

"Hat enamel—all colors at Cameron's Hardware Store. 6-11dtf.

"Be sure and look up Gay's advertisement of Flower and vegetable plants in this paper. Every one possessing a few feet of land to a big farm, should be interested in it. J. J. Gay & Son. 6-4mthsdrtf.

Three cards of mending wool each with a darning needle attached, offered you here for just 5 cents.—Moore & McLeod 5 28dtf

"Silk lisle hose in black, tan, navy helle Alice plain hose at 58c, 65, and 59c. Paton's. 6-11dtf.

THE PRINCE COUNTY GUARDIAN

Offices in Summerside, Miss Amy G. Burrows, Agent, Summer Street, and J. F. Lafferty, Water Street, News Correspondent; Herbert Clark, Agent.

—The latest news, first of all.

—Rev G. D. Ireland, wife and family, Woodstock, N. B., formerly of Alberton, are visiting in Fredericton.

—Rev. F. S. Bamford, Summerside, crossed by the Empress on Friday morning last for Liverpool, N. S., where he was to have conducted services yesterday.

—Dr. A. McNeill, Summerside, and Dr. Boyer of Crapaud, returned on Friday evening last from Toronto, where they were attending a meeting of the Canadian Medical Association.

—The tern schooner Peerless finished discharging her cargo of hard coal at Summerside Saturday evening and sailed yesterday morning for Pt Du Chene to load lumber for New York.

—The members of Court Chetiqua and Cabot I. O. F., Summerside, to the number of about fifty, attended divine service at eleven o'clock yesterday morning in the Methodist Church, where the Rev Alex McGillivray of Toronto, Past Assistant Supreme Chief Ranger of the Order preached an able and eloquent sermon to the brotherhood. In addition to the regular service of song the choir rendered several beautiful anthems.

—Mrs Lawson attended the Branch meeting of the W. M. S. at St John last week and was much interested in the sessions. The report from Alberton, P. E. I., was of special interest this report stating that Mrs Lawson's daughters, Misses Mary and Lottie Lawson, had been each presented with a certificate of life membership in the W. M. S. by the Alberton Society. Alberton is a former pastor of Rev W. Lawson and this honor conferred upon the daughters is abundant evidence that fond remembrance of days gone by lingers with the society.—St. John Ex.

—The members of Court Chetiqua and Cabot I. O. F., Summerside, to the number of about fifty, attended divine service at eleven o'clock yesterday morning in the Methodist Church, where the Rev Alex McGillivray of Toronto, Past Assistant Supreme Chief Ranger of the Order preached an able and eloquent sermon to the brotherhood. In addition to the regular service of song the choir rendered several beautiful anthems.

—Screen doors and windows. All sizes at prices lower than the lowest. A post card will get you all information. Send it to R. T. Holman, Ltd. Summerside. 6-11smwdr31.

—The S. S. City of Ghent arrived in Summerside about five o'clock Saturday evening and left again shortly after midnight on return to Halifax taking from Summerside about two hundred packages of small freight.

—Get the habit of sending mail orders to R. T. HOLMAN, LIMITED, Summerside. A dollar saved is as good to you as to anyone else. 6-13dr21.

—Get our prices on cement. R. T. Holman, Ltd, Summerside. 6-11smwdr31.

—We want your wool. Write us for a price. R. T. Holman, Ltd, Summerside. 6-11smwdr31.

—The Morning Daily Guardian can be obtained at Lafferty's Tonsorial Parlors, Summerside. 12-16drtf.

—Alberton's grand tea party will be held on the 20th. of July. It will be a nice pleasant outing. Keep the date in mind. 4wmthrstuaf.

—Get the habit. Buy where you can buy the best. Send for our 150 page catalog. R. T. Holman, Ltd, Summerside. 6-11smwdr31.

—We sell Tungsten's Electric lamps in 32 and 40 c. p. They will reduce your light bill. R. T. Holman, Ltd, Summerside. 6-13dr31.

