France Now Plans to Invade German Territory

And Operate the German Coal and Iron Mines in Rhur Basin. Rhine Barriers Will be Set Up and German Officials Replaced by Rhinelanders. France Now in Position to Enforce Her Demands in Germany.

(Special to The Guardian.)
PARIS, Aug. 3.—France plans to invade Germany and seize and operate the coal and iron mines in the Rhur Basin if the Berlin Government refuses to pay war debts.

Industries now in the hands of the Stinnes, Thyssen and Krupp, all multi-millionaires will be operated by France, until all obligations are met, the French Press, outlining Premier Poincaré's plan of coercion announced today.

According to a plan, a Rhine land customs barrier against Germany will be set up and German officials replaced by Rhinelanders. The Rhineland commission in event the plan is carried out would call for an election which would give the territory over au-tomatically.

The Petit Parisien states that France is willing to reduce Germany debt to $12,000,000,000 on condition that Germany accepts definitely and that the interallied debts are cancelled.

The note of Lord Balfour which informed the European allies that they must pay enough of their debts so that England may settle her war obligations with the United States, was played directly into the hands of France, it was believed here.

England has told France that she must pay because the United States wants her money from Great Britain, and now France is in a position to demand that Germany call for an election which would give the territory over au-

Unveiling of Monument at Murray Harbor Yesterday

Large Number of People Attend Unveiling Ceremony. Eloquent Address Delivered by Rev. G. C. Taylor.

A large number of people from the city and surrounding country attended the unveiling ceremony yesterday afternoon at Murray Harbor North of the large monument erected by the Presbyterian Congregation of that place in memory of seven young men who fell in the Great War.

The ceremony which commenced at 2 p. m. was opened by a hymn, rendered by the Murray Harbor Presbyterian Church Choir. This was followed by a Scripture Reading and prayer by the pastor Rev. J. S. McKay.

The monument was then unveiled by Mr. Wendal Graham formerly an officer in the Canadian Aviation Corps and the principal speaker for the occasion, Rev. G. C. Taylor was introduced by Rev. J. S. McKay.

Rev. Mr. Taylor in his opening remarks complimented the members of the congregation on the erection of such a splendid memorial and said it must indeed be a source of consolation to the relatives of those brave young men to see that they are not forgotten.

In the course of his speech he gave a very vivid description of the sufferings and hardships endured by those brave Canadian soldiers who sacrificed all and laid down their lives for the sacred cause of freedom. He brought home to those present the conditions which they really existed in the trenches and went on to describe several deeds of heroism he had witnessed with his own eyes.

Mr. Taylor concluded his address with a touching tribute to the seven young men, the memory of who he hoped would be cherished by both the present and future generations of Murray Harbor.

Colonel J. D. Stewart, who was the next speaker, in a brief address congratulated the people of Murray Harbor on the deep spirit of patriotism which prevailed among them and said he felt sure that if called upon tomorrow they would respond in the same manner as they did in 1914. He was proud he said to take part in such a celebration and hoped that those names inscribed on the monument would ever be held in sacred memory.

The monument, massive, though simple in structure, is of granite and stands about 15 feet in height. On three sides are inscribed the names of the fallen, while on the fourth are the lines:

We are the dead. Short days ago we lived.
Fell dawn saw sunset glow
Loved and were loved, and now
We lie in Flanders field.

The following are the names, ages and dates of death of the fallen.

Private William Henry Graham, age 21 years, killed in action March 17th, 1917.
Roy Angus MacDonald, age 24, killed April 9th, 1917, at Vimy Ridge.

Assassins of Field Marshal Wilson to Die

(Special to The Guardian.)
LONDON, Aug. 3.—The Court of Criminal Appeal, today heard and dismissed the appeals of Joseph Dunn, under sentence of death for the assassination of Field Marshal Wilson. The appellants were not present at the hearing.

Investigation into Origin Of Recent Tragic Fire

The Investigation Opened in City Court Thursday Morning and After the Taking of Some Evidence Was Adjourned for Further Enquiry.

The investigation into the cause of the fire on July 29th, at the Brasserie building, Queen St., was held in the Magistrate's Court, at 10.30, Thursday, before Fire Marshal E. H. Beer.

Mr. W. E. Bentley watched the case for the proprietor of the Spa and Mr. Donald McKinnon for the K. B. Brasserie.

The first witness called was Assistant Chief A. N. Larrie (sworn). I attended the fire, around 2.10 a. m. Sunday July 29th, when I got there we smashed in the shop window of the Spa. I helped kick the door in (Queen St). The firemen could not get past the fire-escape. The fire seemed to be in back of the shop. This fire appeared to me to be in the Spa kitchen. It might have come through from the Chinaman's Restaurant. My opinion, from appearances, the most of the fire was in the Spa kitchen. I heard no explosion in the building during the fire. I saw nothing that would arouse my suspicions in any way. I consider the fire was extinguished in good time. It was a hard building to fight a fire in. There was only one stairway for the two buildings from the street. I do not consider that sufficient. If a person were prevented coming down the south west stairway it would be difficult to get out. I was in the building during the fire, and after I do not think the stairway ample provision for the people sleeping upstairs.

