

Insurance Companies Purchase Municipal Debentures

Monetary Times, Toronto, May 15

In recent years interest yields of municipals have not been attractive, and consequently funds have directed in other channels. A very marked change, however, has taken place within the last year. Good municipals have been and are still available at excellent interest yield rates and most of the life companies are taking full advantage of the favorable prices and making heavy purchases.

We have carefully selected municipals to yield from 5 1/2 to 6 per cent., in denominations of $100 up. Ask for particulars.

EXAMINATION.-The semi-annual examination of Newton school No. 91 in Prince County was held on Tuesday afternoon June 23rd. There were 38 pupils present and about 23 visitors and ratepayers. The pupils were examined in the different subjects by Story Hynes, Austin McGuigan, Raymond McCarville and Mrs. Isidore Smith. Under the critical drill of the above named examiners the pupils acquitted themselves in a manner highly creditable to themselves and to their teacher Mr. Moan. In this school there is an advanced class of ten pupils. They made an excellent showing in the different subjects in which they were examined. A pleasing feature of the examination was the high state of efficiency found in the lower grades, which goes to show that while an advanced class is successfully taught the smaller pupils are by no means neglected. At the close of the examination addresses were given by the three visiting teachers and also by T. McCabe, P. J. Smith and M. McKenna all complimentary of the work being done. The ratepayers of Newton are interested in the success of their school and this year voted a substantial increase of supplement.

EXAMINATION OF MT. MARY SCHOOL.-The semi-annual examination of Mount Mary graded school, Morell, was held on Friday, June 26 a large attendance of ratepayers and visitors being present, among whom were Rev. A. J. McIntyre, Morell, who conducted the examination. The pupils in the different classes showed by the ready answers and the correct working out of the different problems very careful and experienced training and gratifying success. The primary department in charge of Miss Katie Clarkin was first examined. A marked feature of this was their excellent deportment and the great progress made was most pleasing to all present. The teacher of the numerous pupils in the different classes showed her successful work. In the advanced department, in charge of Miss Annie McKenzie, correctness was a most notable feature and the advanced class showed that they were thoroughly and successfully instructed and that the ground work was solid. The other classes in like manner showed that they were not advanced until they were thorough in their different subjects and to the teacher, Miss McKenzie is given much credit for her untiring efforts and gratifying success. At the close of the exercises the following program was carried out: Valedictory by Marie Murphy, Chor. Motherland, by the school, Recitation, Burial of Sir John Moore by third class. Song, What would you take for me Papa, by pupils of primary department. Song, Back to the Scenes of Yesterday by the pupils of Miss McKenzie's room. At the conclusion of the program, words of commendation were expressed by Rev. A. J. McIntyre who takes a great interest in school work and the building up of a thorough Canadian sentiment. He showed that the boys and girls of today will be the men and women of a few years hence. That all should be impressed with the great importance of all the attributes that go to make 'up good Canadians and a great Canada and also two principal things in life: truthfulness and honesty without which no one would be a great success in life and with which no one could be a failure. At the conclusion of Father McIntyre's very instructive speech, Miss McKenzie, teacher of the advanced dept., replied on behalf of Miss Clarkin and herself, thanking all present for their large attendance and their past courtesies to them and asking them to unite in co-operation with their future teachers and help to make their lives in school work in Mt. Mary as useful and happy as theirs had been. The pupils kindly remembered the teachers with numerous gifts as remembrances of the many happy days they spent together and after partaking of the dainties provided by the teachers and listening to the closing address given by Master Peter Sinnott, one of the pupils, this most instructive and enjoyable examination was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem, when all departed feeling that all departed feeling that they had spent a most pleasant afternoon.-S.

PROFICIENCY PROGRESS PERMANENCY

is all furnished with quartered-oak material presenting an elaborate appearance. One can easily see at a glance that "John R" is a sportsman, for the flags of the Abegweit Club on the walls bespeak as much, reminding the onlooker that Mr. Dinnis is President of the Abegweit Athletic Association. There is nothing elaborate in the private office of Mr. Cameron, but an oppressive array of files and books is silent testimony to the mental strain that gentleman has to undergo. Mr. Cameron, who it may be mentioned, is Professor of Economics of St. Dunstan's College, is just as much a "sport" as Mr. Dinnis, and a large photograph of the College Hockey Team betrays the fact. Mr. Dinnis has installed in the offices a hot-water system, the radiators to be painted in green and gold, while a heavy cornice moulding adds to the general harmony of scene. In case any slow person may not be aware of the location of the premises, it may be as well to state that they are opposite the Post Office and Market buildings. Adverting to the window design, the photograph of "Black Prince" shows up to perfection the magnificent fur and large brush which characterise the Dinnis strain of foxes. The impression made by this picture is lasting, and one is particularly struck with the significance of the motto of the company, "Proficiency, Progress, Permanency." Where here is proficiency, progress follows as a natural course; and where there is this combination of permanency, it is needless to say, is overwhelmingly obvious since it is overwhelmingly obvious that "John R. Dinnis Pedigreed Foxes" is a progressive concern, what more need be said? Mr. Dinnis, who has been indisposed for the past few days, is feeling much improved and hopes to be again at business soon.

Not a Novice Manager

The business of bossing a gang of ball players is not an entirely new thing for Charlie Herzog, new manager of the Reds. Herzog managed a bunch of Giant rookies a number of years ago with some success until he was punched out of his job. A gentleman by the name of Cocach, who has figured on Canadian League teams, did the punching. He objected to some criticism Herzog made to his playing during an exhibition game in Dallas, Texas, sought out Herzog after the game and promptly dislocated Herzog's teeth with one mighty swing to the mouth. When McGraw arrived in Dallas next day and learned of the row he chased Cocach back into the minors and relieved Herzog of the job as rookie manager.