—Persons desiring excellent pasture land, situated right in the town, should apply at once to J. M. Noonan, Summerside. 5-28dtf.

—Hammocks. Our stock is now complete. Prices from 99 cents to $5.50. Send an order. R. T. Holman, Ltd, Summerside. 6-11smwdr31.

—300 barrels white Portland cement just to hand. It is in paper-lined barrels and is absolutely fresh. Get our price. R. T. Holman, Ltd, Summerside. 6-11smwdr31.

—Screen doors and windows. All sizes at prices lower than the lowest. A post card will get you all information. Send it to R. T. Holman, Ltd. Summerside. 6-11smwdr31.

—The S. S. City of Ghent arrived in Summerside about five o'clock Saturday evening and left again shortly after midnight on return to Halifax taking from Summerside about two hundred packages of small freight.

—Get the habit of sending mail orders to R. T. HOLMAN, LIMITED, Summerside. A dollar saved is as good to you as to anyone else. 6-13dr21.

—Separator Oil and all Dairy Supplies at Brace, McKay & Co's Ltd., Summerside. 6-6dmthrw3w.

—Flour! Flour! Brace, McKay & Co, Ltd., Summerside, have exceptional values to offer. 6-6dmfr3w.

—Anyone thinking of painting should get in touch with Brace, McKay & Co Ltd., Summerside, who can certainly save you money besides giving guaranteed satisfaction. 6-6dmthrw3w.

—All news in Summerside and vicinity should be given to J. F. Lafferty, Guardian correspondent, Water Street, who will also answer all the enquiries of and attend to the wants of renewal and contract advertisers. Miss Amy G. Burrows, Agent, Summer Street, accepts only cash with order, in return for a liberal discount, for transient advertising in The Morning Daily and The Rural Daily, as well as cash with order for new and renewal subscriptions. All amounts for advertising and subscriptions in Alberton and vicinity should be paid to H. Clark, Agent. 4-4drtf.

—The concert given by Professor Adams in the Market Hall, Friday evening was pronounced by those who were present one of the most enjoyable ever given in Summerside. There was a large attendance and every number was well appreciated. Miss Ada Benjamin of Amherst is certainly a clever talented soloist with a voice of rare compass and strength. Her solo "The Ninety and Nine" was beautifully rendered. H. R. Thompson, also of Amherst, possesses a voice of much sweetness and power. His solo "In the Garden of Roses" richly deserved the applause it received, as also did the Scottish Ballad "There is a wee bit lauder". In a duet "Life's Long Dream" is "O'er" by Miss Benjamin and Mr. Thompson the audience was treated to a sample of musical blending rarely enjoyed. Fred McSween also delighted the audience with several selections in his usual excellent style. The humorous reading by J. H. Bell was given in the best style of this popular entertainer. Two classes under the tuition of Professor Adams gave an excellent exhibition of vocal culture, the juvenile class performing with marvellous precision. Professor Adams delighted the audience with a piano solo, a piano and concertina duet and with Miss Gladys Moore in a piano duet. Miss Moore, who is a rising musician is coming rapidly to the front and is even now one of Summerside's most talented pianists.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

—The city of St. Pierre, in Martinique, which only eight years ago was the picturesque abiding place of 40,000 people, is fast being submerged by the tropic wilderness, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The only inhabitants at present are a few black people who dwell like ghouls in the deserted places of the city of the dead.

on the chance of selling to the hands of tourists who come their way souvents of the awful havoc that was wrought by Mount Pelée less than a decade ago. The vegetation is encroaching upon the streets that once teemed with traffic and re-echoed the palaver and ribaldry of a laughter loving people. Soon the whole of the moldering ruin will be overgrown to the verge of the sea, and the wretched sojourner eking out a living in the City of the Dead will be forced to leave it.

