WOULDN'T FOLLOW SARDINE RETREAT.

LONDON, April 9.—The following humorous incident of trench life was related at the office of the Canadian Associated Press by an officer on sick leave. The Germans in a trench not a hundred yards away from the Canadian position called out to know what their foes had on their bill of fare for dinner. Now the Germans had a particular appetite for sardines, and as this canned luxury happened to be one of the things on the list that day there were many appeals for the Canadians to pass over some. A trooper was sent out to deposit half-a-dozen tins in a bunch halfway between the trenches. Later a German hopped out of his trench to secure the sardines, but as the tins were attached to a piece of string, and had begun to retreat commensurate with the pace of the venturesome "Fritz," the attempt to secure them was soon abandoned. Fear of trenchery proximity was superior to his liking for sardines. The officer who told the story was asked what the Canadians would have done if the German had followed the retreating bait right up to the trench. "Thrown empty sardine tins at him most probably," and told him to get back to his sausage," was the reply.

GERMAN MISSION FAILS, SO RETURNS.

ROME, April 10.—The members of the German mission, who made an Addis Ababa attempt to penetrate to the Abyssinian coast, and who have just arrived in Rome on their way home. Italy did not permit them passage through Eritrea, but undertook to see that mail for the minister would forward in due course. The members of the mission had a series of remarkable experiences which included 23 days on the Red Sea in a native boat; an encounter with a French cruiser which almost resulted in their capture and persistent but futile efforts to obtain permission to travel through the Italian coast country.

It has been rumored that the object of this mission was to instigate the Abyssinians to attack British forces in the Sudan. This the Germans deny, saying their purpose was only to carry mail to the Minister. This denial has been met by Italian newspapers with a recital of the composition of the mission, and also the fact that it travelled through Roumania, Bulgaria, Turkey and Asia Minor before landing on the Arabian coast near Akabah. The mission consisted of Herr Frobenius, a German explorer and desert traveler, an intimate friend of Emperor William, and two secretaries and a special attache of the Foreign Office.

DENY GERMANY HAS PRESENTED HER PEACE TERMS TO UNITED STATES.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Publishers reports that Germany had presented her terms to the United States attracted attention to-day in official Washington, but both Secretary Bryan and Count Von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, denied that there was any foundation for such rumors. "There is nothing definite of indefinite," said Mr. Bryan, when asked about the peace talk, "and there has been nothing new on any phase of the subject for a considerable time." German embassy officials declined to comment on whether the peace terms, as published, represent Germany's views at present, beyond saying that nothing authentic on the subject had been received.

SUBMARINES HIDE ON NORWAY COAST.

COPENHAGEN, April 11.—A group of Norwegian fishermen who have been scouring the coasts of Norway investigating rumors that a German submarine was located in some sheltered spot of these neutral waters, found several German submarines gathered behind the cliffs at Bergen Bay. The submarines were ordered to leave immediately or else be interned for the remainder of the war.

SECRET EXPLOSIVE MULTIPLIES DEATH

PARIS, April 11.—First official mention of the new explosive used by the French army, which has been a secret for months, is made today in an official army bulletin. This refers to explosive effect of shells as more than double that of the projectiles formerly used.

The bulletin guards the details of manufacture and the composition of the new explosive, but says that it has been used with terrible effect in the French 75-centimeter (3-inch) field piece. Since the outset of the war the "75," due to its long range and ease of transportation, has been regarded as the powerful and destructive field piece in the war. Now comes the information that the new explosive has increased the effect of the fire of the "75."

Advices from the front recently have remarked on the terrific effect of the French artillery fire and credit is now given to the new explosive.

LONDON, April 5.—A correspondent of the Morning Post, writing from the Champagne district, calls attention to the destructive effect of the French "75" field gun, and refers to it as opening the way for the French advance in this section. The correspondent says that the shell, in which the new French explosive is used, has caused enormous losses in German ranks, at times mowing down trees and burning the trees in the debris. The correspondent adds that German prisoners have been driven to a point of insanity by the destructive effect of the new French shells.

The correspondent says: "The French advance in the Hurlers district and Camp de Chalons, which is one of the great training grounds of the French army, has altered and daily continues to alter the entire aspect of affairs in the Champagne, which in other parts of the line the Allies have been content to keep pounding at the Germans and sending down their effectiveness in men and material, snatching from time to time local success. In this district it really seems that the forward movement has been begun."

