-acre plot.

The record he beat, agriculture department officials said, was 696 bushels to the acre, held by Walton and Sons, Chester County, Pa.

Other individuals, officials said, have produced greater yields under record ground for a yield raised without incitement and without irrigation.

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

FAMA's Pm., Nov. 24—The American Federation of Labor today termed Communism, Fascism and Nazism "a definite threat to human liberty and to peace," and voted to fight the spread of these doctrines with all its strength.

Drawing to a close after disposing of the John L. Lewis revolt issue, the Federation's 56th annual convention declared European dictators had wiped out the workman's liberties and aimed "by force and bloodshed" to subjugate "all those within the nation who may differ."

"Under Fascism, Nazism and Communism, political differences of opinion are held to be treason," the convention's resolutions asserted.

The convention also voted to reaffirm its boycott on German goods, but turned down a resolution to support the Spanish loyalists.

May Tame Salmon For Fresh Water

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Nov. 24—Canada's inland lakes may host another type of fighting fish in an experiment now being carried on with Atlantic salmon works out.

The experiment is designed to determine whether the mighty salmon which is born in fresh water and returns to fresh water to spawn but spends the greater part of its life roaming the depths of the open sea can be tamed and made to live in fresh water lakes.

Recently 2,500 Atlantic salmon fingerlings were shipped from the Dominion government fish hatchery at Yarmouth, N. S., to the Snake River district of Quebec, not far from Mattawa, Ont. They were released in fresh water lakes, the outlets of which had been carefully screened.

The fate of these little fish in the next few years will determine whether environment in this case is stronger than heredity. They will be watched to see if they mature, spawn and reproduce in their new home. If they do other suitable inland lakes may be stocked with salmon from the sea.

Two Toronto men, Prof. W. J. K. Harkness of the University of Toronto, and Moffatt Dunlap are undertaking the experiment. The Dominion department of fisheries supplied the fingerlings and supervised their shipment to the Snake River district. The fingerlings ended their journey in good condition and only a few passed out on the way.