Then it will have for its most important citizen a deadly snake, the fer de lance, which creeps into old houses in the West Indies as cobra infests the ancient ruins of India. There is little likelihood that the city will ever live again, any more than the buried cities that, smothered in the jungles of Yucatan, If St. Pierre had been a city of our own country it would have been built within a year or two of the time of its incineration. The fire and the earthquake could not forbid a city on the site of ruined San Francisco. Though Herulessum and Pompeii were buried, a great city rose again in the shadow of Vesuvius and even Messina is rebuilding. A city of fifty thousand was razed to the foundation when Sir Henry Morgan, the pirate, sacked and burned Panama three centuries ago, but a new town rose eight miles from the earlier location. Sir Pierre, however, seems destined to remain a city of the dead, and in a few years more it will be as though it had lain buried under the vines and ferns, abandoned to the lizard and the snake, for centuries.

So it proved, for when the engine had got to within a few yards of the tiny tots it drew up amid shrill yells of triumph from the women. Policemen, gendarmes and railway officials areued with the strikers (who by this time had returned) and their wives, to no purpose. Seven men were arrested, but that had no effect. The sub-pretect then came, accompanied by magistrates and several high officials of the company, and tried to bring the strikers to terms, but the babies remained on the rails and the men lay down on the track.

All idea of removing the trucks was given up, and in the evening the strikers, who still held possession, dragged together a heap of sleepers and set fire to them to keep themselves warm. Their wives meanwhile took their babies home in triumph. At night the situation became even more serious. The strikers smashed the machinery at several quarries, the gendarmes being unable to hold them in check, and the brakes on the railway trucks were put out of gear. When the gendarmes approached the strikers their wives resorted to their previous stratagem, and threw themselves on the road with their children.

A regular skirmish took place at an embankment between gendarmes and strikers, the latter hurling showers of stones and iron scrap. A gendarme was badly wounded, and had to be conveyed to the hospital.

One of the most remarkable actions ever taken in a strike was witnessed at Mery-sur-Oise, near Pontoise, the week before last, the wives of the striking quarrymen going so far as to place their babies on the railway track to prevent the removal of some trucks.

The strike of the men employed in the local quarries has been going on for the last two months and on Wednesday a gang of about three hundred strikers took the local station by assault, in order to stop a train which was carrying stone from the quarries where the men have not abandoned work.

Police and gendarmes were summoned, but the rioters lay down on the line, stopping all traffic. It took the officials nearly an hour to clear the track. Directly the men had been driven off their wives and children made another unexpected assault on the railway line. Women placed their babies on the rails just as a goods train was about to start.

"Now," they shouted, "let the train pass if you dare!" There was a shriek from the engine whistle, and the train started to move, the engine driver evidently anticipating that the mothers would snatch their babes from the rails on the engine's approach. But they were made of sterner stuff than that. They

babies used in a strike in France. Mothers Place Children on Railway Line.

One of the most remarkable actions ever taken in a strike was witnessed at Mery-sur-Oise, near Pontoise, the week before last, the wives of the striking quarrymen going so far as to place their babies on the railway track to prevent the removal of some trucks.

The strike of the men employed in the local quarries has been going on for the last two months and on Wednesday a gang of about three hundred strikers took the local station by assault, in order to stop a train which was carrying stone from the quarries where the men have not abandoned work.

Police and gendarmes were summoned, but the rioters lay down on the line, stopping all traffic. It took the officials nearly an hour to clear the track. Directly the men had been driven off their wives and children made another unexpected assault on the railway line. Women placed their babies on the rails just as a goods train was about to start.

"Now," they shouted, "let the train pass if you dare!" There was a shriek from the engine whistle, and the train started to move, the engine driver evidently anticipating that the mothers would snatch their babes from the rails on the engine's approach. But they were made of sterner stuff than that. They

babies used in a strike in France. Mothers Place Children on Railway Line.

