he did not know what caused it. The truck took to the ditch and struck a pole and turned over. Witness said that the spinning of the wheel had happened before and he had had the truck in the garage and repaired. He said he did not know how fast the car was driving as the speedometer was not working but he estimated his speed as between 25 and 30 miles an hour.

Dr. J. R. Mutchmor Special Speaker At Trinity Church

Dr. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary of the Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church of Canada was the special speaker at the evening service in Trinity Church last night.

Following the special World Communion sermon by Reverend T. E. MacLennan in the morning he spoke for the last two verses of the first chapter of Paul's letter to the Ephesians: "And hath not all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head of the church, which is his body, the fulness of him that filleth all in all. He dwelt particularly on the words 'the church, which is His body.' Dr. Mutchmor stressed that it must be not only a visible body, but it must be a living body, with life, vitality, enough to solve the issues of the day. We must become better Christians than we have ever been before, for we must grow. Body must be a growing body, and must be a greater blessing than any other blessing. It spoke of the settling of the steel strike, but he said something in that great fellowship of workers in that steel plant has been broken, and would take a long time to be healed. We have not broken fellowship, but have today a broken world. Christ for body was broken for us. If His body had not been broken there had been no chance for the earth. He breaks the power of sin, and sets the sinner free. It is the only gospel for a broken world. But it must also be a risen body. There was something so profound, so mighty within the body of Christ that it could not be kept within the tomb. As a result of two wars the body of the world has been not only broken, but driven down into the earth and it will not be easy for it to rise again. We often wonder what the morning will be like, but there must be something vital and powerful within His body which will give the Church the resilience which is needed. By His broken body, and our being related to that body, as individuals, we are able to give the world the body of Christ, the resurrection is greater even than the gospel of the Cross. This then is the hope of a just and enduring peace—it will not come from the laboratory or the chemist, but will come only from Him who rises from the resurrection tomb." (Patriot please copy)

On Friday evening, September 27th a number of friends gathered at the home of Mrs. James MacKinnon, Richmond Street, where a linen shower was held in honor of Rev. Louis Dougan, who takes up his new duties at St. Ann's Parish, Lot 66, Mrs. McAuley read a fitting address. Mrs. Fred Coyne presented the gifts from a beautiful dining table and the accompanying vase were read by Miss Angie Dorian and Mrs. Frank Sigworth.

Rev. Father Dougan thanked his friends in a charming manner for their expression of good wishes. The guests were then served to a delicious lunch by the hostess, Mrs. McAuley, assisted by Mrs. W. L. McManus and Mrs. McAuley. The remainder of the evening was spent in social entertainment.

Following is the address: Rev. Louis Dougan, P. E. I. Reverend and very dear Father, I wish to thank you, for coming to this parish meeting this evening. We are grateful for the opportunity of testifying to you our affection, gratitude, and esteem.

We wish you to know as a part of the congregation of the Parish, and indeed as a part of the Catholic people of Charlottetown, we share in the universal regret that is being felt at the loss of your presence in our city. We have long admired your priestly zeal, your charity, your devotedness, above all your Christ-like solicitude for the sick and the dying.

Others, however, will know better than we how you pleased your work among the faithful. We would this evening evince in a humble way our appreciation of your zeal for the glory of God, and for the grandeur of the ceremonies of holy church. It has been our privilege to have you in this work, and we know perhaps better than others how much you have done in this regard for the honor of religion. At the same time you have given to your altar and your work an invaluable contribution which must make of them in the future better men and finer Christians.

We wish to thank you in a special manner dear Father, for the many personal kindnesses of which we have been the recipients. With these little gifts we offer fervent prayers that God may bless your work in the parish and in your own life, and that you may continue to be a blessing to the patronage of Saint Ann, whom you taught us to revere, we hope that you will still greater things for His honor and glory and for the good of souls.

SOME SIGNS OF COOLING OFF FOUND AMONG VOTERS TOWARD BRITAIN

Postwar Phenomenon Found in Both U. S. and Britain

By American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 7.—Henry A. Wallace's recent critical remarks about Britain raise the question of whether the people in United States feel more friendly or less friendly toward Britain today than a year ago.

The truth is that the plain people in the United States have shown a marked cooling off toward Russia, U. S. ally in World War II (as reported by the Canadian Institute last Saturday), and also some cooling off toward Britain.

About six in 10 say they feel less friendly toward Russia than they did a year ago when the war ended. Three in 10 say they feel less friendly toward Britain than they did a year ago.

This is probably a natural post-war phenomenon, for the same trends can be found in Britain when people are asked about their feelings toward United States and Russia.

In measuring sentiment in the United States, the Institute had field reporters in all parts of the nation ask a representative sample of voters this question:

"Are Your Feelings Toward Britain More Friendly or Less Friendly Than They Were A Year Ago?"

Peace Conference Approves Rules For Final Sessions

By Louis Nevin

PARIS, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The European peace conference turned to the homestretch tonight for what was expected to be nine solid days and nights of continuing treaty writing sessions in order to adjourn by Oct. 15.

Delegates of the 21 countries, in special 40-minute plenary sessions today, adopted rules of procedure which set up a rigid timetable to be met by limiting each delegation to a 30-minute speech on each of the five treaties which the former satellites of Nazi Germany.

Starting off this afternoon's special plenary session, Mr. Bevin called for general remarks on the rules of procedure, approved last week by the council of foreign ministers.

When there were no comments, Mr. Bevin went over the rules article by article, calling for observations from general remarks on the agenda.

Foreign Secretary Bevin, presiding at today's session, announced he also would be in the presidential chair at 3 p.m. (9 a.m. E.S.T.—10 a.m. A.S.T.) tomorrow when the delegates start their effort to rush through final approval of the treaties.