To Mr. McKinnon: There was no stairway at the back of the Spa building that I could see. As far as I could judge the fire was in Spa kitchen.

To Mr. Bentley: There were others on the scene when I got there. I accompanied the chemist, the other machine followed. There was quite a body of fire when we got there. I did not see Police Officer Doyle. I know nothing of heating arrangements in Chinaman's restaurant. I am not in a position to state whether the fire started in Chinaman's kitchen for Spa kitchen.

E. C. Harris (sworn). On Saturday evening July 29th I left the Spa at 10.45 p. m. and went into the Spa for a lunch. Heber Large and Thos Crearer were in there and in about fifteen minutes John Rattenbury looking for Crearer to fix his car. He also sat for lunch. At 11.30 I started for home. Large said I am going home too, and all left the Spa at the same time about 11.30 p. m. It was raining and we got in Rattenbury's car and drove around. We got out at Hughes Apothecaries Hall Corner and Large, Crearer and myself walked through Queen's Square to his car. I arrived at 11.30 and went to bed. Large said with me. I went to sleep. Next I know I awoke about 6 o'clock and told me of the fire. Large was not there. I got up and went to the fire. I have no knowledge of Large leaving the bed but he was gone when I awoke and I don't know when he left. Saw no action whatever on Large's part either in Spa or after which would arouse suspicion.

To Mr. Bentley: When I left Spa I left with Large and the others. There was no sign of fire and no hot food served. We were there about three quarters of an hour.

Vatcher (sworn). I am a member of the Fire Department, Capt. of Hose Co. Met the gear at the room somewhere about 2.10. I was one of the first firemen to arrive. I met Ross, a lady and Chinaman standing by Spa door. I found the stairway in front filled with smoke, the one leading to Ross's boarding house. It was heavy smoke. I went to top of stairs. I could see no fire there, when I came down I saw fire through the front door of the Spa, right at the back. I know nothing of the interior of building before the fire. The fire was in a direct line from the front door of the Spa. I know where the Chinaman's restaurant is. I broke that door open. I found heavy smoke there. Saw no fire there at that time. I was in the building before the fire. In my opinion the building is a fire trap. You would lose your way in it without any smoke. I do not think the building was provided with sufficient stairways. I think the fire originated back of the Spa. I heard no explosion at the fire.

To Mr. Bentley: I came to conclusion fire started back of Spa because the body of the fire was there. My opinion would not change. The body of the fire was in the rear of the Spa, but could not state where the origin was.

Miss Florence Williams (sworn)

I have been employed at the Spa restaurant. I was there Saturday night, July 29th, until 10.30 or 10.35. I was last in kitchen about 10.15 I know of no fire there. There is no oil or gasoline kept on the premises that I know of. I live at 50 Spring Park Road. I heard of the fire at 3 o'clock Sunday morning. I got home about 11 o'clock the night before. We have been kept pretty busy at the Spa. I went there two weeks before Christmas. Have been employed there permanently ever since. There were seven employed there. I know nothing of the origin of the fire. Saw nothing to arouse my suspicions on the premises.

To Mr. Bentley: I am a member of the Fire Dept. I went to the fire with the apparatus. There was quite a smoke when we arrived, and we started at once to get ladders up. I worked on the three story building. I did not have a chance to see into the building to form an opinion as to where the fire started. I went to the third floor of the building by ladder. I was in and up the main stairway, from Queen Street during the fire. I considered it was a treacherous place to get out of. It was necessary to take the occupants out the windows to save them. They could not have been taken down the stairway. I heard no explosions. I saw nothing of suspicious nature in connection with the fire.

To Mr. McKinnon: We took occupants out of the third story window.

To Mr. Beer: I do not think the building is sufficiently supplied with stairways.

Dominic Doyle (sworn). About 1.50 Sunday, July 30th I left the Police Station and went down west side Queen St. About the corner of Kent and Queen I heard the sound of a door slamming, which sounded to me to be on the east side of Queen St. about half way to Apothecaries Hall corner. I went as far as Wadlow's and stood in the door. Fenton Gunn came out of Wadlow's and I concluded it was his door which slammed. I have no reason to change my conclusion.

About 2.10 I had reached the Queen Hotel on Water St. when I heard the fire bell. I came back to Queen St., and came up. The fire was at work at the fire when I came up. I went up a ladder to the third floor to see if there was anyone in there. Fred Trainor and Wendell McDonald were with me. I could form no opinion of location of fire. I heard no explosion.