One of the most remarkable actions ever taken in a strike was witnessed at Mery-sur-Oise, near Pontoise, the week before last, the wives of the striking quarrymen going so far as to place their babies on the railway track to prevent the removal of some trucks.

The strike of the men employed in the local quarries has been going on for the last two months and on Wednesday a gang of about three hundred strikers took the local station by assault, in order to stop a train which was carrying stone from the quarries where the men have not abandoned work.

Police and gendarmes were summoned, but the rioters lay down on the line, stopping all traffic. It took the officials nearly an hour to clear the track. Directly the men had been driven off their wives and children made another unexpected assault on the railway line. Women placed their babies on the rails just as a goods train was about to start.

"Now," they shouted, "let the train pass if you dare!" There was a shriek from the engine whistle, and the train started to move, the engine driver evidently anticipating that the mothers would snatch their babes from the rails on the engine's approach. But they were made of sterner stuff than that. They

babies used in a strike in France. Mothers Place Children on Railway Line.

One of the most remarkable actions ever taken in a strike was witnessed at Mery-sur-Oise, near Pontoise, the week before last, the wives of the striking quarrymen going so far as to place their babies on the railway track to prevent the removal of some trucks.

The strike of the men employed in the local quarries has been going on for the last two months and on Wednesday a gang of about three hundred strikers took the local station by assault, in order to stop a train which was carrying stone from the quarries where the men have not abandoned work.

Police and gendarmes were summoned, but the rioters lay down on the line, stopping all traffic. It took the officials nearly an hour to clear the track. Directly the men had been driven off their wives and children made another unexpected assault on the railway line. Women placed their babies on the rails just as a goods train was about to start.

"Now," they shouted, "let the train pass if you dare!" There was a shriek from the engine whistle, and the train started to move, the engine driver evidently anticipating that the mothers would snatch their babes from the rails on the engine's approach. But they were made of sterner stuff than that. They

babies used in a strike in France. Mothers Place Children on Railway Line.

One of the most remarkable actions ever taken in a strike was witnessed at Mery-sur-Oise, near Pontoise, the week before last, the wives of the striking quarrymen going so far as to place their babies on the railway track to prevent the removal of some trucks.

The strike of the men employed in the local quarries has been going on for the last two months and on Wednesday a gang of about three hundred strikers took the local station by assault, in order to stop a train which was carrying stone from the quarries where the men have not abandoned work.

on the chance of selling to the hands of tourists who come their way souvents of the awful havoc that was wrought by Mount Pelée less than a decade ago. The vegetation is encroaching upon the streets that once teemed with traffic and re-echoed the palaver and ribaldry of a laughter loving people. Soon the whole of the moldering ruin will be overgrown to the verge of the sea, and the wretched sojourner eking out a living in the City of the Dead will be forced to leave it.

Then it will have for its most important citizen a deadly snake, the fer de lance, which creeps into old houses in the West Indies as cobra infests the ancient ruins of India. There is little likelihood that the city will ever live again, any more than the buried cities that, smothered in the jungles of Yucatan, If St. Pierre had been a city of our own country it would have been built within a year or two of the time of its incineration. The fire and the earthquake could not forbid a city on the site of ruined San Francisco. Though Herulessum and Pompeii were buried, a great city rose again in the shadow of Vesuvius and even Messina is rebuilding. A city of fifty thousand was razed to the foundation when Sir Henry Morgan, the pirate, sacked and burned Panama three centuries ago, but a new town rose eight miles from the earlier location. Sir Pierre, however, seems destined to remain a city of the dead, and in a few years more it will be as though it had lain buried under the vines and ferns, abandoned to the lizard and the snake, for centuries.

So it proved, for when the engine had got to within a few yards of the tiny tots it drew up amid shrill yells of triumph from the women. Policemen, gendarmes and railway officials areued with the strikers (who by this time had returned) and their wives, to no purpose. Seven men were arrested, but that had no effect. The sub-pretect then came, accompanied by magistrates and several high officials of the company, and tried to bring the strikers to terms, but the babies remained on the rails and the men lay down on the track.