PRUSSIAN GUARD CUT UP.

The Allies have gained the top of the slope leading to a great plain of barren land rolling gently into hills and sprinkled freely with plantations of spruce and pine trees. Naturally it has been a business, and the fighting, which continues unceasingly, is still sending back long trains of wounded to the bases; but the Germans have lost still more heavily. They have some of their finest troops here, including detachments of the Prussian Guard, whose regiments of which have been cut up, so terrible has been the effect of the concentrated artillery fire and so frightful from the German standpoint the French bayonet work at close quarters that many prisoners have been taken in an insane condition. "It is no mean force the French have to face here, for, with the recent reinforcements which have been rushed up to the danger point, full seven army corps are calculated to be in the district. In several instances so desperate was the defence offered by the stubborn German infantry that they have actually built parapets with their dead, behind which they disputed every inch of the French advance."

"75" CUTS DOWN TREES.

"Now that they have been driven from what may be termed their prepared positions, the Germans are adapting themselves to warfare on the plains of Champagne, which consists in rapid fortifications of each of the little pine plantations that dot the open country with trenches and machine guns. These might well be proved formidable obstacles, but there is '75' in preliminary fighting toward the plains.

"In the commencement of the second phase in the Champagne operations, the famous French field gun, using the new French explosive, is doing some of its most spectacular work. It is mowing down brittle pine trees in swaths, little woods disappear under its withering fire, leaving a space of stumps and tangled and smashed branches untenable to defenders, in which they are smashed. No part of the country has been more ravaged by the war than the districts around the Argonne Forest, in the eastern part of Champagne.

"Villages and farms are destroyed to an extent almost inconceivable. The fields are so laid waste that scarcely a blade of grass is to be seen. Trees are smashed down and the landscape expresses in poignant fashion the conditions of confusion and desolation. In these small villages one can perceive with tragic emphasis the economic effects of war. In one place, where forty male inhabitants were called to the army, thirty-nine have been killed. Most of them leave families.

THIRD OF RHEIMS GONE.

"The bombardment of Rheims goes steadily on night and day. It is probable that one-third of the house? have been destroyed and one-third damaged portions, and still a remnant of the population clinging almost desperately to their homes. Every day there are a dozen or so casualties from German shells.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. LOUIS BURNS

The Guardian regrets to chronicle the death of Mrs. Louis Burns, Burnside Road, which sad event took place at her home on Saturday evening, after a very brief illness. Mrs. Burns was taken sick on Friday, and though owing to the extreme seriousness of the case, doctors were in attendance, the grim messenger could not be stayed and Mrs. Burns was taken in the bloom of her young womanhood at the age of thirty-four. A sorrowing husband and one little daughter aged two are left to mourn a loving wife and mother. Besides these her father, John McDonald, Jays' Road and one sister, Miss Mary at home, survives, to all of whom the Guardian extends the sincerest sympathy. The last solemn rites of the church were administered by her pastor, Father McIntyre, of Morell parish. The funeral which was largely attended, was held on Monday, when high mass was celebrated by Rev. A. J. McIntyre.—L.

THOMAS MOONEY

On Thursday, April 8th, there passed peacefully away to the great beyond in the eightieth year of his age, Thomas Mooney one of the oldest residents of Greenvale. Deceased was born in Antigonish County, N. S., where his parents remained for some time on their immigration from Ireland. Having come to Prince Edward Island they settled in Greenvale and were the pioneers of that place. The early part of Mr. Mooney's life was spent in the United States where he followed the carpenter trade. On returning home he married Bridget McMahon of Little Harbor and settled down to farming. As a farmer he was one of the most successful in Kings' County. He had been a hard worker all his life and was never known to have been ill. He died fortified by the last rites of the Catholic Church of which he was always a most devoted member. He leaves to mourn besides a sorrowing widow five boys, William at home, James, cheese-maker, Souris, Mark and Jerome in the United States and Albert, in Ottawa, and two daughters, May, at home and Annie, (Mrs. Chapman) Red Point.

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE TO MAUD AND JOHN McLEOD.