John A. Webster (sworn). I was substituting while firemen were away. I have not been in the department for five years. I got to the fire about 2.15. The fire was pretty well under way when I arrived and assisted in putting up the extension ladder. I would say the fire originated in rear of the Spa, from my observation. I know location of Chinaman's restaurant. It was not in there. I would not give an opinion as to whether the fire started there. I was up stairs in the building during the fire. I was up stairs before the fire but not since. I think there would be at least ten or twelve rooms occupied as a boarding house. Absolutely no equipment with sufficient stairways for a boarding house. I think it extremely dangerous for people to live in case of fire. I heard no explosion.

To Mr. Bentley: I would say there was about ten rooms on the top floor. There is no stairway in the three story building to the street. There it not another building in the city like it—and if there is it should be razed to the ground. Sworn statements were read from Roy D. Quigley and Samuel C. Craig.

Investigation adjourned until two o'clock.

When the session resumed at 2 o'clock the first witness called was Jack Ling (sworn). I gave the alarm of fire. I had not been asleep, but was going to bed and I heard a "bang." I put up my will do. (Fire Marshal Beer here explained that at 12.30 during recess he went with Ling over to the apartments and he (the Chinaman) explained how he looked out the window and seen the fire in the Spa kitchen.) There was no fire in his restaurant. An electric stove was used. I just heard one bang.

To Mr. Bentley: There was a big fire when I looked at, place all ablaze. I have one bedroom, Len Suesy sleeps downstairs. When I was going to bed I came from the restaurant. I had no trouble that night with customers. I have

Trade Agreement Between Britain and Russia Signed

Which Will at Once be Applicable to Canada. Many Trade Facilities Will Now be Possible Between the Respective Countries. Russia Will Cease the Dissemination of Harmful Propaganda.

(Special to The Guardian.)
LONDON, Aug. 3.—Diplomatic correspondence which has passed between the Hon. P. C. Larkin, High Commissioner for Canada, the British Foreign Office and the Soviet Government at Moscow, has resulted in the signing of a trade agreement between Russia and Britain, which will be immediately applicable to Canada.

This agreement involves not only trade relations between the two countries, but gives facilities for restoring immediately the postal, telegraph and wireless communications, between Russia and Canada thus ensuring a means of protection for Canadians travelling in Russia and recognition of Canadian passports.

The agreement embodies Russia's pledge to cease from the dissemination of propaganda harmful to the British Empire and gives each party thereto the privilege of having resident agents in the respective countries generally.

Canadians have today freed trade with Russia with certain minor restrictions one of which is the embargo on the importation into Russia of alcohol, and a similar agreement has been in existence between Britain and Russia for over a year but little business has been done, hitherto because of the inability of the Russians to give what traders regard as adequate security.

Most of the trade so far has been done through the medium of jewels and valuables of different kinds, which are forwarded from Russia to the Russian trade delegation in London who in turn dispose of them and deposit the cash to obtain with the manufacturers' whose goods they desire to purchase.

U.S. Railroad and Coal Strike Not Yet Settled

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Whether the administration, its peace overtures having failed shall pursue a "hands off" policy so long as the public interest is not seriously menaced was discussed by President Harding and the cabinet.

Harding has now ordered immediate plans for settling either the railroad or coal strikes and the test of strength may be allowed to go for a while longer.

The railroad executives want to fight their own battle, believing they can crush the shop-crafts unions and bring the men to terms.

The bulk of the coal operators feel the same way and there is a resolution among some of Harding's advisors to let the disputants fight it out.

Excellent Chautauqua Programmes Yesterday Afternoon and Evening

Large Audiences and High Class Music Were Features of Second Day. Great Lakes String Quartette Score Decided Hit Last Night.

That the Charlottetown Chautauqua is an assured success from the point of view of the local guarantors who have sponsored the program for this year is indicated by the fact that, according to the report of ticket sales which were totalled yesterday, all but one of the 600 tickets which must be disposed of to meet the contract amount have been sold, thus assuring the guarantors that their individual deficit will be almost negligible.

Before increasingly larger audiences, the Chautauqua programmes are being given morning, afternoon and evening. Yesterdays entertainment afforded two programs of high class music, and a delightful dramatic reading.

The afternoon artists, Miss Estelle Hughes, soprano, and Mr. Clarence Bowden, pianist, were frequently encored, being called back for an additional number after the curtain had dropped.

The closing trio of folk songs were rendered with particular effectiveness, and received with hearty applause.

Charming in her personal manner, and versatile in her command of the many characters contained in the dramatic reading which she undertook to interpret, Miss Mary Agnes Doyle gave a delightful reading of the optimistic and captivating comedy, "In Walked Jimmy" as the closing feature of the afternoon program.

A full evening of chamber music is afforded by the concert of the Great Lakes String Quartette last night. The men proved themselves great artists in command of fine instruments. With attempts to project their personalities or to tickle the fancies of their audiences with popular airs, Robert Dolejal, on lecturer comes to the Chautauqua