All idea of removing the trucks was given up, and in the evening the strikers, who still held possession, dragged together a heap of sleepers and set fire to them to keep themselves warm. Their wives meanwhile took their babies home in triumph. At night the situation became even more serious. The strikers smashed the machinery at several quarries, the gendarmes being unable to hold them in check, and the brakes on the railway trucks were put out of gear. When the gendarmes approached the strikers their wives resorted to their previous stratagem, and threw themselves on the road with their children.

A regular skirmish took place at an embankment between gendarmes and strikers, the latter hurling showers of stones and iron scrap. A gendarme was badly wounded, and had to be conveyed to the hospital.

One of the most remarkable actions ever taken in a strike was witnessed at Mery-sur-Oise, near Pontoise, the week before last, the wives of the striking quarrymen going so far as to place their babies on the railway track to prevent the removal of some trucks.

The strike of the men employed in the local quarries has been going on for the last two months and on Wednesday a gang of about three hundred strikers took the local station by assault, in order to stop a train which was carrying stone from the quarries where the men have not abandoned work.

Police and gendarmes were summoned, but the rioters lay down on the line, stopping all traffic. It took the officials nearly an hour to clear the track. Directly the men had been driven off their wives and children made another unexpected assault on the railway line. Women placed their babies on the rails just as a goods train was about to start.

"Now," they shouted, "let the train pass if you dare!" There was a shriek from the engine whistle, and the train started to move, the engine driver evidently anticipating that the mothers would snatch their babes from the rails on the engine's approach. But they were made of sterner stuff than that. They

babies used in a strike in France. Mothers Place Children on Railway Line.

One of the most remarkable actions ever taken in a strike was witnessed at Mery-sur-Oise, near Pontoise, the week before last, the wives of the striking quarrymen going so far as to place their babies on the railway track to prevent the removal of some trucks.

The strike of the men employed in the local quarries has been going on for the last two months and on Wednesday a gang of about three hundred strikers took the local station by assault, in order to stop a train which was carrying stone from the quarries where the men have not abandoned work.

Police and gendarmes were summoned, but the rioters lay down on the line, stopping all traffic. It took the officials nearly an hour to clear the track. Directly the men had been driven off their wives and children made another unexpected assault on the railway line. Women placed their babies on the rails just as a goods train was about to start.

"Now," they shouted, "let the train pass if you dare!" There was a shriek from the engine whistle, and the train started to move, the engine driver evidently anticipating that the mothers would snatch their babes from the rails on the engine's approach. But they were made of sterner stuff than that. They

babies used in a strike in France. Mothers Place Children on Railway Line.

One of the most remarkable actions ever taken in a strike was witnessed at Mery-sur-Oise, near Pontoise, the week before last, the wives of the striking quarrymen going so far as to place their babies on the railway track to prevent the removal of some trucks.

The strike of the men employed in the local quarries has been going on for the last two months and on Wednesday a gang of about three hundred strikers took the local station by assault, in order to stop a train which was carrying stone from the quarries where the men have not abandoned work.

Police and gendarmes were summoned, but the rioters lay down on the line, stopping all traffic. It took the officials nearly an hour to clear the track. Directly the men had been driven off their wives and children made another unexpected assault on the railway line. Women placed their babies on the rails just as a goods train was about to start.

"Now," they shouted, "let the train pass if you dare!" There was a shriek from the engine whistle, and the train started to move, the engine driver evidently anticipating that the mothers would snatch their babes from the rails on the engine's approach. But they were made of sterner stuff than that. They

babies used in a strike in France. Mothers Place Children on Railway Line.

One of the most remarkable actions ever taken in a strike was witnessed at Mery-sur-Oise, near Pontoise, the week before last, the wives of the striking quarrymen going so far as to place their babies on the railway track to prevent the removal of some trucks.