Dear Sister and Brother McLeod: On behalf of the members of the Refuge Division S. O. T., we the undersigned committee wish to extend to you our heartfelt sympathy in the loss you have sustained by the death of your dear Father. A loved one has been taken from the earthly home to a mansion above. The family circle has been broken but we trust it may be complete some day. We are conscious of your deep loss and we feel that we cannot find sincere sympathy for you. Those of us who had the pleasure of knowing your dear Father feel we have lost a kind, generous and hospitable friend. We sincerely desire to extend to you and the rest of your family our heartfelt sympathy and sincere condolence.

One by one our loved ones leave us, and their loss we deeply feel. But to God we go for comfort. He can all our sorrows heal. Harry Weeks, Mrs. L. J. Leard, Mina Sharpe.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative power that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Doctor Said Sciatica--- Rheumatism---Lumbago

BUT HE COULD NOT HELP ME, AND ENDORSED THE USE OF DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mr. William Parker, 105 Cayuga street Brantford, Ont., tells in the following letter of his remarkable experience with Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills: "My doctor treated me for some time for Sciatica, Rheumatism, Lumbago, but to no purpose, for I had to lay off work. The visiting officer of the sick benefit called to see me and advised the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, stating that he had been cured of the same trouble by their use. I asked the druggist about them and he recommended them highly. Not being satisfied with this, I went back to my doctor, and when he said they were good I began their use. The promptness with which they relieved the action of the kidneys and bowels was wonderful and it was not long before I was rid of all my trouble. "I was so bad that I could only walk by hanging on to a chair or the wall. My wife had to lace my shoes. Only those who have had this ailment can realize the way I suffered. I am writing

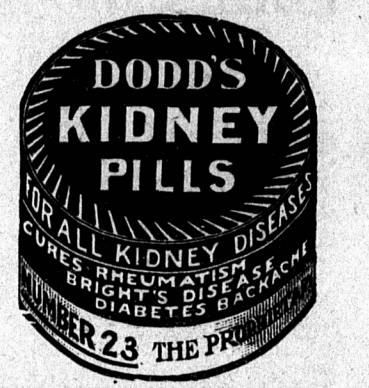

WOMAN OFFERS SHELTON A HOME.

MONTREAL, April 10.—If he chooses to avail himself of it, there is a home open to Charles D. Sheldon, the former "Wizard of Finance." A Westmount woman has offered to take Sheldon into her home and give him shelter and comfort until he is ready to face the business of life once more. "Home and shelter, and a little money," runs her offer. "This offer does not come from one of Sheldon's former victims, nor from one who made money 'investing' in Sheldon's blind pools. It has been dictated to me by the Star today, merely by human sympathy for a man, no longer young, who has been through terrible experiences, and is now poorer in friends than he once was. "If I had known when he was leaving the penitentiary I would have met him at the gates and brought him to our home," says the Westmount woman. "I do not know him at all, and I have no opinion as to his guilt or innocence. I believe he is a poor, friendless creature coming out of prison, that is all. The world is apt to look down on a man in his predicament. He must now be passing through his garden of Gethsemane. "It would be quiet for him out here in Westmount, and we have a pretty home. I plan to give him my best room if he will accept it, and try to cheer him up. I would like to show him that he has at least one friend in Montreal, at least one person who takes an interest in his future welfare." The offer was placed before Wilks ing this letter to let people who have my trouble to know of these pills. You are at liberty to use this letter, and if anyone interested will call or write to me I will give every detail."

Write to Mr. Parker, enclosing stamp for reply, and he will verify this statement. He will do this out of the gratitude he feels for his cure and because he realizes how difficult it is to obtain the cure of these dreadfully painful ailments. There are so many treatments recommended for rheumatism that you naturally doubt them all. Here is an opportunity for you to verify the cure and put this great medicine to the test. It will only cost you a quarter to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They get at the very foundation of rheumatism and by removing the poisons from the system take away the cause of pains and aches. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Manson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

and Burnett, who acted as curators of the Sheldon estate. Mr. Burnett stated that he had not received a call from Sheldon, but would communicate the offer to him as soon as possible. "It is very kind of the lady," he remarked. "In my opinion, however, it would be the logical thing for Sheldon to return to his own country and his own people. There is nothing for him in Montreal, I should think." Friends of Sheldon said today that they will give him similar advice. "He has no relatives here, and he is an old man," said one who took an interest in his case. "It would be more natural for him to return to his own country, where he can perhaps secure assistance from former associates."