The strike of the men employed in the local quarries has been going on for the last two months and on Wednesday a gang of about three hundred strikers took the local station by assault, in order to stop a train which was carrying stone from the quarries where the men have not abandoned work.

Police and gendarmes were summoned, but the rioters lay down on the line, stopping all traffic. It took the officials nearly an hour to clear the track. Directly the men had been driven off their wives and children made another unexpected assault on the railway line. Women placed their babies on the rails just as a goods train was about to start.

"Now," they shouted, "let the train pass if you dare!" There was a shriek from the engine whistle, and the train started to move, the engine driver evidently anticipating that the mothers would snatch their babes from the rails on the engine's approach. But they were made of sterner stuff than that. They

babies used in a strike in France. Mothers Place Children on Railway Line.

One of the most remarkable actions ever taken in a strike was witnessed at Mery-sur-Oise, near Pontoise, the week before last, the wives of the striking quarrymen going so far as to place their babies on the railway track to prevent the removal of some trucks.

The strike of the men employed in the local quarries has been going on for the last two months and on Wednesday a gang of about three hundred strikers took the local station by assault, in order to stop a train which was carrying stone from the quarries where the men have not abandoned work.

Our Counters are On Snaps for Every Day

- Here are a few of them
32 inch print cotton 10c
Women's black stockings 12c
Women's black stockings 12c
Women's black cashmere hose 15c
Men's black cashmere hose 25c
Men's cotton hose 25c
Clothes brushes 12c
Fine quality clothes brushes 15c
Fine quality hair brushes 15c
Nail brushes 5c
Tooth brushes 5c
Remember our premium goes with every Dollar purchase.

W. C. TURNER & CO. The Low Price Store, Sunnyside, Ch' town

A Suit Special at $24.50

A Suit Special at $24.50

Just to keep things booming we have selected from our big stock, a line of swell suitings, we have figured them down fine and they are going to move out at $24.50 per suit. The cloths are in beautifully finished English Worsteds, in this season's newest patterns, on the Greens Greys, and Browns. You will agree with us that they are extra good value at the price. Come in and pick out your cloth, and have us make you a suit and you will find out what comfort there is in wearing high class, well made, perfect fitting, stylish clothes. We want keep you half the summer waiting for your suit, as we have a large staff of expert workmen, and we will give you your suit when you want it.

MacLellan Bros. High Class Tailors

Walk Over Shoes Morris & Smith 127 Q 101 Street

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Moore & McLeod Standard Patterns 10c and 15c

Nemo Corset---the ideal corset for stout figures

On the fit and shapeliness of the corset depends to a great extent the grace and perfection of the gown. The right corset improves a good figure---and wonderfully assists a figure that is not so good. This corset department of ours exists to give you the very best in corsets---at the closest price for which good corsets are sold. We carry the best numbers in the popular NEMO CORSET the perfect corset for stout figures; all sizes, $2.50 and $3.50

D & A Corsets 50c to 3.50 Largest Range In Town

Many Wearers Prefer The Popular B & I Corsets

This is one of the best corsets on the market, probably the very best medium priced corset that money can buy. It is made in every style for every sort of figure 50c, 75c, 1.00, 1.50, 2.00, 2.50, 2.75, 3.50

The famous MOORMAC DOLLAR CORSET is the best dollar corset that one hundred cents will buy in Canada. We want you to compare it with anything that can be produced, and if the MOORMAC is not best, we will not expect your purchase $1.00.

Bargains on Carpenters' Tools including hammers, squares, bits, saws, planes, rakes, saw sets, plows, braces, files, chisels. Prices from 35c to $1.00. All American goods at Cameron & Co., London House.

NOVA SCOTIA STEEL & COAL COMPANY FIRST MORTGAGE 5 PER CENT 50-YEAR GOLD BONDS. The operations of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company are varied, and a depression